5 SLAIN IN 'WAR-TO-DEATH' ON RUM

Today

Problems of 1930. What About Russia? China, Our Foreign Debts? Britain, Master and Slave.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

TODAY, and one more day, then no more of 1929.

Big questions ahead for 1930.

Shall we become entangled in the affairs of Europe? How deeply entangled, first the World Court, next the League of Nations?

SHALL we recognize Russia, firmly established, and going ahead, or shall we cling affectionately to the memory of the czars, with their knout, and Siberia, autocracy and vile superstitions?

WILL Uncle Sam sulk forever, because foolish bankers that bought bonds from the czar and Kerensky have not had their money back?

Britons that bought Confederate bonds and invested in Confederate currency have not had their money back. Britain does not refuse to recognize this government.

THE big outside world has questions that worry statesmen and commerce. What will happen in China, trying to be a republic, but at present a hodgepodge of civil war and banditry.

WHAT will happen in India, demanding from Britain the right for 300,000,000 Asiatics to govern themselves?

They have not governed themselves, ever, and for five thousand years, before Britain took them over, they were victims of tyranny, plague, famine, and religious teachings, horrible beyond imagining.

WOULD they be able to govern themselves if Britain let them try?

Would their ideas of liberty include the restoration of "suttee," burning widows alive, with their husbands' corpses, and unrestricted child marriages, two forms of liberty suppressed by Britain?

"FREEDOM for India" might solve, partly, the problem of excess Asiatic population. Britain, holding down plague and famine, forbidding Afghans to murder Hindus, has added 100,000,000 to India's population, a serious biological responsibility.

THE Rockefeller Foundation assumes a similar responsibility in establishment of modern medical centers in China with the possible consequence of adding a billion to Asiatic preponderance in the earth's population.

Fortunately, or unfortunately, you cannot know what future history will say. China's civil wars will probably offset the Rockefeller philanthropy.

WHAT about Europe's debt to us? The nation has lent Europe twelve billions. Private loans to Europe since the war amount to ten billions more, Twenty-two Thousand Millions Of Dollars. Such a sum would repay the fifteen billions lost in the Wall street slump, and leave seven billions over.

How much will that debt be scaled down, when the World Court, with this nation in it, takes up the debt question?

AMERICANS enthusiastically in favor of the World Court because of vague sentimentality, might ask themselves this question:

"If I had millions, not to say billions at stake, plus the prospect of being drafted into a foreign war, and if I had my choice, would I submit my case to a foreign court, or demand a hearing in an American court.?"

IF you say that airships soon will be bigger than any surface ship has ever been you seem to exaggerate.

Columbus might have muttered "fairy story" had he been told that a ship bigger than his biggest would some day fly over the Atlantic ocean.

Lady Drummond Hay reminds you that the German Dornier ship DO-X, soon to fly here, is sixty feet longer than Columbus' flagship.

COLONEL HOUSE, who once helped President Wilson to pull the strings and now watches others pull them says Britain must grant freedom of the seas, and "there might have been no World War if Britain had agreed to freedom of the seas."

BRITAIN, as Andre Siegfried pointed out in his "America Comes of Age," has been not only master of the seas, but also the slave of the sea. To relinquish dominating sea power might mean starvation for Britain, as it would mean starvation for an American family to shut out butcher, grocer, baker and milkman. Dirigible airships, on which Britain is concentrating, might feed the British Islands, if the sea lanes were closed by airplane and submarine attack. But Britain will cling to surface ship power until something as good or better is at hand.

EACH nation protects itself. France plans, for instance, a duty of 90 per cent on automobiles, which means shutting out exports from America. Ford, and Sloan, of General Motors, will meet that by build-

FIRE SWEEPS DOWNTOWN BLOCK

Two Injured as 100 Firemen Battle Flames in Stanwix Building; 20 Units Called

Two firemen were injured and stocks in 15 stores were destroyed when a three-alarm fire swept through the Stanwix Shops Building, a three-story structure at Penn avenue and Stanwix street, shortly before 1 a. m. today. Damage was estimated at $200,000.

More than 100 firemen from 20 companies battled for hours in a blinding snowstorm before the fire was brought under control.

At the same time firemen from the South Side battled a blaze in a building at Third avenue and Wood street, the first floor of which is occupied by the confectionery store of B. Weiss. Loss was estimated at $125.

Leo McClory, a special patrolman, discovered the blaze in the Stanwix Shops Building, and telephoned to No. 18 Engine Company. When firemen arrived flames were shooting 50 feet into the air.

SMOKE BALKS FIREMEN

The dense clouds of smoke issuing from every window in the building hampered firemen who forced their way into eight shops on the first floor. The street was littered with broken window glass.

The blaze was believed to have originated in the basement of one of the stores, spread to the elevator shaft in the center of the building and then eaten its way to the roof.

The Women's Industrial Exchange, a three-story brick building, at 435 Penn avenue, adjoining the blazing structure, was threatened for a time. The roof had ignited but the fire was extinguished with small loss. Water and smoke did considerable damage to the Exchange, firemen said.

The first floor shops of the building were those of William H. Sarver & Son, jewelers; A. W. Smith Company, florists; Stanwix Cigar shop, Petty's Shoe repair shop, the P. & G. Lunch, Ye Old

TRAIL 2 WOMEN AS KILLER

By AL GOUGH
Staff Correspondent.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 30.—Two women, both blondes, were being sought today in connection with the death of Corp. Brady Paul, of the State Highway Patrol, last Friday.

In Salem, O., police are seeking a woman, mother of a five-year-old child, who, in part, fits the description of the one who fatally wounded Paul in a gun battle on the Butler road, following a store holdup.

The Salem woman, her husband and child, have been away from home for 10 days, according to Chief of Police C. W. Thompson, and their whereabouts is unknown. The couple at one time served a term in the Mansfield (O.) Reformatory for highway robbery, Thompson said.

Another blonde, about 35, is being sought in the Wheeling (W.

President's Son Announces Party Suddenly, Upsets Entire Social Calendar

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Youth holds forth at a formal social function at the White House tonight for the first time since the Roosevelt administration.

Allan Hoover, son of the President, is giving a dance for a hundred of the capital's debutantes and younger bachelors. Not since the parties of Alice Roosevelt, now wife of Speaker Nicholas Longworth of the House, has the big East room been the scene of a function devoted exclusively to the Junior Leaguers.

And the very giving of the affair has thrown Washington society into turmoil. White House bids are in the nature of a "command," and the dispatch of Allan's invitations caused quite an upheaval in the crowded socia calendar of the younger set.

WRECKS PARKHURST PA

Up to three days ago, all debs and their escorts were for an immense ball, pre a dinner of 200 cover given by Dr. and Mrs. H A. Parkhurst to presen daughter, Anna. As youn ver's dance starts at 10 and many of the invitations lapped, there has been a hu rearrangement of the Parkh debut.

Further complicating the situation is the fact that Allan has engaged "Sidney" to furnish the music for his party. Sidney has been under contract for some time to play at the Parkhurst dinner and ball, and Washington custom has it that no debutante can come out successfully unless that astute orchestra director is wielding the baton.

UNUSUAL PROCEDURE

Sidney, of course, in common with the White House guests, will observe the executive "command," rushing back to the Carlton Hotel at midnight with his band to wind up the evening for the Parkhursts.

The engaging of a private orchestra is rather unusual in itself. In the past, the Marine Band orchestra has supplied dance music at White House functions.

John Coolidge has been the only young person in the executive mansion since the Roosevelt administration and his parents frowned upon affairs such as tonight's.

Lindberghs Land Safely at Columbus

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Making his characteristic perfect landing, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived at the Port of Columbus at 11:55 o'clock this morning. He was accompanied by his wife. The Lindberghs, who flew here from Detroit, are expected to spend the night in Columbus and take off tomorrow morning on the beginning of the colonel's inspection of the T. A. T. route to the Pacific coast.

COAST GUARD BULLETS UPHELD

New Killings Add to Liquor Furore; Congress Action Brewing; Hoover Is Silent

As government forces launched a deadly drive against rum running, the prohibition controversy blazed anew throughout the nation.

The toll of week-end liquor battles:

Three alleged runners killed and a fourth wounded by Coast Guards off Newport, R. I.

Two officers killed and three wounded in raids in three states.

Developments at Washington:

Rear Admiral F. C. Billard, head of the Coast Guard, said prohibition would be enforced "with bullets instead of soft words; we mean business."

The White House said President Hoover did not think the present furore over prohibition called for any statement. His first official move will come when the House approves the plan for a joint Congressional committee to consider dry enforcement changes.

Senator Elmer Thomas (Dem.), of Oklahoma, said making of medicinal liquor under government supervision would only lead to more graft.

Senator Wesley Jones (Rep.), of Washington, author of the "five-and-ten" law, conferred with George W. Wickersham, chairman of the Hoover law enforcement commission.

Representative Cochran (Dem.), of Missouri, proposed legalization of light wines and beer as a farm relief step.

The Moderation League made public a national survey showing a great increase in drunkenness under prohibition.

The government decided to reopen the case of Alfred E. Norris, of New York, which involved the guilt of the purchaser of liquor shipped to him at his own request.

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 30.—Having sounded warning to rum runners along these shores with a hail of machine gun bullets, government prohibition forces today continued their intensive drive against smugglers seemingly determined to land their holiday supply of liquor at any cost.

A deadly shooting in which three men were killed and a fourth seriously wounded by the raking fire of a coast guard patrol boat, yesterday climaxed what was described as the most comprehensive drive of the coast guard in years against rum runners.

As if further proof was needed that the government "means business," Rear Admiral F. C. Billard, commandant of the guard, in a statement at Washington last night declared that his forces meant to stop rum running.

BILLARD WARNS

"The coast guard has the job of stopping liquor smuggling at sea," Billard said after hearing

GULF BUILDING BIDS RECEIVED

Bids are being received for the excavation and foundation for the new Gulf Refining Company building at the northwest corner of Seventh avenue and Grant street. All bids will be filed by January 7 with Trowbridge & Livingston, of New York, architects.

The building will be a 37-story structure, fronting 195 feet on Seventh avenue and 135 feet on Grant street. Six stories will form the base, above which a tower 108 feet square will rise to the thirty-first story.

At that point, the building will be stepped back to the thirty-seventh story and capped with a pyramid top and cupola. It will be the tallest structure in Pittsburgh.

Jock Sutherland Writes on Coast Game

Can Pitt succeed where Carnegie Tech and the Army failed in intersectional football battles in California?

Will Pitt be able to beat the Southern California eleven in the Tournament of Roses game, New Year's Day?

Read what Jock Sutherland, Pitt head coach, and the man of the hour in the football world, thinks about the situation in the first of a series of three exclusive articles he is writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph from California. It appears in the Sports Section today. The second pre-game article will be published tomorrow, and, in Thursday's issue, Jock will write his version of the game, as it was played.

Convict Shot, Guard Hurt in Prison Dash

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—A tower guard was stabbed and a convict was shot when two inmates of the Missouri State Penitentiary here made an ineffectual attempt to escape early today.

John T. Bradley, guard, is in a local hospital with a slashed abdomen and wounds about the head and Virgil Davis, 24, convict, is in the prison hospital with buckshot wounds about the hips. Davis and Clarence Hansen, another convict, crawled over the prison wall in a dash for liberty. Hansen was captured within a block of the prison.

GIFT BURGLAR'S LOOT $10,500

Santa Claus' visit to the J. R. McCune mansion at College and Fifth avenues, in the exclusive Shadyside residential section, was followed early today by a visit of a different nature—a burglar's.

The thief stole jewelry valued at $10,000 and $500 in cash, but overlooked $1,500 cash and jewels worth $25,000, Inspector of Detectives Frank R. Boyd reported.

The visitor, after forcing a porch window to gain entrance, explored the bedrooms of Mr. and Mrs. McCune and other members of the family while they slept and stole Christmas gifts. A diamond bracelet and several diamond pins were the principal items in the loot, Mr. McCune said.

COUNCIL PASSES TAX INCREASE

The ordinance setting tax on land at 26 mills and the building rate at 13 mills, and adding two cents to each of four classes of meter water rates, passed its final reading late today in city council by a vote of five to three.

Those who voted for the ordinance were Robert Alderdice, W. Y. English, John S. Herron, G. J. Kambach and Harry A. Little. Robert Garland, Charles Anderson and P. J. McArdle voted against the ordinance.

Council President James F. Malone was absent. The ordinance will go to Mayor Charles H. Kline for his signature. It was thought unlikely that the mayor would veto it.

Dead Tut Tomb Searcher Feared Curse, Aid Says

COLUMBUS, Tex., Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Dr. Jonathan W. S. Carver, eleventh member of the expedition which excavated the tomb of the Egyptian King Tut-Ankh-Amen to die violently and who lost his life in an automobile accident here, anticipated a sudden death, according to H. R. Miller, his assistant and traveling companion.

Dr. Carver, killed when the automobile in which he was a passenger collided head-on with a truck, was identified as a member of the King Tut expedition by Miller and a diary found in his pockets which made references to the Egyptian diggings.

"I wonder how I will die?" Dr. Carver mused only a few days ago, Miller said. "Ten men who helped to unearth King Tut have passed on, some of them under mysterious circumstances, and I myself am under the Egyptian curse.

"I believe that I will die suddenly, but how?"

SEVEN INDICTMENTS ISSUED IN VITALE BANQUET HOLDUP

MAGISTRATE TESTIFIES TO JURY

Police Judge Silent on How His Name Came to Be in Drug Ring Suspect's Book

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Seven indictments were returned today by the Bronx grand jury investigating the "testimonial" dinner to Magistrate Albert H. Vitale in the Roman Gardens December 7.

A holdup by seven armed bandits was staged at the banquet, the police alleging it was faked to recover a "murder contract" calling for the slaying of Frankie Vale and Frankie Marlow, racketeers.

One indictment was understood to name Joseph Bravate, under arrest and accused as leader of the bandits. The others were said to be "John Doe" indictments.

VITALE ON STAND

Vitale was one of three witnesses appearing before the jrjy. He arrived at the Bronx County courthouse after adjourning proceedings in Morisiana Court, where he was presiding. In signing a waiver of immunity, the judge said:

"I have nothing to conceal."

The magistrate had nothing to say about the disclosure that his name and telephone number were found in the "frequently called" list seized by federal agents from Louis Faccarona, alleged "king" of a Harlem dope ring.

Ciro Terranova, the "Artichoke King," accused by the police of having staged the Vitale holdup in order to rob a Chicago gunman of the "murder contract," was "sent for" by the Bronx authorities. It was expected that District Attorney John E. McGeehan would take Terranova before the grand jury.

One of the witnesses before the grand jury was Dr. Joseph Feraca, who supported Vitale's story that the latter received former Detective Arthur C. Johnson's stolen gun from Dr. Feraca, who found it beside his car parked outside the Roman Gardens.

TRIAL RESUMED

Johnson at the gunman's right during the "stickup," but failed to act. For that reason the ex-detective is now on trial at police headquarters for dereliction to duty. His trial was resumed this morning.

Terranova, who has denied all charges in connection with the Vitale dinner and the "murder contract," insists he was not present at the "testimonial" banquet.

Meanwhile preparations were being made for the arraignment of three of the seven criminals described as guests at the Vitale feast. These three were to be arraigned on charges of complicity in the robbery. They are Daniel Iasmascia, John Savino and Joseph Catania.

They were the men, according to the police, who returned the money and jewelry seized from the 40 guests during the holdup.

Police Commissioner Whalen, on his return today from an official visit to Chicago, said he expected closer co-operation between the police departments of New York and Chicago in their war on gangsters as one result of his trip.

"Of course," he added, "we discussed racketeering. Racketeering is the same here as every other place. New rackets are springing up every day."

New Brighton Man Dies at Age of 95

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Dec. 30.—Oldest resident of this community, Marshall L. Wolfe, 95, is dead at the home of his daughter, Miss Omega Wolfe. He was born in Jackson County, W. Va., and had lived here 30 years. He was a farmer. He leaves a son, William A., Letart, W. Va., and three daughters, Mrs. G. E. Roush, Letart, W. Va.; Mrs. Virginia Kane and Miss Omega Wolfe, New Brighton.

SHRAPNEL BOMB MAIMS 3 BOYS

INDIANA, Pa., Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Three boys were injured and the windows in nearby houses shattered in an explosion of terrific force when a shrapnel bomb with which the lads were playing let go when it was struck against the wall of a house.

George Boring, 13, had his right hand blown off at the knuckle joints; Edwin Quigg, 13, had his left eye gouged out when it was struck by a flying finger from Boring's hand and suffered a shrapnel wound in the cheek, and Donald Quigg, 15, his brother, received a deep cut in the chest when he was struck by a flying fragment of the shell.

Edwin was removed to his home, while the other lads are in serious condition in the hospital here.

The shell had been kept on the mantel of the Boring home and was thought to be harmless. It had been found on the practice field at Mt. Gretna two years ago when a member of the Boring family was there with the local company of the state militia.

Utah Congressman Given State Burial

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Citizens of Utah and representatives of Congress paid final tribute to Representative Elmer O. Leatherwood yesterday at funeral services held in the Masonic Temple under the direction of Utah Commandery No. 1, Knights Templar. Floral tributes from friends and admirers of the congressman, who died in Washington December 24, banked the casket and the balconies of the temple.

Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, representing the Senate, and Representative Albert Johnson, of Washington, uttered brief tributes to their dead colleague.

ing automobiles inside the French tariff walls, with French labor and American methods. Smaller manufacturers will be shut out.

FRENCH statesmen are determined that French money shall be used to employ French labor and there are no unemployed men seeking work in France. That you cannot say for this country, which, with sickly sentimentality, is always planning to save the rest of creation, and getting snubbed for its pains.

THE French protective policy dates back to the Field of the Cloth of Gold, in the sixteenth century, when fat Henry the Eighth of England, wrestled with his royal "brother," tall Francis the First, French nobles accompanying Francis "with their fortunes on their backs."

French statesmen decided that French workers should clothe those nobles and laid the foundations of France's dominating silk and velvet industries.

KENTUCKY G.O.P. RIFT CLOSED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—President Hoover's selection of Senator Frederic Moseley Sackett, of Kentucky, as ambassador to Germany has been viewed as a strategic move to hold that border state in the G. O. P. ranks.

It not only gives Kentucky major recognition by the Hoover administration, but is expected to solve a Republican fight in that state over the senatorial election next year.

In administration circles the selection of Senator Sackett was hailed as a master stroke. Acceptance by the German government of the appointment was expected momentarily.

Senator Sackett's term in the Senate expires March 4, 1931. It was expected he would be a candidate for re-election next fall. Meanwhile a strong movement in favor of Representative John M. Robsion, of Kentucky, as the Republican senatorial candidate had developed. A serious split in the G. O. P. ranks in Kentucky over Sackett and Robsion loomed with Gov. Flem O. Sampson understood to be supporting Robison.

With Sackett named as ambassador to Germany, the G. O. P. storm clouds in the Blue Grass state have been dissipated in the opinion of Republican leaders.

4 WORKHOUSE GUARDS HURT IN CRASH

Auto Hits Parked Car On Road Near Aspinwall; Men on Way to Homes

Four Allegheny County Workhouse guards were injured when an automobile in which they were riding crashed into a parked truck on Freeport road, near Aspinwall, today, shearing off the body of their machine.

The injured are Lewis Kinkler, 32, of 3935 Liberty avenue—possible fracture of leg; Robert Frazier, 39, of 403 Pitt street, Wilkinsburg—lacerations of head and face, possible fracture of knee; David Glover, 40, of 5523 Broad street—contusions of chest and lacerated hand; J. E. Stallsmith, 31, of Blawnox—bruised and shocked. The first three are in Pittsburgh Hospital.

Stallsmith was taking his three fellow-guards to Aspinwall, where they were to take a street car home. He was trying to avoid colliding with a car coming in the opposite direction when he hit the truck, he reported.

U. S. TO DEFEND CHINA COURT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—The American government will take whatever measures necessary to maintain the United States Federal Court in China, and the court will continue to function regardless of the decree issued by the Chinese Nationalist government abolishing extra-territoriality.

State Department officials are silent concerning what this government will do about it, but if the Chinese really mean business, it is possible the American marines and soldiers maintained in China as a legation guard, will be called upon to afford the court protection.

NANKING, China, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—C. T. Wang, Nationalist's foreign minister, in a statement today, said the process of abolishing extra-territoriality would begin on January 4, but that China was "prepared to consider and discuss within reasonable time representations made with reference to the plan under preparation at Nanking."

THOUSANDS SEE SUNDAY SHOWS

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 30.—Seven theaters presented Sunday shows here yesterday. Fourteen arrests were made, but the performances were not stopped. Total attendance was estimated at 18,000.

In defiance of the police the theater managers opened on Sunday, for the first time, on December 22. They were arrested, but the theaters were not closed.

Accordingly, the houses were opened again yestereday, and the public, assured that even though the managers should be arrested, the performance would proceed, flocked to the entertainment in greater numbers than a week ago.

STEEL WORKERS DIE IN ROOM

MONESSEN, Pa., Dec. 30.—Deputy Coroner A. R. Wilson today ordered an autopsy on the bodies of two structural steelworkers, found dead in their room here yesterday, apparently from asphyxiation.

The dead are Albert Geist, 42, and Charles Swan, 30, both of Youngstown, O., employed by the Vang Construction Company, Pittsburgh. They were to work on the new bridge of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia railroad spanning the Monongahela River.

Swan was in bed, Geist was on the floor. The bodies were found by Mrs. Leonard Ford, wife of the proprietor of the rooming house. The gas fire was burning, with the windows closed, it was said. Partly-filled bottles of liquor were found in the room. The coroner ordered analysis of the victims' stomachs.

Using Cafe Glass For Rum Means Year in Jail

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Further difficulties were heaped in the way of Chicagoans planning New Year's eve festivities today when it was learned that a cafe owner will be liable to a year in jail if a patron uses one of his glasses to drink liquor from.

No matter if the patron has brought his own beverage, according to the latest interpretation of the Eighteenth Amendment announced by the United States District Attorney's office here.

Under a modification of this "public nuisance" interpretation, more than $5,000,000 worth of real estate has been tied up through the closing of restaurants during the past year, it was announced.

SAFE ROBBERS MAKE 3 RAIDS

Safe robbers operated in the downtown, Soho and North Side districts early today.

In the Christ Dimling billiard parlor on the second floor of 536 Smithfield street, robbers who forced the front door, knocked off the safe combination. The preliminary police report did not reveal whether they had obtained any loot.

Robbers entered the Atlantic Refining Company's gasoline service station, 2034 Chateau street, last night, and hammered at the combination of a safe, but failed to open it, police were notified today. Entrance was gained by forcing open the front door.

A small safe was carried away by robbers who broke into the Forbes Service station, Forbes street and Shady avenue, early today. The safe contained about $350, owners of the station reported.

ORDER PROBE OF CHURCH LOBBY

Caraway Announces Decision Senate Committee Will Also Quiz Peace Bodies

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The "religious" and "peace" lobbies in Washington will be investigated by the Senate Lobby Committee before it concludes its work, Senator Caraway (Dem.), of Arkansas, chairman, announced today.

Unless the committee differs from its chairman, however, there is not likely to be any inquiry made into the "anti-dry and dry lobby."

Having a program outlined to complete the sugar lobby inquiry and investigate Muscle Shoals lobbyists, Senator Caraway plans then to call first of all Representative George H. Tinkham (Rep.), of Massachusetts. Tinkham has assailed the Methodist Board of Temperance and Morals, housed in the Methodist building opposite the Capitol, as an outright lobbying organization.

WILL HEAR BOTH SIDES

The invitation to Tinkham will be followed by the offering of an opportunity to those he attacks to reply.

"We will let Mr. Tinkham disclose what has disturbed him, and then we will give some of those who are interested in national policy, but not for the money they get out of it, a chance to show what they are doing and answer any charges made by him," said Caraway.

The committee also is expected to give Frederick J. Libby, active head of the leading peace society operating in the Capitol, an opportunity to testify.

Libby has also demanded the American Legion and Reserve Officers' Association be investigated as militaristic propaganda agencies.

Va.), and Akron (O.), district. A purse, believed hers, containing a small picture was found in the car abandoned by the woman bandit and her two male accomplices following the battle. On the back of the picture was the name of a Wheeling man. They traced the woman to Benwood, W. Va. At the house where she lived then, police were told she had left several weeks ago and might be found in Akron.

A purchase slip bearing the name of a Wheeling department store was also found in the abandoned car and it has been established, police say, that the woman sought purchased a red scarf in the same store on December 24.

The "trigger woman" in the murder case was described as having worn a red scarf.

CAR TRACED TO OHIO

State police and highway patrolmen working out of Butler and New Castle traced the roadster stolen from Ray Horton and Elsie Nickum on the outskirts of town a few minutes after the killing to within 20 miles of Akron, O. Although roads in every direction out of New Castle were covered in less than an hour after the slaying was made known here, the blonde and her companion succeeded in getting through the only loophole left in the impenetrable dragnet—a seldom-used highway leading off the New Castle-Beaver Falls road through Mt. Jackson and over the Ohio boundary.

State police believe the "trigger" woman had been associated with a gang of store bandits. One holdup laid to the "trigger" woman's gang was in East Ohio street last month when a woman with cigaret drooping from the corner of her mouth ordered the shopkeeper to hand over the contents of the cash register with a threat to "blow his head off."

Heirs Told Billion Dollar Montreal 'Estate' Is Fake

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Dreams of 800 heirs to the "billion dollar estate" of Lieut. Urbain Tessier-Levigne, first defender of the city of Montreal, were shattered today when the cold waters of reality exposed it as another "estate" fraud.

Each heir was offered a share in the vast Montreal estate at the cost of a small investment necessary to form a corporation to recover the property. And each of the 800 was willing to invest his share, investigators here found.

Romance of the seventeenth century was revived to quicken the interest of potential investors. Lieut. Tessier-Levigne, French adventurer, defended the fortress of Montreal from attack in 1654, and in return was granted a tract of land where the richest business district of the city now stands, so the story goes.

He placed the property in the trust of the clergy, designating that his heirs could procure it any time. The lost document, yellowed with age, was dug up in a convent—in the approved fashion followed in scores of other similar lost estates.

A bulk of the "heirs," residing here, learned today from E. Massicote, Montreal historian, that over 200 claims similar to the Tessier Levigne venture, have proven unsuccessful in the past few years.

It was recalled that the story of the Tessier-Levigne estate has been revived from time to time, only to be exploded again.

Girl Stunt Flier Crashes In Street, Goes Up Again

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—Miss Gene Lavock added one more hair-raising thrill—and for one long minutes she thought it was her last—to her long list of experiences.

She shook hands almost with the Grim Reaper in an airplane crash which demolished her ship.

Miss Lavock, who not so long ago was a waitress, previously had done such things as—

Changing from an automobile to an airplane.

Parachute leaps from planes.

Dancing the Charleston on a wing-tip.

For a year she has held a pilot's license. Her life's ambition is to fly to Honolulu.

Miss Lavock went for a solo flight from the Crescent Airport. At a 1,000-foot elevation her ship went "flooey." She lost control of it. It began tumbling earthward. She fought it, wrestled with it, tugged at the controls.

The earth sped upwards toward her. She just skimmed over a roof-top by a few inches. The plane tore through telephone wires, grazed a pole, skipped across the intersection of Eighty-ninth street and Third avenue, and crashed into another pole.

Neighbors rushed out and found Miss Lavock unconscious. They thought she was dead. They tried to revive her and failed. An ambulance sped toward the scene. The clanging bell reached Miss Lavock's ears. She jumped to her feet.

"Aw heck! I'm all right."

And, to prove it, she went right up again in another plane.

SECRETARY DAVIS MAY RUN AGAINST GRUNDY FOR SENATE

RAPS BOSSES FOR 'STAR' SESSIONS

Declares He Is Not 'Wedded To Talk for Governor;' Meets Eastern Leaders

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30. (AP.)—Instead of seeking the Republican nomination for governor at the primary election in May, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis may be a candidate for the United States Senate against Joseph R. Grundy.

Mr. Davis recently announced that he had received many letters and telegrams from all parts of the state urging him to become a candidate for governor and that if they continued he did not see how he could decline to enter the campaign.

PLEASED BY TREND

He declared here last night after a conference with several labor leaders and others from Eastern Pennsylvania that he was not "wholly wedded to this talk for governor" and added:

"Some recent developments have been very interesting to me. Right now the plans of my friends are working out satisfactorily."

"For the gubernatorial campaign?" he was asked.

"For Governor or for United States Senator," he replied.

"Do you mean that you intend to run for Senator against Grundy?"

"You can place your own interpretation on my words," Mr. Davis said.

Secretary Davis declined to say whether reports that William S. Vare, recently denied a seat in the Senate, intended to withdraw as a candidate for senator in May had anything to do with the possibility of his becoming an opponent of Grundy.

WARN OF DISASTER

Declaring that the day had passed for "star chamber sessions," Mr. Davis said he would not attend the conference to be held in New York City by Republican leaders of Pennsylvania to select the slate for the approaching primary. He predicted that the meeting would be "the spark that will start conflagration within the party that will end in confusion and disaster" and added that it was time "the county leaders and the rank and the file shall be consulted."

John R. Collins, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, fired the opening gun last night in the Democratic campaign in a statement criticising the national and state administrations.

"The people," he said, "cannot much longer afford to buy their 'prosperity' by increased taxes and loaded tariffs. The depleted bank balances are at last convincing the guillible public that the Hoover-Mellon-Grundy-Fisher type government has placed practically everybody in the jackass class."

William B. Wilson, secretary of labor in President Wilson's cabinet, and Sedgwick Kistler, of Clinton County, are prominently mentioned as the Democratic candidates for United States senator and governor, respectively. Mr. Wilson gave Vare a close race in 1926 and contested the latter's election.

Broadway's Largest Sign 7 Stories High

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—The largest electrical sign on New York's White Way, and, incidentally, the largest in the world, has been completed. Seven stories high, one block long, it stands on top of the new Hollywood Theater, Broadway at Fifty-second street.

Twenty thousand lamps, 115 tons of steel, a third of a mile of ladders and walkways, five lines of lettering eight feet high, adjusted to flash four complete announcements every half-minute—such is this sign. It takes 16 working hours to change all the lettering.

Pan-American Mail Plane Forced Down

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The mail plane NC 8020, of the Pan American Airways, which left yesterday for Antigua, encountered strong winds which broke some of the wing struts and forced it to land 15 miles out at sea.

Its radio requests for assistance brought the U. S. S. Grebe and small craft from this port. The mails and the crew were taken from the crippled airplane, which, in a water-logged condition, was towed here by the Grebe.

COLLEGE ROOMS RUINED

The second floor was occupied by Queen's Beauty Shoppe, Dr. J L. DeRoy, dentist, and the remaining portion by the Curry College, which also occupied the entire third floor of the structure.

Every store on the first floor of the building was destroyed. Flames reached every portion of the upper floor and destroyed the contents.

Fireman Victor Modjeski, of No. 1 Engine Company, and Francis McGrath, of No. 12 Engine Company, suffered cuts on the hands and were treated at the scene by Chief Police and Fire Surgeon D E. Sable, who ordered their removal to Mercy Hospital. Their injuries were not regarded as serious.

Hundreds of persons lined the streets and watched firemen battle the flames in the swirling snow.

Gales in Germany Demolish Buildings

BERLIN, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Wreckage today strewed the path of a 75-mile per hour hurricane which yesterday tore across Northwestern Germany. A partly completed church at Dortmund collapsed with much material damage. Other structures collapsed at Cologne, Dusseldorf and Muenster, with a few people injured. There were abnormally high tides in the Elbe and Weser rivers. Many vessels in port at Hamburg were torn from their moorings.

Ortiz Rubio, Family, Visit Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Pasqual Ortiz Rubio, President-elect of Mexico, with his wife and three children and several relatives and Mexican officials, arrived here this morning on a sightseeing tour. The party was met by city officials and officers of the local Chamber of Commerce who planned to conduct the distinguished visitor and his party on a tour of the points of interest.

EIELSON SEARCH SPREADS

MOSCOW, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Spurred by reports from natives of icy Northern Siberia that they had seen the plane of the missing American aviators, Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, the Soviet government today intensified its search for the two men. Both have been misisng north of Siberia for nearly two months after a flight from Alaska to rescue the crew of an ice-bound fur ship.

Ivan Chukhnovsky, one of those who figured prominently in the rescue of the Italian survivors, with pilots Straube, Alekseev and Sterligov, will leave tomorrow for Krasnoyarsk, in central Siberia, and hope to leave from there by January 6 for Cape North in a powerful seaplane to take up the search.

Capt. Milozorov, of the Soviet steamer Stavropol, which is frozen in the ice in the vicinity of the section over which the American aviators flew, was instructed to send out two searching parties.

NOME, Alaska, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Hazy skies and the coldest weather thus far this winter continued today to hinder aviators in Alaska and on the Siberian Arctic coast in carrying on the search for the fliers Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland.

The temperature dropped to 40 below zero here late last night and it was even colder at other points.

Gales Balk British Broadcast to U. S.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The National Broadcasting Company announced that the scheduled broadcast yesterday of a 45-minute service from Canterbury Cathedral in England was prevented by heavy gales which swept away the aerials of G5SW, the short wave transmitter of the British Broadcasting Corporation, at Chelmsford, England.

The program was to have included an address by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Church to Greet New Year With Jazz Chimes

READING, Pa., Dec. 30. —(AP.)—"Ring out, wild bells," will have a really wild sound this year, when this city salutes the golden morn of the new year on Tuesday at midnight. The chimes of sedate Christ Church here, once the cathedral of the bishops of Bethlehem Episcopal diocese, will welcome 1930 with jazz tunes this time, instead of hymn and old song numbers only.

"Tiptoe Through the Tulips," "Singin' in the Rain" and other numbers will be added to the usual program. Organist Harry D. Berlin will play 20 selections to the crowd waiting in the street below, a crowd that usually numbers thousands of people if the weather is moderately good.

DIRECTING WATER FLOW UP TOWERS INTO BUILDING

Club to Scale Pikes Peak For New Year's Fete

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Eleven members of the unique AdAmAn Club, will leave this morning for their annual New Year's climb up the frozen sides of Pikes Peak.

This is the eighth year that the members of the organization have treked their way to the snow-covered summit to welcome the New Year with a short memorial service and a fireworks display.

Featuring the pyrotechnic exhibition will be the shooting of a white rocket into the north in memory of the late Roald Amundsen, Arctic explorer, who was an honorary member of the club. A ton of fireworks has been locked in the Summit House on the peak since the cog train made its last trip in October.

Sudden mountain storms of great violence, terrific wind storms and the ever present menace of snowslides commonly test the climbing skill of the men in their annual journey. Fair weather is in prospect for this year's ascent.

The club derives its name from the fact that only one member is added each year. It started in 1922 with five charter members, all expert mountaineers.

TARDIEU CLOSES PARLIAMENT

PARIS, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Premier Andre Tardieu sent Parliament home to a belated Christmas vacation at 3:40 a. m. today when he had read a closure degree. Budget discussion will be resumed on January 14.

Consideration by the Senate of tax reductions voted by the Chamber yesterday necessitated the late night session since the premier was desirous of an adjournment to permit the ministers to prepare for the coming reparations conference at The Hague. By the exercise of mutual forbearance, the Senate and Chamber were able to come to an agreement on details sooner than had been expected.

The premier warned Parliament last evening that the government needed two days for consultation and conference before leaving for The Hague on Thursday morning.

Jugoslavia Demands Italy Oust Slayers

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The government has asked Italy to surrender two men named Babitch and Posphishil, alleged slayers of Toni Schlegel, an editor, who were said to have found refuge in Italy. The editor of Novosti was waylaid last March outside of his home in Zagreb. He had supported the dictatorship Ardently and was slated to become editor of the Official News Agency Avala.

Croatian Politician Gets 8-Year Term

ZAGREB, Jugo-Slavia, Dec. 30—(INS.)—Joseph Predavec, vice president of the Croatian Peasant party, today was sentenced to serve eight years in prison, following conviction on charges of campaigning against the government through the press. Several other prominent Croatians, including Prof. J. Macek, political writer, remained under arrest on charges of conspiring.

Waits 25 Years For Fee as Witness

CLEVELAND. — Twenty-five years ago the city of Cleveland gave A. J. Folsum a nicely worded bit of paper. It was a legal equivalent to an I. O. U. for $2 and was earned by Folsum when he was a court witness.

Recently it occurred to Folsum that he had never collected. So he rummaged through his possessions, located the subpena and presented it to Deputy Almer Patton in police court. It was Patton's turn to rummage. For two hours he fingered through dusty and yellow files. With a sigh of relief he found the records on the Waddell case.

"Do I get my interest on that, too?" asked Folsum. That was another puzzle, but it was finally decided in the negative and Folsum departed with his $2 fee.

Fiancee's Father Never Saw Film Of Richard Dix

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Matt G. Glass has never seen Richard Dix, the film actor, but yesterday he made a hurried round of Kansas City's movies to see if any were showing the star in action.

Glass had a good reason for wanting to see what Dix looked like, for he had just read a newspaper account of the reported engagement of the actor to his daughter, Maxine, 21-year-old University of Southern California co-ed. Glass failed to find any shows starring his prospective son-in-law, but he intends to see one at the first opportunity.

Glass has not seen his daughter for 10 years. He and his wife were divorced 12 years ago in Topeka, Kan.

GARBAGE FIRM AUDIT READY

Audits of the American Reduction Company's accounts for the disposal of garbage during 1928 have been completed, according to announcement today by Controller Daniel Winters.

Separate audits were made by certified public accountants for the city and for the company. The reports will be submitted to City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt, who is expected to submit a recommendation in about a week to Winters and Council.

The audit of the 1928 accounts was ordered after former Controller Henry O. Evans had charged that $1,000,000 had been improperly charged to the cost of garbage disposal under a cost-plus contract from 1921 to 1927.

The city filed suit to recover that amount and the company filed an exception, calling for more particulars. The city held that the papers in the suit were complete and the courts are now considering whether the city will have to be more specific.

Since the city's suit was filed, the company's attorney, George R. Wallace, died and George E. Alter has been selected as his successor. Alter is now said to be examining the case and will confer later with city attorneys.

REVOLT CRISIS NEAR IN INDIA

LAHORE, India, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—With a colorful array of natives from all parts of India providing a picturesque and almost dangerous sideshow, the delegates to the Indian National Congress today were to debate a motion of the resolution committee for complete freedom of India from British rule.

The motion was adopted by the committee last night by a vote of almost two to one after Jawaharlal Nehru, the vitriolic young president of the Congress, brought cheers from the 3,000 assembled delegates when he declared his followers were "in a conspiracy to free India," and that if independence could not be brought about peaceably, violence would have to be resorted to.

The committee's motion called for complete independence to be effected by boycotting of British councils and cabinets set up to rule India and withdrawal of members of the congress from the national legislature unless Great Britain meets demands of the Nationalists.

Nehru's followers already have drawn up a declaration of independence which they threaten to put into effect on the stroke of midnight, December 31, unless their demands are met by the British. The declaration probably will be voted upon tomorrow. Should it pass, bloodshed might result, it was feared today.

Shock of Kinsman's Death Kills Man

WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 30.—Oliver M. Smith, 52, for many years one of Wheeling's leading real estate man, fell dead of heart disease as he sat at the bedside of his aged father-in-law, Arthur Wallace, 82, late Saturday. Mr. Wallace died early Sunday as a result of the shock of his son-in-law's death. Mr. Wallace was born in Pittsburgh and was a Civil War veteran, having served in Company C, Sixteenth Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry.

'Keep Out of Business,' Edison Warns U. S.

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—An admonition to "keep the government out of business" was given by Thomas A. Edison in an interview appearing today in the Illinois Manufacturers' News.

"One of the highest duties of the President is to keep the government out of business," Mr. Edison said. "That is his biggest job and I should include in that job the clearing out of the bureaucracies which are growing up in Washington and becoming a wasteful nuisance."

In a characteristic sally, the inventor said: "The government never really goes into business for it never makes ends meet. And that is the first requisite of business."

Princess Marie Jose Buys Wedding Garb in Paris

BRUSSELS, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Princess Marie Jose, it was learned here, made a flying trip to Paris in connection with last-minute completion of her trousseau for her marriage to Crown Prince Humbert, of Italy, on January 8.

She returned to Laeken Castle last night, which was the first intimation the public had that, accompanied by a lady-in-waiting, she had slipped away to Paris.

Before her trip a reception was held in the palace when she was presented with a wedding veil, a diamond ring, a commemorative medal and a bed-cover in Brussels lace, which were wedding presents from the nation.

The newspaper Le Soir said that the Princess' wedding gown is of white silk and velvet. The ermine lined court coat of the same material, to be affixed to the shoulders, will be 18 feet long.

U. S. RECEIPTS FOR 1929 TOP YEAR AGO

Healthy Surplus Expected In Spite of Tax Slash; Total to Exceed 4 Billions

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Uncle Sam will have an income of approximately $4,243,689,000 for 1929, a heavy increase over last year, according to figures available at the Treasury today.

The principal sources of government revnue will be:

Income and corporation taxes, $2,513,147,000.

Customs, $606,548,000.

Miscellaneous internal revenue, $629,961,000.

Total expenditures were expected to be about $100,000,000 less than receipts.

The situation at the close of the calendar year indicated that in spite of the income tax cut of $160,000,000 there will be a comfortable surplus on June 30. Somewhat over half of the tax cut will be effective in the 1930 fiscal year and the remainder will reduce receipts for the following 12 months.

1930 FORECAST

The next income and corporation tax returns to be filed, March 15, 1930, will give a good indication of the income to be anticipated in the last half of the 1930 fiscal year and the 12 months following.

This tax return will determine definitely whether the 1 per cent income tax cut applicable to incomes of 1929 will be possible for incomes of 1930, or whether the Treasury will be forced to permit a return to the rates of the 1928 revenue act.

The March 15 returns will show the actual losses of speculators, professional and amateur, from the crash in the stock market, which was believed to have wiped out $15,000,000,000 or more in paper values within a few weeks. Estimators have fixed different figures on the losses, some running up to $30,000,000,000, but the actual figure cannot be determined until the treasury makes a careful analysis of the tax returns. The losses will fall principally on individuals.

DECEMBER GAIN

The December income tax returns ran about as anticipated, having amounted to $511,413,000 up to December 27, a gain of $83,000,000 over last year. For the fiscal year up to the same date the income tax returns amounted to $1,180,231,000, an increase of $171,000,000.

On December 26 the government showed a surplus of $94,885,000, compared to a deficit of $167,612,000 the same date in 1928. Ordinary expenditures were $1,570,000,000, an increase of $24,000,000.

Hoodlums Shoot Dance Hall Guard

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—A gang of toughs, one of whom had been tossed out of a taxi dance hall on the edge of the Loop, opened fire on James Tortorelli, dance hall attendant, early today. Tortorelli was wounded in the leg. The attackers, believed to have been members of the "42 gang," fired from two automobiles. When friends put Tortorelli in a car and started for a hospital, the hoodlums followed a short distance, firing, and then drove away.

Plenty Happens 'Twixt Dec. 20 and Dec. 24

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Mrs. Frank Barthen in Denver sent a Christmas card for her infant son, Frank, to his aunt, Miss Loretta Barthen in Chicago.

That was on December 20.

On December 24, the card was delivered here. In the interim the aunt had married; Mrs. Frank Barthen had moved to Berkeley, Cal., and little Frankie, the infant son, had celebrated his seventeenth birthday.

That was on December 24, 1929. The card was mailed December 20, 1919.

MURDERED MAN FOUND IN CAR

CLEVELAND, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The body of Edward Maddens, 28, trussed up with wire and with a bullet in the head and five knife wounds between the shoulder blades, was found in the rear compartment of a small coupe here.

Detectives investigating the killing said Maddens, a former amateur boxer, had been selling liquor but that trade was too small to have incurred the wrath or enmity of the "big time" bootleggers. Police could offer no motive for the slaying.

The car in which the body was found is owned by Charles Gallegher, of Cleveland, who said he lent it to Maddens last Tuesday.

Police said the bullet that killed Maddens was fired at close range. They estimated that he had been dead five days.

GIRL NABS DRUG PEDDLER

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Miss Mary Whelan, legal adviser of the Federal Narcotics Division here, won the praise of her associates today when it was learned that she took a leading part in a dope smuggling and peddling monopoly that was nation-wide.

Miss Whelan obtained invaluable information regarding the gang's workings, it was learned, when she posed as a drug addict and patronized agents of the ring. Her information resulted in the arrest of William Bailey, whose headquarters is said to be at Albany, N. Y.

Bailey's arrest followed shortly after the arrests of 15 alleged leaders of the ring in New York.

Oil Storage Low, Science Aid Vital

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—With only enough oil stored to last the United States seven months, the future of a motorized world lies with science, Charles N. Gould, of the Oklahoma Geological Survey, said today before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He said that each year during the past three decades scientific investigation has had more and more to do with the discovery of oil and gas.

Al Smith, 56 Today, Family Plans Party

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Alfred E. Smith is 56 years old today and there will be a family party in his Fifth avenue apartment. On January 8 he is leaving for a three weeks' vacation in Miami with William F. Kenny and John J. Raskob.

'WORST TARIFF' DENOUNCED BY WHEELER

Democrats and Progressive Republicans Balk Raid On Consumer, He Asserts

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—But for the Democrats and progressive Republicans, the people would have foisted upon them the "worst tariff ever written in history," according to Senator Wheeler (Dem.), of Montana.

Wheeler flayed the tariff bill as benefitting only certain interests and not the masses. In a statement issued through the Democratic National Committee he declared there was chaos among the Old Guard Republicans because of the confusion as to just what the President does or does not approve in the rate making.

PLEASE ONLY FEW

"This bill as it will be reported out of the conference committee will undoubtedly please a few particular groups in the agricultural sections, but how about the thousands of wheat farmers, the cotton farmers and the corn raisers, who after all compose the great bulk of our farm population that are really in distress," said Wheeler.

"These farmers not only receive no benefit whatsoever from this bill but are going to be injured by it because it is going to increase the price of their food, of their clothes, of their kitchen utensils and of their farm implements.

BOOSTS LIVING

"And how about the workers on the railroads, in the building trades, in the offices and in many other lines of employment who by the greatest stretch of imagination are to obtain no relief from the terrific high cost of living.

"William K. Clayton, the largest cotton buyer in the world, is quoted as having very correctly said 'the Southern cotton farmers is competing with the Russians and the Hindus, burdened with a tariff on everything he uses,' which, according to Clayton, 'both increases production costs and tends to make his customers abroad seek other sources of supply.'"

NEW PLAN AIDS PIANO PUPILS

It is now possible for friends of Pittsburgh boys and girls to nominate them for the Sun-Telegraph piano classes at the Wurlitzer Music Foundation Piano School.

By a change in the rules of the campaign to give free piano lessons to all Pittsburgh, any person, provided he has not subscribed to the Sun-Telegraph for the past 30 days, can, by subscribing for 26 weeks, enter the name of a friend upon the waiting list of the institution.

The nominee will then be sent subscription blanks, two of which, when properly filled out by new subscribers, will be sufficient to secure the student's admission to the school. It is thus possible for anyone to give a boy or girl a helping hand in becoming musically educated.

GREAT INTEREST SHOWN

The only cost to the student is $2.50 for materials. With this cost only a minor consideration, compared to the heavy cost of piano lessons by older methods, students now taking the lessons say that it is an easy task to obtain the two remaining orders for home delivery of the Sun-Telegraph.

The nominating coupon appears elsewhere on this page.

Adults and children are showing great interest in the lessons, taught by melody instead of by scale, according to officials of the school. After working on the mechanical keyboard with sheet music for several weeks, a number of students are said to have shown their ability to learn to play the piano in a remarkably short time.

RAPID ADVANCEMENT

Boys and girls enrolled in the school are said to show far more interest than when they take lessons from individual teachers by older methods. They do not become tired so quickly, it is said.

Many indorsements of the system have been received from music teachers who say that the new method, as taught by the Wurlitzer Foundation, is proving to many persons that they have talent for music which they never recognized before. In addition to that, it is claimed, the lessons, by teaching the fundamentals of all music, give the pupil a true appreciation of music and enable him to learn to play other instruments easily.

Why Divorce? Cash Prizes For Best Answers

Girls! What about the marriage problem? What would you do to hold a husband for all time? Boys! What are your ideas as to the best way of holding a wife?

The Sun-Telegraph wants to get opinions of its readers, both men and women, on these important questions, and offers $250 in gold cash prizes for the best letters submitted on the questions "How to hold your husband" and "How to hold your wife."

It is conceded that the divorce mills are working overtime. A report comes from Chicago, for instance, that a divorce was granted every 55 minutes in that city in 1929, that one of every one hundred and three families were split by divorce, and that divorce actions separated 5,793 children either from their father or mother. Courts granted approximately 10,000 divorces in the county in which Chicago is located during the current year. At this time the Pittsburgh statistics are not available, but it is safe to say that they will not run, proportionately, far short of the Chicago figures.

ANSWER SOUGHT

Why this appalling marital unrest? Why does this gaunt problem—divorce—loom over the homes of America today like a devastating storm. Perhaps the answer will be found in the letters submitted to the Sun-Telegraph by readers in this "Lovejoy" contest.

In the meantime, starting within a few days, the Sun-Telegraph will publish a new serial story from the pen of Beatrice Burton, made famous for her "Sally's Shoulders," "The Flapper Wife," "The Hollywood Girl," and other serials that deal with the trend of young womanhood of this so-called jazz age.

The new story is a thrilling romance under the title "Lovejoy." In it Miss Burton has taken the theme of marriage and divorce and built around it a most fascinating and dramatic story, in which she goes straight to the heart of the problem.

The Sun-Telegraph is convinced that there are many readers who from personal experience may have some unique and valuable suggestion in answer to these questions—whether they are married or single.

PRIZES LISTED

The Sun-Telegraph wants these ideas in writing—in letters of not more than 250 words.

The Sun-Telegraph offers $250 in gold for the best letters submitted. The prizes will be divided as follows: For the women: First prize, $50 in gold; second prize, $25 in gold; third prize, $10 in gold; next eight prizes, $5 in gold; next 50 prizes, two tickets each for the best attractions at the leading motion picture theaters in Pittsburgh. The same prizes will be given men contestants.

The contest is just starting in the Sun-Telegraph and will end Sunday, January 12. All letters must be in before Tuesday, January 14, addressed to Lovejoy Contest Editor, the Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

You don't have to wait until the end of the contest. You can submit your letter today—if you wish.

BUTLER FAVORS INTERVENTION

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Maj. Gen. Smedley D Butler, of the Marine Corps, in a speech before the post of the American Legion at Middletown, a suburb, said it was the "duty" of the United States to protect Latin-American countries.

"I believe," Gen. Butler said, "that God made us the most influential nation in the world for a purpose, and that it is our duty to keep our neighboring nations from murdering one another.

"When the marines get a job they go and do it. We are not diplomats. Soldiering makes a man direct in his methods and sometimes abrupt."

The General asserted he felt disinclined to get "stewed up" over the presence of marines in Nicaragua, Haiti and other places for fear of being "called in to do some more explaining." He was called on recently by the Navy Department to explain remarks he is supposed to have made at Pittsburgh.

HELD AS KILLER OF MOTHER

MILLER, S. D., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Awaiting arraignment on a charge of murdering his 51-year-old mother, Mrs. Anton Lapke, at their farm home, December 14, Alphonse Lapke, 30, sat in his cell in the Hand County jail here and reiterated denials of guilt.

"My conscience is clear and my heart is clear also," was his unvaried answer to questions put to him.

It was the same reply he had repeated throughout three hours of questioning following the filing of first degree murder charge against him. He is accused of cutting his mother's throat as the outcome of many quarrels.

Grant Parrish, state's attorney, said he expected to arraign Lapke on the murder charge tomorrow. His three brothers and their father, would be held as witnesses for the hearing, Parrish said.

Greek Officials Quit At Anarchy Charge

ATHENS, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Two Kondylist members of the government have resigned because of publication of a letter written by their leader, Gen. George Kondyles resigned, charging the Venizelos government with leading the country into political anarchy.

They were Pericles Argiropoulos, minister of interior, and Dr. Pappas.

Watch Services at Bonvue St. Church

Watchnight services will be held tomorrow night in the North End Methodist Episcopal Church, 101 Bonvue street. Following devotional exercises, a group of the members will sing carols in the streets of the district.

Lindbergh Most Popular With Pupils

AUGUSTA, Me., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was the "living character" most admired by the 2,500 members of high school graduating classes to whom questionnaires were sent by the Maine Principals' Association and the State Department of Education, it was made known here. "Mother" was second, Thomas A. Edison, third, and President Hoover, fourth.

AMBRIDGE MILL TO RUN FULL

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Dec. 30.—Ambridge plant of the American Bridge Company has received several large contracts which will keep that plant in full operation some time, it is announced.

One of the largest is the fabrication of 50,000 tons of steel for the new building to be erected by the Empire State Insurance Company, New York City. Other contracts include 1,000 tons for the new McCann Building, Pittsburgh; 1,000 tons for the New Jersey National Guard armory, Hoboken, N. J., and 1,800 tons for a new bank and office building, Philadelphia.

Work has also been started at the local plant for the new $1,500,000 addition.

Dormont Firemen Get New Charter

Weather Conditions.

The pressure is low over Canada, with centers of disturbance over the far Northeast, over Western Ontario and over Alberta, while high pressure areas occupy the southern and western portions of the United States. This distribution of pressure is causing southerly winds over most of the United States, and, as a result, mild temperatures. The skies are overcase over the northeastern portion of the country, east and north of Ohio, while over the remainder of the country there is little cloudiness. The precipitation was light and was limited to the Atlantic Coast states and the lake region.

River Conditions.

The upper rivers are stationary or falling slowly, while the upper Ohio is still rising slightly. Stage at Franklin is 3.2 feet; Lock No. 7, 15.8; Pittsburgh, 14.0; Dam No. 4, 10.7; Dam No. 6, 11.4; Dam No. 9, 11.7, and Dam No. 12, 9.4. The dams are down. There will be little change in the next 24 hours.

VOLSTEAD ACT BRANDED AS FAILURE

Moderation League Shows Increase in Drunkenness, Growing Rum Death Rate

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—"The Volstead Act has failed utterly in what it was intended to do, namely, promote temperance and sobriety. Moreover, there seems to be no hope that the Volstead Act, in its present drastic form, can ever successfully accomplish its purpose."

Such is the conclusion reached by the Moderation League, Inc., of this city, following its national survey of conditions under prohibition, the findings of which have been made public.

Nationwide prohibition, the organization's survey indicates, has brought about regrettable features, no one of which was apparently foreseen at the time the Volstead act was framed. They are:

ARRESTS GROW

A general increase in the number of arrests for drunkenness.

A nationwide death rate from alcoholism which is higher than that of the years when 33 of the states had prohibition as a state policy.

An alarming increase in the use of intoxicants by the youth of the country.

The report professes to see small hope that nation-wide prohibition under existing conditions will ever be even moderately successful. Conditions are becoming worse year by year, instead of better, the survey indicates.

STRANGE FACTS

The most significant things disclosed on this angle by this year's report are.

1. In 565 places arrests for drunkenness increased from 704,336 in 1927, to 743,369 in 1928. This is an increase of 33,033 drunken persons, or an increase of 5.5 per cent in a single year—the largest which has been shown for any year since 1923.

2. In 376 places reporting for the 15 years 1914-1928 arrests for intoxication were higher than in any previous year—even including the war-boom peak in 1916.

2 AGENTS SLAIN IN STILL RAID

BOYDTON, Va., Dec. 30.—(INS)—Bloodhounds were brought here today to assist in searching for moonshiners who fatally shot two Mecklenburg County officers during a raid on a still.

The dead officers are M. E Tuck and Bernard A. Puryear. Both died in a hospital at Oxford, N. C., across the state line, where they were rushed after the shooting.

Three persons charged with operating a still were taken in the raids, but a fourth person, who escaped, is believed to have ambushed the raiding party.

J. H. Oswald, Former Publisher Here, Dies

James H. Oswald, 85, one of the founders of the Pittsburgh Times in the early '80s, died yesterday at Bath, N. Y., according to word received here. The Times was founded by Robert Nevin, who several years later sold the paper to the late Christopher L. Magee. Mr. Oswald began his career on the Commercial Reporter, New York, and later joined the staffs of the New York Tribune and the Sun. Oswald also established the Free Press of Kittanning. Besides his widow, he leaves a son, Rudolph, of Brooklyn, and two daughters, Mrs. O. A. Dezays, of Havana, Cuba, and Mrs. W. R. Campbell, of Bath.

Two Women Held In Store Thefts

Lulu Holse, 22, Negro, of 2838 Mulberry way, and Mrs. Sarah Russell, Negro, of 3414 Caliope street, were held for court for shoplifting in a downtown store today by Magistrate A. D. Brandon.

Detectives said they recovered merchandise worth $133 from the Holse woman, and more than $400 from the Russell woman.

500 Ministers Pay Dr. McEwan Tribute

Five hundred ministers of the Pittsburgh Presbytery and their wives gave the Rev. Dr. W. L. McEwan a testimonial luncheon in the William Penn Hotel at noon today.

Dr. McEwan recently resigned as pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, which congregation he has served for the last 35 years.

Deer Hunter, Shot December 5, Dies

Fiancee of Week Claims Victim Of Drys' Guns

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Bodies of the victims of yesterday's Coast Guard killing lay today at an undertaking room, waiting to be claimed by realtives. The dead, alleged rum runners, are Jake Weisman, 26, of Providence, who had been under indictment for an alleged liquor conspiracy in Portsmouth. Weisman had a bullet through his shoulder, an autopsy revealed. On Christmas day he was engaged to Miss Jeannette Robbins, pretty 21-year-old nurse, of New Bedford. She came here to identify the body.

Dudley Brandt, 35, of Boston, radio operator aboard the U. S. S. Lake Harris during the World War, married 10 years. His wife, heartbroken, thought he was working here as a marine engineer.

John Goulart, 25, of Fairhaven, Mass., survived by his father, mother and two brothers.

KILLINGS SPUR U. S. RUM WAR

of the triple killing. "It is not a job that can be handled with soft words and amiable gestures. If a smuggler elects to defy the command of a coast guard craft to stop, he runs a serious risk of getting hurt through a course of action that the law has specifically authorized for a hundred years."

The shooting occurred when the crew of the speedster Black Duck, preparing to land a cargo of 500 cases off Newport, put on full speed ahead when challenged by a coast guard patrol. The patrol boat gave chase, sounding her hoarse siren repeatedly.

The speed boat paid no attention. Two one-pound shots across the smuggler's bow failed to bring a halt. The patrolmen brought their machine gun into play. As the echo sounded faintly through the fog, the Black Duck's engine stopped and a man staggered out upon her deck.

FIND THREE DEAD

Rapidly pulling alongside, the guardsmen boarded the Black Duck. In the pilot house they found three men dead upon the floor. The fourth man, the only other member of the crew, had had his right thumb shot away and was shot through the right arm. The wounded man gave his name as Charles Travers, of New Bedford, and gave the names of the three other members of the crew as: Jake Weisman, Providence, R. I.; Dudley Brandt, Boston, and John Goulart, Fairhaven, Mass.

Weisman, 35, had recently been admitted to bail on a Federal court charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

TWO VESSELS TAKEN

Two other rum vessels were captured during the night. The converted sub-chaser Flor Del Mar of British registry, with 4,000 cases of liquor aboard was overhauled off Spagwan Reef, near Montauk, L. I., by the coast guard. The crew escaped in small boats after setting her afire.

The third vessel captured was the fishing sloop Roamer, surprised in Napeague Bay, L. I. She had 500 cases aboard.

The value of the liquor taken off the Black Duck, Flor Del Mar and Roamer was estimated at between $300,000 and $500,000.

WOMAN SHOOTS DRY RAIDER

YOUNTVILLE, Napa County, Cal., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Robert D. Freeman, San Francisco prohibition agent, was shot and perhaps fatally wounded while conducting a raid on a ranch near here.

Freeman received a charge of buckshot in the chest from a shotgun in the hands of Mrs. John South, wife of a well-to-do Napa County rancher, whose home Freeman was raiding.

South is said to have attacked the prohibition agents with an automatic pistol and fired two shots, neither of which took effect. Then, he said, Mrs. South fired the weapon.

South and his wife are in the Napa County jail, both held on an open charge pending the outcome of Freeman's injuries.

Dry Raiders Mistake Others; Shoot Two

COLUMBUS, Kas., Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Constable John Crawford, of the Spring Valley Township, and Ora Folk, deputy sheriff, were today suffering from bullet wounds received last night when two parties of raiders, both raiding the same still, mistook each other for bootleggers and opened fire.

A group of officers from the sheriff's office of Cherokee County had gone to an abandoned coal mine North Columbus, to raid a still. Two constables had gone to the mine with the same object. Both believing the other bootleggers, opened fire, which resulted in the right lung and Folk in the right shoulder.

'SHOT WITHOUT WARNING,' DRY VICTIM SAYS

Killing of 3 Unavoidable, Version of Coast Guard; Survivor Kept Under Guard

International News Service.

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 30.—Conflicting statements today confronted officials investigating the triple killing by the machine gunners aboard Coast Guard Patrol Boat No. 290 of three members of the crew of the alleged liquor smuggling power cruiser Black Duck, of New B d.

"We didn't have a chance; they fired on us without warning," Charles Travers, helmsman and only survivor, was quoted as saying on his cot at Newport Hospital.

"In accordance with Coast Guard regulations, we waved our searchlight on the Coast Guard ensign at our masthead," declared Boatswain Alexander C. Cornell, at New London (Conn.) base No. 4. "We sounded the signal for them to heave to. Instead they gave their engines the gun and fled."

WOUNDED MAN GUARDED

An armed petty officer of the coast guard is at the bedside of the Black Duck's lone survivor, and no one is now allowed to talk with the wounded man.

Travers' attorney, John H. Backus, Jr., former special assistant federal attorney in Massachusetts, appealed to United States Senator David I. Walsh (Dem.), of Clinton, Mass., for permission to see his client. The senator promised to communicate with Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon.

Just before the "lid" was clamped down, Travers briefly told his story. He was quoted as saying:

"We just came through the fog and up against them. The coast guard cutter loomed up like a big mountain. We didn't know it was a coast guard boat, but I knew it was another ship and there was danger of a collion and I swung her over.

THREE HIT AT ONCE

"Then they commenced firing. My three companions were hit at the same instant, and I guess they died instantly, for they didn't even speak after they were shot. When the bullet hit me I lost my hold on the wheel, the boat spun around sharp and then the engine stopped.

"Pretty soon a boat came alongside from the coast guard and they took the others in and went back to the 'CG.' They told me I was under arrest. It was bitter cold."

Those who heard the story saw a hint of somebody "higher up" in the alleged activities of the Black Duck when Travers said:

"Those three fellows (the dead) were fine boys. I'm sorry for them. But don't worry, they'll be given a good burial."

COAST GUARD VERSION

At the New London coastguard base Boatswain Cornell, in command of the 75-foot coastguard patrol boat No. 290, told a different story than Travers. The Black Duck, he said, had eluded the coastguard patrol for a year. After describing the sighting of the speedboat in the fog, the sounding of warning signals, and the alleged attempt by the Black Duck to escape, Boatswain Cornell continued:

"We did not shoot to kill. We'd have given anything to have avoided killing the men, but it could not be helped."

50 Arrested in Ohio Enforcement Drive

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Dec. 30.—Fifty arrests for violations of the national prohibition law have been made in the Eastern Ohio district during the past week and more are to follow, according to Rupert Beetham, federal prohibition officer, who has been here for the past two weeks obtaining information. Warrants were sworn out by W. N. Boggs, undercover agent, in each case.

North Side Man Killed by Trolley

Michael Blasius, 60, of 1128 Spring Garden avenue, died last night in the Presbyterian Hospital from a fractured skull suffered a few hours before when he was struck by a Perrysville avenue street car at the Ivory street stop, Ross Township, according to a morgue report. The car, a one-man type, was operated by John Walter, morgue attaches said.

Duncan Sees End Of Dirty Politics

Recent elections in Pittsburgh showed that the public is protesting against "dirty politics," the Rev. Dr. W. W. T. Duncan, pastor of the Emory M. E. Church, told the Methodist Ministers' Association today.

Dr. Duncan reviewed many of the important happenings of the year, nationally, internationally and locally.

SENATOR FLAYS CONGRESS FOR LIQUOR LEAK

Thomas Declares Medical Distilleries Are the New Source of Rum Supply

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The prohibition cauldron boiled over in the Capitol again today, bringing a prediction from Senator Elmer Thomas, dry Democrat, of Oklahoma, that a new scandal is brewing in leaks from the distilleries opened by the government for the manufacture of medicinal liquor.

The Oklahoma Senator attacked the assailants of federal enforcement method by declaring a dry Congress must bear a large part of the responsibility for the lax enforcement of the Volstead act.

Senator Thomas disapproving both the statement of Senator Borah (Rep.), of Idaho condemning the federal enforcement personnel and the bill of Senator Sheppard (Dem.), of Texas, to punish buyers of liquor, said:

"It occurs to me that the interests complaining of non-enforcement, especially the law makers, might better accomplish their purpose by repealing that part of the Volstead act permitting the making of liquor.

CHARGES NEW GRAFT

"It just opens up another avenue for graft in the dispensing of liquor. There is bound to be liquor stolen and embezzled from these distilleries running with government permits; they are just another source of supply."

Thomas announced he would support a movement for greater appropriations and more enforcement agents and asserted "it is well known that Secretary Mellon is not in sympathy with the Volstead act and we will never have better enforcement so long as he is the head."

Washington has been shaken by numerous prohibition storms in the 10 years of trying to enforce Volsteadism, but none of them has ever reached the hurricane and cyclone proportions of the present one.

SEE GREAT BATTLE.

There are those who profess to see in the present situation the beginning of the greatest prohibition battle the country has ever witnessed, with Borah as the flaming evangelist of prohibition becoming a presidential candidate in 1932 against the man he campaigned so earnestly and effectively for in 1928.

There are others who put down the Borah rebellion merely to his irritation over the accepted fact that prohibition enforcement during the first year of the Hoover administration is not much different from what it was under the two preceding administrations.

Whatever the reason, Senator Borah seems definitely off the Hoover reservation and on the war-path — with prohibition for his tomahawk. He wants scalps, too. He wants specifically the scalps of all those district attorneys in whose districts saloons are running, and there is more than suspician that he wants other and higher—top-knots.

TOWN OFFICERS RUM CONVICTS

COEUR D'ALENE, Ida., Dec. 30—(AP.)—Twenty-four of the 29 Mullan officials and others accused of wholesale liquor law violations were convicted by a Federal court jury here last night. Sheriff R. E. Weniger, of Shoshone County; Mayor Arthur Harwood, of Mullan; the city council, and police officers were included in the convictions.

Those freed included three women and two men who were operators of hotels and alleged disorderly houses, which are not covered by Federal jurisdiction.

In the main the government's contention that city officials and others conspired to violate the liquor laws through a system of licensing which amounted to quasi-official sanction of dry law nullification was upheld.

The verdict was reached at 10:39 o'clock after 21 hours and 15 minutes of deliberation.

Mattawan Fugitive And Wife Held Here

Arrested Saturday night by police, who said they surprised the couple trying to steal an auto, W. J. Rice and his wife, Elizabeth, were being held today for an investigation.

Police say the man is wanted for escaping from the asylum for the criminal insane, Mattawan, N. Y. He has been free for a week, detectives said.

Local authorities have also received word from state police at Harrisburg that the couple will be questioned by them.

Sailors' Pastor Brands Rum Killings 'Murder'

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Shooting of three men on the Black Duck, alleged rum runner, by coast guardsmen, was denounced in the pulpit here by the Rev. Roy W. Magoun, superintendent of the Seamen's Church Institute, speaking in St. George's Church. The clergyman called it "downright murder." He said it was a "horrible price" to pay to enforce an "un-American law."

He declared that the men of the Black Duck were "our brothers" and had been "shot down like rats to satisfy a frenzied fanaticism and a smug hypocrisy."

The view of the Coast Guard on the "unfortunate killings" was given by Lieut. Com. L. T. Chalker, at the New London Coast Guard base, when he said it was "difficult to see where a rum-runner was any different from a burglar."

Overholt Ready To Resume Distilling

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 30.—With a permit for the production of 2,500,000 gallons of liquor, the Broadford plant of A. Overholt & Co. is being put into condition for operation.

A force of 100 will be employed within a short time, and 10 years of activity is assured. J. D. Stillwagon will be superintendent, and Charles C. Gray will resume his position in charge of manufacture.

FATHER KILLS 5 CHILDREN, SELF

VERNON, Tex., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Death ended a bleak Christmas for J. H. Haggard, 56, a tenant farmer, and his five motherless children. They were found shot to death in their poverty-stricken home near here, and apparently had been dead several days.

Justice of the Peace H. C. Justin held an inquest at the scene of the tragedy and indicated his verdict would be suicide in the case of the father and death by gunshot wounds for the children. Poverty was the only motive advanced for the slayings.

A note, tragic in its brevity, penciled in scrawling print and stuck to the door of the house, read:

"All ded. I had ruther be ded. Look in zellar."

The dead, all of whom had shotguns wounds in the head, were: J. H. Haggard, the father, 56; Simon Haggard, 18; John Haggard, 10; Alta Haggard, 15; Alma Haggard, 12, and Dorothy Haggard, 6.

5 DIE AS STORM HITS FRANCE

PARIS, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Five persons were killed last night in France by one of the most severe storms of the season which was accompanied by a southwesterly gale.

At Havre a crane was blown over and sank the tug Abeille. The crew of three were drowned. Near Hazebrouck two were struck and killed by a huge elm tree uprooted by the storm.

The steeple of a church near Saint Omer collapsed upder the buffeting of the wind and crashed through the roof. Many trees were uprooted in Normandy orchards. Railroads and trolley lines were blocked in many places by fallen limbs and early this morning telegraphic communications were cut off with many outlying districts.

The ports of western and northern France were full of storm-bound shipping and all tugs were busy succoring ships helpless before the storm at sea.

PITTSBURGHER IN SCHOOL QUIZ

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(U. S.)—Personnel of the advisory committee for the nation-wide survey of secondary education, now under way by the Interior Department's Bureau of Education, has been announced.

Dr. L. V. Kroos, of the University of Chicago will head the committee of 30 educators from outstanding universities of the country.

This committee will assist the survey staff, authorized by Congress, in conducting the research work among high schools and advanced educational institutions, and will tabulate and classify the information when it is completed.

Secretary Ray Lyman Wilbur, at some later date, will appoint another committee of laymen who act as a jury on the facts gathered.

The committee of educators include: R. L. Cooley, director of Milwaukee Vocational State College, Wisconsin; Philip W. L. Cox, professor of Secondary Education, New York University; Arthur Gould, public schools, Los Angeles; E. D. Grizzegl, University of Pennsylvania; Frank M. Leavitt, public school system, Pittsburgh; Michael H. Lucey, principal of Julie Richman High School, New York City; Bruce Millikin, principal, East High School, Salt Lake City; Shelton Phelps, George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn.; Lewis W. Smith, superintendent of schools, Berkeley, Cal.; W. R. Smithey, University of Virginia; Sarah M. Sturtevant, Teachers' College of Columbia University; W. L. Uhl, University of Washington, Seattle.

LAW RESPECT, BUTLER TOPIC

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—In his annual report as president of Columbia University, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler said that "not everything which comes clothed in the garb of law is really law."

"Unbroken human experience," he said, "goes to prove that a man may hold one law in utter contempt and yet have high respect for the great body of law."

There are two other bodes of social control which are superior to law, he asserted, explaining:

"The first is the conduct and manners of a gentlemen, and this includes the second, which is conduct according to the highest standard of morals."

The "widely heard cry for law enforcement," Dr. Butler stated, "usually reflects merely the demand of the fanatic for the punishment of violators of some particular law in which he is interested."

Dr. Butler made no explicit reference to prohibition.

Davis, Ex-Attorney General Aide, Dies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Frank Davis, Jr., former Assistant Attorney General in the Wilson administration, died yesterday at Garfield Hospital from pneumonia.

Davis, who was 54, had been ill for 10 days. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Nancy House Davis; a daughter, Mrs. Amy Dean McCoy, of New York; a son, Robert Davis; a sister, Mrs. P. M. Ashbur, and his father, Frank Davis, Sr., of Batavia, O. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at the home of his father at Batavia.

Czech Farm Strike Set for January 1

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—A widespread agricultural strike is expected on January 1. Farmers have proposed a 15 per cent reduction in wages because prices of agricultural products have dropped about 50 per cent recently, but their laborers have refused to accept such a cut.

At the same time, Dr. Spina, of the German agrarian party, was reported to be encouraging farmers to boycott international agricultural goods to force the government to increase the duties on cereals.

Confesses Slaying Gas Station Youth

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Police here report that Fred Wilkins, 24, who claims to be a resident of Detroit, Mich., had made a verbal confession that he fired the shot that killed Joseph V. Pollard, 18, in an attempted holdup of a gasoline station in Kingston, Friday night. Wilkins also admitted that in April last he and a companion who he named as Fred Bolitz, had been arrested for attempting to hold up a motorist near here.

$250,000 GIVEN FOR EYE STUDY

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—A $250,000 gift from the Commonwealth Fund, of New York, was announced last night by Chancellor Throop, of Washington University, to undertake a program of trachoma research on a scale never before attempted.

Trachoma, an infectious disease of the conjunctiva, or inside of the eyelid, and the cornea, which shuts off the cornea or transparent "window" of the eye, with opaque scar tissue, is described as the worst world scourge among the eye diseases.

The Commonwealth Fund was established some years ago by Edward S. Harkness, Sr., and is sometimes known as the Harkness Foundation.

FUMES KILL 3, 24 OVERCOME

NEW YOK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Two children and a woman were killed and 24 others were overcome by coal gas which spread through a five-story apartment house in West One Hundred and Twelfth street before the tenants had arisen.

The dead were Mrs. Mary Arroyo, 38; Jennie Schnieder 3, and her sister, Pinda, 17 months.

Police said a broken connection on a hot water heater was the cause of the accident.

Beaver Attorney's Operation Fatal

BEAVER, Pa., Dec. 30.—Philip H. Stevenson, 42, member of the Beaver County Bar, is dead at his home after an operation. A son of the late A. Byron Stevenson, pioneer steel man, Attorney Stevenson was born in Beaver. He was admitted to the bar in 1911. He leaves his mother, Mrs. A. B. Stevenson, and a brother, Attorney A. Byron Stevenson, Beaver.

Funeral services will be held this afternon at 2:30.

Russian Engineers To Study Factories

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Seventeen Russian government engineers arrived from Moscow on the liner Nieuw Amsterdam to study the manufacture of farming implements in the United States. They said the Soviet government is planning to construct the world's largest factory for the manufacture of agricultural machinery and implements at Nijni-Novogrod.

Glass Salesmen To Hold Conference

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 30.—The eighth annual convention of salesmen of the Capstan Glass Company, one of the city's leading industries, will be held on January 17 to 19. The company's representatives gather here from all parts of the United States and Canada.

Plane Hits Crowd, 2 Killed, 2 Injured

HEARNE, Tex., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—A barnstorming airplane crashed into a holiday crowd at the flying field here yesterday, killing two Negro boys and injuring two others, one probably fatally. Miss Dorothy Stocker, 17, of Houston, was the pilot.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

R. L. Scovilles Announce Engagement of Their Daughter, Eleanore

AND now we're starting on another week stuffed as full as a Christmas stocking with dances and dinners and teas. Next week there'll be a few entertainments, and then everyone will be looking forward to Palm Beach, and recalling the gaieties of this brilliant Yuletide season.

In a few weeks more, those of us at home will be following news of Pittsburgh folks wintering in the South and anticipating the spring weddings, which will be exceptionally notable I prophesy, judging from the wealth of betrothals the holiday season has brought forth.

TODAY I know of still another betrothal that will interest the older set. The Royal L. Scovilles, of New York, formerly of Sewickley, announce the engagement of their daughter, Eleanore Shannon Scoville, to Jonathan Godfrey Wells, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Jonathan Godfrey Wells, of New York and Southport, Conn.

AND I know of another event in honor of the school set, a dance. The James Barr Haines, of Glen Osborne, will be hosts at the dance, to be given this evening in the Montour Heights Country Club in honor of their son, John Koch Haines, a student at Shady Side Academy.

* * *

ON Friday Mrs. Alexander J. Barron, of Sewickley, gave a bridge in her home for the school set in honor of her niece, Elizabeth Crampton.

AND I want to remind you that Emily Frew, daughter of the William Frews, of Devon road, will make her debut at a dinner dance her father and mother will give tonight in the Pittsburgh Golf Club.

And there are a number of entertainments for the school set today in addition to the Haines dance. The J. Hanson Roses and the Henry Vaughan Blaxters will entertain with a dance in the University Club tonight in honor of Dorothy Blaxter and Gretchen Rose.

And the B. R. B. Towsends, of Sewickley Heights, will give a dance in their home this evening for the school set. And the guests of honor will be Laura Liggett and Henry T. Irwin, Jr.

DID you hear of the betrothal of Hester Makepeace Homer? Her father and mother, the Sidney Homers, of New York, have announced her engagement to Robert Edward Henry, Jr., of Brooklyn. Of course you know that Hester's mother is none other than Mme. Louise Homer, the opera star, who once made her home in Pittsburgh. Hester's fiance is a Yale graduate.

A NUMBER of entertainments will be given this week for Lillian Rose, daughter of the George Phelps Roses, of Sewickley, who'll become the bride of John M. Kimball, of Portland, Me., on Thursday.

The Ledlie Watt Youngs and the Alexander Laughlin Robinsons will give a dinner dance New Year's night in the Allegheny Country Club for her, and her fiance, and Miss Mary Rose will give a dinner Thursday in her home for Lillian.

TOMORROW will be a day of many festivities. One event at which many members of Pittsburgh society will be guests will be a luncheon the Thomas Alexander Mellons will give in the Pittsburgh Golf Club. And the guests of honor will be the Archibald M. Dennys, of Boston, father and mother of the debutante, Katherine Denny. In honor of Katherine, her grandmother, Mrs. Harmar D. Denny, gave a dinner dance in the Pittsburgh Golf Club Christmas eve, I might add.

A PARTICULARLY interesting luncheon was given yesterday, I've just learned, in the Allegheny Country Club. The Oliver P. Nicolas were hosts at the event in honor of the inimitable Ethel Barrymore.

AND I want to tell you about one of the largest and most "Christmasy" of the entertainments given for the school set during this Yuletide season. I'm referring to the dance the John M. Freemans, of Ellsworth avenue, gave in the University Club Saturday night in honor of their charming daughter, Evelyn Freeman. There were over 200 guests with young folks and their fathers and mothers among the guests.

The ballroom was gay with pungent pine trees and holly, with a hedge of pine screening the scarlet-clad orchestra. The guest of honor wore a long gown of peach taffeta and had a corsage of roses. Her mother wore blue satin in the princess mode.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES PENNEY LYTLE, of Monongahela, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sarah Katherine Lytle, to Hugo O. Hanft, Jr., of Chicago, son of Judge and Mrs. Hugo O. Hanft, of St. Paul, Minn., at a tea given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Malcolm Zander, of Hampton Hall, Pittsburgh.

Miss Lytle is a graduate of the Winchester School and Vassar College. Her fiance is a graduate of Shattuck Military School and the University of Minnesota. The wedding will take place some time this summer.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY M. HALLETT, of Ben Avon, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Sarah Louise Hallett, to Winslow N. Hallett, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hallett, of Arden, Del., which took place Saturday, December 21, in Elkton, Md.

MISS MARY LOUISE HADDOCK, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rollins A. Haddock, Jr., of South Graham street, and her sister, Miss Edna Jane Haddock, have as their guests for the holiday season Miss Margaret Hammet, of South Bend, Ind., and Gloversville, N. Y., and George V. Higgins, of Niles, O.

MR. AND MRS. MORRIS FRIEDMAN, of Uniontown, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Bessie Elaine Friedman, to Samuel Albert Wasser, of North Negley avenue, yesterday at 3 o'clock in the bride's home. The Rabbi Baron, of the Temple Israel, officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a sand color chiffon dress in princess mode, with shoulder corsage of orchids. Her sister, Mrs. Herman Bigg, of Latrobe, was matron of honor, and Herman Bigg served as best man.

A reception was held after the wedding and then Mr. and Mrs. Wasser left for New York, from where they sailed for Hamilton, Bermuda.

Mrs. Wasser was graduated last June from the Pennsylvania College for Women, and the bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh pharmacy school and is a member of the Phi Delta Chi fraternity.

PRELATE SEES BRITISH PERIL

LONDON, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The Archbishop of Canterbury took a rather pessimistic view of present conditions in England in his sermon at the cathedral yesterday.

"More than a million of our people are unemployed, and the future is clouded with uncertainty," he said. "We have come to a critical time in the fortunes of both the commonwealth and the church.

"My message to you is that this must be met with a new and sustained acceptance of individual responsibility. For more than a century we have taken for granted industrial and commercial leadership by this country. The experience of the passing year suffices to show that this leadership is seriously threatened. The cure can only come through restoring and reinvigorating the strength of the whole body."

Alfonso to Visit Ruler of Portugal

LISBON, Portugal, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—A return visit by the King of Spain to President Antonio O. de Fragoso Carmona has been definitely fixed for the last week in April. King Alfonso will voyage here on a warship, escorted by a Spanish naval division.

The magnificent Belem palace is undergoing extensive alterations for the accommodation of the royal party. The King is expected to visit several points of interest in this vicinity.

IMPORTANT STYLES IN HATS PRESENTED

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Dec. 30.—Straws will soon tell which way the winds of fashion are blowing, for already many hats of straw, in most cases combined with felt, are being shown. Although these are destined for resort wear, there is indication that the straw hat, especially, such weaves as bakou, balibuntal and others of the linen variety, are assured of continued success next year. And in addition we are promised several new straws both for dress and sports wear. To talk about hats is certainly a pleasing task on a gray day, and to view those that are already being shown is in the nature of a tonic. For the present we are wearing here felts of a very fine and supple quality, and some velvet, although not as much as earlier in the season. Side drapes, to be adjusted at the will of the wearer, are seen on many of the hats designed for wear with huge fur coat collars. Also some jaunty little turbans and berets. There is, too, a distinct interest in the brimmed hat, something that will be of increased importance next season.

WE have sent you sketches of four smart hats that mirror the present mode and also venture a forecast for later. The first is a sketch of a very smart Reboux hat worn at the Ritz by Mrs. Arthur C. Payne. It is a close toque of fine black felt, its becoming lines set off by the long aigrette, which clings closely to the cheek and then sweeps down across the shoulder. The second is a Rose Descat model of very thin, supple, dark brown felt. It is intricately cut and shirred at the front and has a long brim effect at the sides and back.

THE youthful and very attractive little beret is from Lewis. It is of black velvet with a head band and bow of knitted white angora wood. The fourth hat is an early spring model from Marceline Lely. It is of dark blue bangol with matching felt. The wide brimmed effect is to be found at the sides, but the nape of the neck, in distinct contrast to the autumn mode, is left quite uncovered.

Wilson Club Luncheon Saturday

MISS MARY ZEIGLER is general chairman for the annual holiday luncheon of the Wilson College Club of Pittsburgh which will be held Saturday in the Hotel Schenley. Miss Zeigler has asked the following alumnae to assist her: Miss Katherine Zortman, ho is t.king reservations; Miss Kathleen Alter and Miss Martha Huffman, who will look after the decorations, and Mrs. Frank Kinley. Miss Elizabeth Moore, class of '31, will be the undergraduate song leader. The Rev. Robert Galbreath, of the Bellevue Presbyterian Church, is to be honor guest and speaker and news of the college will be brought by Mrs. Chester A. Smith, who was the Pittsburgh delegate to the Alumnae Council at Wilson this fall.

A BENEFIT bridge party will be held Wednesday afternoon, January 8, by Poale Zedeck Sisterhood at El Tower, Munhall road, Squirrel Hill. Mrs. Joseph Klein, chairman, is being assisted by Mrs. S. H. Spiegal, Mrs. J. Weinberger and Mrs. C. Wolf as hostesses.

A REGULAR meeting of Alpha Chapter of Pi Omicron Sorority will be held in the Fort Pitt Hotel Monday night. Frederick P. Mayer will conduct the meeting.

CHANGES in the by-laws relative to the classes of membership, the time when the nominating committee shall be elected, when newly-elected officers shall take office and the date for the annual meeting will be voted upon at the quarterly meeting of the Congress of Clubs which is set for January 30.

* * *

THE DORMONT YOUNG WOMEN'S COLLEGE CLUB held its sixth birthday bridge party at the home of Miss Anne Gossett, the retiring president, on Saturday. The social committee under Miss Lillian Kerr's chairmanship, was in charge. New officers have been elected for 1930 as follows: President, Miss Marion Lamb; vice president, Miss Grace Jones; recording secretary, Miss Jane Slitzer; treasurer, Miss Kathryn Dunn; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Virginia Fugh Evans. The directors are Mrs. Evelyn Black Robbins, Miss Lillian Grabe, Miss Esther Blue and Miss Mildred George.

Archbishop of Paris Consecrated by Pope

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Cardinal Verdier yesterday was consecrated as archbishop of Paris by Pope Pius XI in the Sistine chapel. It was the last and one of the most impressive ceremonies of 1929 in the Vatican state.

Many Frenchmen witnessed the three hours and a half of ceremony during which the Pontiff administered the traditional "laying on of hands." After the communion the cardinal, clothed in the robes of his new office, gave his first blessing as a bishop and was then installed on a throne opposite to that occupied by the Pope.

Return of Carol Sought by Nicholas

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—An unconfirmed report from Bucharest said that Prince Nicholas, uncle of young King Michael and a member of the regency, had expressed a desire to go to Paris where his brother, the former crown Prince Carol, is living in exile. He was also reported to have said that a return to Rumania by Carol would be harmless.

Dowager Queen Marie was understood to have advised against both steps.

Pastors Fund Given $500,000 by John D.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The Rev. J. W. Porter, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church, here, and editor of the American Baptist, announced that he has received a telegram from Thomas J. Watts, of Dallas, Tex., executive secretary of the relief and annunity board of the Southern Baptist Church, announcing the unconditional gift of $500,000 to the board by John D. Rockefeller, Sr.

The relief and annuity board is in charge of a fund for aged ministers who have devoted their lives to the service of the church.

Sun-Telegraph Newsboys Jam Theater Party

What a jam! Who'd have thought there were so many newspaper carrier boys in Pittsburgh? They trooped into the Aldine Theater by the hundreds yesterday afternoon. Arrangements had been made for 2,000 by ticket distribution, but every youngster seemed to have found a brother or a pal and the tender-hearted theater manager—ticket or no ticket—couldn't turn any of them away.

On top of that, big good-natured Mike Walsh, the policeman on the beat, with a night stick and a laugh that goes with it for kids, was in the lobby. So the youngsters behaved pretty well.

It was a special theater party for the carrier boys of the Sun-Telegraph. Manager Jack Simons, of the Aldine, was sponsor for it. The feature picture, an all-talkie, "Untamed," with Joan Crawford, headed the program. The youngsters gave the villain the merry "ha, ha" when he was tricked—and they nearly tore off the roof with applause when dainty Joan gave him a vicious slap in the face. An added feature, the comedy skeleton dance, created roars of laughter.

Oh Boy! What a climax! When the motion picture program ended, the distribution of full one pound tin boxes of "Teenie Weenie Toffies" started. Was there a scramble? Twenty-five hundred boxes had been stacked up for the youngsters, with a force of 20 men to hand them out. Just a few were disappointed, but that was because some of the kids discovered a way to get into the theater a second time via a side door and consequently "doubled up" on the candy.

The reason for putting on "Untamed" may be explained by the fact that these carrier boys saw the current picture, "Condemned," with Ronald Colman and Ann Harding, last week. "Condemned" is being held over for New Year's week on account of the unusual popularity it created in Pittsburgh. It will also be shown at a special midnight performance New Year's Eve.

Anglo-Persians to Start New Radio Series

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

TO the weird chant of clarinets and oboes, the Anglo-Persians will be introduced to a week-day audience tonight at 10 o'clock from WCAE. For a long time the Persians were a Sunday feature. Their new series takes a different form; instead of a straight semi-classical concert they will offer a musical trip to some American city. Tonight it will be Worcester, Mass.

Christmas turkey was not enough for the Real Folks, who will stage a pie-eating contest for KDKA listeners at 9:30. Russian Gypsy Airs, collected by Adia Kouznetzoff, will be sung by a large chorus on the 9:30 Family Party through WCAE.

The combined service bands of the United States, numbering 100 musicians, will be heard in the Pan-American concert through WCAE at 10:30 o'clock.

Of the individual selections we like best Frederick G. Rodgers with "The Stein Song," KDKA at 6:30; a Friml medley by Ruth Lyon, KDKA at 7:15; "Lover Come Back to Me" by Vaughn de Leath, WCAE at 8; Louise Bave, Meditation from "Thais," WCAE at 8:30; chorus and orchestra doing "Beautiful Blue Danube," WJAS at 10:30.

We Now Present

Lois Bennett, former Ziegfeld star, is the leading lady for the new Philco hour, which goes on the Columbia network Thursday, January 9. She takes the place of Jessica Dragonette. John Barclay, baritone, takes the place of Colin O'More.

WEDDING BELLS: They'll be ringing next spring for Janet King, demure secretary at KDKA. She fell in love with Jean McCormick, trombone player of Don Bestor's outfit, when she saw him from the floor in Pirate Hall. Jean wasn't a bit slow. A whirlwind courtship during which the two young folks were frequently seen arm in arm about the Kay-Dee studios, culminated in the announcement of their engagement.

Janet, you know, is the brunette at KayDee who paints, sings and composes quite a little. She lives at 223 Kelly street, Wilkinsburg. Jean lives in Terre Haute, Ind.

Janet and Jean—We wish you joy!

TODAY'S TID BIT:

KDKA artists, announcers and program directors are never too tired to give their services to a good cause. Frederick G. Rodgers, R. P. Griffith, the "Gus Smaltz" of the Little German Band; Louis L. Kaufman, Aneurin Bodycombe and Virginia Kendrick recently journeyed to the Veterans' Hospital at Aspinwall and surprised the boys who couldn't get home over the holidays.

Story of Old Hermit.
How Seattle, the City of Seven Hills, reclaimed land beneath Puget Sound to provide greater waterfront sites, will be told.
The dramalogue centers around an old hermit who resisted to the last the march of modern mechanical progress. Barricaded in his shack on one of Seattle's many hills, he remained, while steam shovels, rock drills and giant scoops leveled the ground about him.
Harvey Hays as the Old Pioneer, Virginia Gardiner, actress, and Bob McGimsey, whistler, are featured in this coast-to-coast presentation, written by Edward H. Bierstadt.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Amusement Reflections Include Notes From Hollywood and Local Theaters

KNUTE ROCKNE MAY APPEAR IN SCREEN VERSION OF 'GOOD NEWS'

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 30.

IN THE event that within the next week or so Knute Rockne, famous Notre Dame football coach, receives hospital parole, he will hit West to enact the role of pigskin coach in M. G. M.'s production of "Good News."

Rockne, this bureau learns, is favorably disposed to bowing into talky celluloid. When the musical comedy, "Good News," ran on Broadway, Rockne surprised an audience one eve by stepping on the stage as the coach, an actor for a performance gag.

Knute Rockne

William (Buster) Collier, Jr., has grabbed off the "Good News" lead with Mary Lawlor the heroine; Bessie Love, in the Zelma O'Neill part opposite Gus Shy, the comedian imported from New York.

Edgar McGregor is to direct. McGregor is the lad who put the show on the boards originally. This is his initial motion picture but he knows where he goes from the first shot.

Poor Raymond Hatton. He has been put out of another home. Ray bought a plot of land in the mountains of Californy and for some reason or another had to vacate because the city fathers needed it for their business. Undaunted, he purchased more land. He has to leave there, too. The municipal papas of Los Angeles figured Silver Lake would be a swell spot for a reservoir. Furthermore, citizens needed the water. So Hatton has sold his property and bime and by Silver Lake will be concreted and become a reservoir. Water travels a long distance out here before reaching a glass. It's even tough on water. To get back to Hatton, he has now purchased a spot in Laguna Beach. It's problematical how long he will be allowed to remain put.

Fannie's Brother Runs Restaurant

AROUND the first of the new year, the village will boast another restaurant. Lew Brice—Fannie's brother—has leased space beside the Christie Hotel and is going to throw the doors open for business as soon as the interior dries. Lew, himself, will be on hand every eve to lend gaiety to the show he plans to offer. The restaurant is done in black and gold, with a miniature stage upon which blackouts and such will be given. There's a Blue Law in this town that closes restaurants at 1. Still, Lew should get along famously. He is popular and he knows last names as well as firsts.

Raymond Hatton

Now they'e accusing Rod La Rocque of calling lion hunting his favorite sport!

Warner Baxter evidently decided that where there's an accent there should be a foundation. He has engaged a French valet. No, Warner isn't Scotch.

Warner Brothers had open house at their Sunset studio, Christmas Day. The doors were thrown wide, and those unfortunate enough to be hurt financially were made welcome at a festive board loaded with turkey and aromatic dishes. Some 1,600 men, women and children showed. All were served.

Oil Can Drops On Sue's Nose

A LOCAL TAILOR is authority for the statement that for the 10 years he has been in business, Christmas, 1929, was his biggest December 25. Many people, instead of sending flighty presents, sent their friends and family an order for a suit of clothes.

Warner Baxter

They tell this one about Carl Laemmle, Jr. Junior espied Joseph Schildkraut here and there on the Universal lot with the G. Sisters, two brunettes imported from Germany for terpsichore purposes. "Ah, Joseph," opined Junior later, "I see you're out to get your letter!"

Over at the Fox Westwood plant, an electrician on a runway above "The Big Party" set absentmindedly kicked a tall oil can overboard. Sue Carol absentmindedly stood in its path. Sue's nose took the plunk. That night, she slept with a hunk of beefsteak draped to facial satisfaction.

And—that's all.

Father Quits Bank Post, Son Named

At the annual meeting of the First National Bank of Castle Shannon John W. Waterman, for 20 years a director, resigned. William Waterman, a son, was elected to the position. The semi-annual dividend of five per cent was declared and will be paid to stockholders tomorrow. A bonus equivalent to one month's salary was voted to employes for their faithful service.

OPERA

Johanna Gadski is a member of the German Opera Company that will sing two operas here the latter part of January.

DANCES

MUSICAL FILM ON HARRIS SCREEN

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

"Tanned Legs" is the current talk film in the Harris. It is a musical comedy of a sort and details the romantic experiences of the Reynolds family—papa, mama and two daughters. Papa has a weakness for pretty blondes and mama has a flirting complex. As for the daughters, they have busy moments, too. One ends up without any man at all and the other falls into the puppy-love arms of young Arthur Lake.

June Clyde, a movie newcomer who can sing, appears as one of the sisters. The other is portrayed by Sally Blane. The very rotund and amusing Albert Gran has the father role and Nella Walker portrays Mrs. Reynolds.

Ann Pennington is present and adds atmosphere to the title—at least in several dance numbers. A confidence man and his alluring feminine partner have a prominent spot in the plot. The action is laid at a fashionable resort. Choruses and ensembles make their appearances at various intervals.

The picture is O. K. as light—oh, very light—entertainment.

Victor Graff, all dressed up like a tin soldier or something and with two big daubs of rouge on his cheeks, presides over the stage show. As a specialty he sings "St. Louis Blues." Four midgets present acrobatic novelties. One of the features is three performers, garbed as sailors, who offer pleasing vocal harmony.

Other entertainment includes a John Mitchell organlogue.

McDermott Again Heads Vesle Post

B. E. McDermott will continue as commander of Vesle Post V. F. W., at McKees Rocks, having been re-elected at the annual meeting of the organization. Other officers elected are: Senior vice commander, Sherman Sunderland; junior vice commander, M. J. Farrell; chaplain, M. W. Newman; officer of the day, J. W. Norton; quartermaster, L. W. Leonard; trustee, Lloyd Sutherland; post advocate, Joseph E. Frazier; delegates to the Allegheny council, Joseph E. Frazier and E. S. Stockton.

European Dancers In Recital Tonight

Kreutzberg and Georgi, European dancers will give a recital in Carnegie Music Hall tonight. They will open their program with a dance to the music of Chopin, followed by "Dance of the Master of Ceremonies," from Reinhardt's Festival Play, in Salzberg. Other numbers will be interpreted to the music of Milhaud, Mozart, Scott, Debussy, DeFalla, Prokotieff, Schriabine and Wieniawski.

Note Coincidences Of Inaugurations

WASHINGTON.—President McKinley's first inauguration took place on the centennial of Washington's retirement from public life, a coincidence that failed to attract public attention at the time. The ceremonies attending the beginning of McKinley's term fell on the centennial of the first inauguration of Jefferson, first president to be inaugurated at our permanent seat of government at Washington.

Triangle Club Will Meet Thursday

The Triangle Club of Wilkinsburg will hold its first meeting of the New Year Thursday with Mrs. William Johns as hostess, assisted by Mrs. Earl McCall and Mrs. R. T. Wolf. A book review on "The Source" will be given by Mrs. Frank Armstrong, and on "The Life of McKinley" by Mrs. Howard A. Kelly. Current events will be given at roll call.

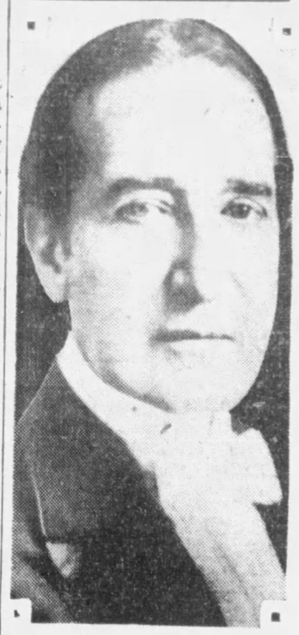
Special Programs Arranged For Harris

The Harris Theater is going to signalize the first week of the new year by presenting a novel idea of stage presentation and by introducing a miniature ballet. Beginning Saturday, January 4, the stage presentation is to be known as "Radio Station WCAE Week," and is to include a hookup with that air circuit. The stage will be dressed to represent a broadcasting station. Announcers of WCAE will appear behind the microphone and begin each performance with a characteristic announcement.

Victor Graff, master of ceremonies, will then take his position behind the microphone and present the entertainment just as if it were in a broadcasting studio going out over the air. In this way the Harris Troubador Band, the RKO vaudeville acts and a group of girls trained in the Tiller and Rasch style of dancing will be introduced. The talking picture for the week will be "Wall Street."

Others in five special weekly presentations will be: January 11, "Circus Week;" January 18, "Spanish Nights;" January 25, "A Trip Around The World;" February 1, "Sidewalks of New York." In each of these the new little ballet will perform.

MYSTERY



Thurston, the hocus-pocus man, and his, not one bag but many, bags o' tricks, will be the Alvin attraction next week.

Wilkinsburg Names New Councilmen

To fill vacancies occasioned by the death of John M. Lindsay and the election of William M. Turner as burgess, the Wilkinsburg council at its regular meeting elected Thomas H. Moore and James H. Bell. The new members were immediately sworn in and the council at its next meeting will organize with the election of officers.

M. E. Conference Meets at Millvale

The quarterly conference will be combined with watch night service tomorrow night in the Millvale Methodist Episcopal Church. The Rev. Dr. W. S. Trosh, superintendent of the Allegheny district, will address the meeting at 9 p. m. followed by special music, a social hour and devotional services from 11:30 p. m. until after midnight.

DRAMA, FARCE ON STAGES FOR WEEK

Ethel Barrymore begins the second and final week of her season in the Shubert Alvin tonight in Lili Hatvany's Hungarian drama, "The Love Duel," adapted by Zoe Akins. The curtain rises at 8:15 o'clock sharply at nights and at 2:15 at the matinees New Year's Day (Wednesday) and Saturday. As it is necessary to hear the first lines of "The Love Duel" in order to understand the plot, playgoers are urged to be in their seats before the drama begins.

Tonight in the Nixon the new play by Edwin Justus Mayer, "Children of Darkness," will be presented, starring Basil Sydney and Mary Ellis. Supporting them will be a cast including Charles Dalton, Walter Kingsford, Eugene Powers and J. Kerbey Hawkes.

A farce, "Getting Gertie's Garter," will be the vehicle of the George Sharp Players in the Pitt, opening tonight. Next week the attraction is to be "Paid in Full."

Sisterhood Will Sponsor Benefit

The Sisterhood of Pale Zedeck, Shady and Phillips avenues, will sponsor a benefit performance at the Pitt Theater Tuesday evening January 14. Mrs. D. A. Mendoza is president of the Sisterhood and Mrs. R. M. Colnes chairman for this event.

"The Great Gabbo" Next in Sheridan

Opening with a special New Year's Eve showing, "The Great Gabbo," starring Betty Compson and Erich Von Stroheim, will begin an engagement at the R. K. O. Sheridan Square. The picture, said to have an intensely dramatic plot and dialogue, is suggested by a story by Ben Hecht. A feature of the film is a chorus of 500 persons and an orchestra of 125 members. "The Great Gabbo" is the story in which Von Stroheim is a ventriloquist and a character in the play is "Little Otto," a dummy that sings, dances and make love.

LABOR DEFENSE ASSAILS A. F. OF L.

Police Freed in Auto Theft Case

Tender Inside The Depot

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

HE WAS Santa Claus for the Salvation Army, distributing clothing to the poor in the Army's Second avenue home. For several hours he handed out garments to the needy. Finished, he discovered he had given away his own overcoat, too.

Mr. Monty Oliver, the well-known elevator guider in the City-County Building, is convalescing from Christmas shock. Mr. Oliver was at the wheel of his ship on the day before Christmas when an attractive young woman approached, handed him a Christmas package and instructed him not to inspect its contents until he reached home. The young woman insisted on keeping her identity secret.

Mr. Oliver took precious care of the package on the homeward journey. Anxiously he undid the wrapping. And there in all its age stood a quart bottle whose label proudly boasted of the bonded stuff therein.

AN EXCELLENT Christmas gift? Yes! It was water.

Incidentally (no, by golly, not incidentally), in the 11 years that Monty has been guiding the elevator he has missed walking to work from his Woods Run home only four times. And a year or so ago Ed Sykes figured out that Monty had made 412,500 trips in his elevator, or maybe it was 12,356.

CHARLES KENNY, well-known publisher, has got together his own all-America football team by unusual method. He has taken eight teams selected by the foremost experts, graded each player five points for each team he made, and discovered that Joe Donchess, the Pitt end, was the one unanimous selection. The second highest was Montgomery, the Pitt guard, selected on seven teams.

Mr. Kenny, who publishes the Pitt football program, intended to reveal his findings in his program next football season, but Nelson Brown, the fiddler of Phi Gamma Delta, broke into the Kenny home on Christmas eve, stole the notes, $12 in cash and a gold watch valued at $23 and gave Sidewalks the notes. Mr. Brown is the father of three children.

Testimonial Dinner Given Sheriff Cain

Several hundred persons last night attended a testimonial banquet in honor of Sheriff-elect Robert S. Cain, in the William Penn Hotel. Veterans of the One Hundred and Eleventh Infantry, with which Cain served as a captain in the World War, presented him a gold sheriff's badge.

HOEY'S GARAGE CHARGES FAIL AT HEARING

Magistrate Rules Evidence Insufficient; Inspector And Attorneys in Clash

Two charges of conspiracy involving a police lieutenant, patrolman, city clerk and two garage owners, instigated two weeks ago following complaints of the existence of an automobile theft ring here, were dismissed today in Central Police Court by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones.

Explaining that there was insufficient evidence to hold the men for court, the magistrate released Lieut. William Lavery, of 255 Edmond street; Patrolman Martin Rappe, of South Mathilda street; Morris Wolf, garage owner, of 2414 Center avenue, and Morris Friend, garage owner, of 1911 Center avenue, on the first charge of conspiracy to cheat and defraud.

CAR'S USE ADMITTED

This involved, according to past testimony, the disappearance of an automobile valued at $2,000 from Ninth street. Owned by Everett Graham, of Vandergrift, it was testified that Lavery had been given permission to use the car after it had been towed to Friend's garage. He had used it on police and private business, the court was told.

On the second charge, which named Louis Swartz, 35, clerk in the city paymaster's office; Lavery and Wolf, it was testified that a car valued at $1,200, owned by Isaac Morshm, had been stolen and its numbers effaced, taken to Friend's garage, it had been sold at auction and later was found in Wolf's garage, according to the testimony.

During a clash between Inspector James N. Hoey, who brought the charges, and counsel for the men named in the information, in which the later blamed Hoey for bringing the men to a hearing because of personal feelings, Magistrate Jones objected, declaring it was Hoey's duty.

TROOPERS TESTIFY

The inspector then produced State Police Serg. E. C. Bergan and Private John Shea, of the Butler contingent, who testified that they had given Hoey a list of names of men purporting to form an auto theft ring here, and had asked an investigation. The list had been made following complaints that autos had been taken from parking spots, towed into garages and sold if the payments were not made.

The decision freeing the men followed several hearings and a postponement, with the final hearing today.

BOGUS CHECK PASSER SOUGHT

Police of the North Boroughs are seeking two men who passed worthless checks on business men and residents of the district recently.

One of the men, posing as a prospective tenant, presented checks of from $40 to $50 to several Avalon residents ostensibly for two weeks' advance room rent, receiving around $20 in change. The checks proved spurious. Bellevue merchants complained that they had accepted checks from a supposed laborer in payment for purchases and later found them worthless.

Truck Hits Pole, Driver Injured

George Shotting, 21, of McClure avenue, Homestead, was injured today when the truck he was driving in Talbot avenue near Fourth street, Braddock, skidded and struck a pole. Braddock police took him to the Braddock General Hospital, where it was said he is suffering from probable concussion of the brain.

Store Heads Honor Guests at Dinner

Department heads in charge of the seventh floor sales at Kaufmann's Department Store were guests of honor at a dinner and dance held in Webster Hall last night. The affair was staged under the auspices of Kaufmann's Seventh Floor Tattlers, an employes' organization of the store

Hoover Gives Toys To Ortiz Rubios

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The Ortiz Rubio children have pleasing mementos of their visit. The daughter and two sons of Mexico's president-elect as well as those of Ambassador Tellez, received glass toys from President Hoover's own hands.

TREASURY FEES IN COUNTY $86,055

Refund to Department Exceeds by $10,301 That Of Any Previous Year

S. J. Topley, clerk of courts, in his annual report, announced today that $10,301 more than has ever been returned before, will be refunded to the county treasurer this year.

Fees taken in in the office total $86,055, according to the report. Of this amount, $51,353 has been paid out in salaries and $34,700 will be returned to the county treasurer.

Last year's fees totaled $72,719, while the salary expenditure was $48,317. The return to the treasurer amounted to $24,399.

Topley said the increase in this year's return was due to the work of Judges James B. Drew and Harry H. Rowand, who disposed of two years' accumulation of old cases. More cases were handled through the office because of the drive of the two judges, Topley said.

PLAN TEACHER'S MEMORIAL

The Parent-Teachers' Association of the Morningside school has decided to erect in the school a memorial in honor of Miss Eulalia A. Greves, former principal of the school, who died last September.

The figure is of bronze and will be mounted on a pedestal of white marble. The memorial committee includes: Walter C. Klingensmith, Walter W. Haller, Mrs. Paul V. Kline, Mrs. Walter R. Toerge, Miss Stell. Burgo, Miss Inez Purcell and Mrs. Anna B. O'Brien.

Mayor-Elect Names Two City Officials

UHRICHSVILLE, O., Dec. 30.—Appointment of Rollo Davis as safety director and William Trusnell as service director has been announced by Mayor-elect J. W. Lytle.

Hitch Hiker Robs Salesman Of Auto

Fred Rizih, of 185 Brahm street, a salesman, was robbed of his auto today by a man he had given a ride, according to his report to Harrisburg authorities.

Rizih left here early today and met the man on the road. He told the man he was going to Harrisburg, and when they arrived there, Rizih went into the Bureau of Auto Registration to get his 1930 plates.

He returned to find that his car and the man had disappeared, he told police.

An hour later the car was found in another section of Harrisburg, abandoned.

LOCOMOTIVE TENDER IMBEDDED IN P. & L. E. DEPOT AT McKEES ROCKS AFTER ENGINE BACKED IN, INJURING NONE

ENGINE WRECKS P. & L. E. DEPOT

When a yard engine in the McKees Rocks yards of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad got beyond the control of a yard engineer, who was placing it on a siding early today, it ran into the three-story brick building that houses the P. & L. E. station there.

The tender of the engine came to a stop inside the building, damaging the wall and the baggage room. The engine was uncoupled and removed, but workmen spent hours removing the tender.

No one was injured.

The tender was lodged directly beneath the CH signal tower, in which are located all of the switch control apparatus for the McKees Rocks district. Workmen had to jack up the structure before removing the tender. Damage was said to be in excess of $1,000.

If the tender had penetrated the building six inches further it would have destroyed the wire system controling the switching apparatus, it was said.

Bellevue Pastor Refuses Mich. Call

The Rev. Raymond B. Drukker, pastor of the Forest Avenue United Presbyterian Church, Bellevue, has declined a call to the Trinity Reformed Church, Grand Rapids, Mich., according to his announcement to members of his congregation.

Vet of Civil War 104, Pioneer Of West, Dies

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Moses J. Reeves, veteran of the Civil War, is dead here at the age of 104 years.

The former Union soldier was born in Marion County, Me., March 10, 1825, but had resided in Utah since 1865, when he brought the first load of coke stoves from Fort Kearney, Neb., to this state by ox team.

Reeves in an interview before his death said he had voted a straight Republican ticket since the election of Lincoln, with the exception of one ballot he cast for William Jennings Bryan.

PLAN TO WATCH OUT YEAR

Watch night services will be held tomorrow night, New Year's eve, in several North Boroughs churches. The Bellevue Methodist Protestant Church will hold services beginning at 10:45 p. m. In the West View Presbyterian Church special services will be held from 9 p. m. until midnight. In the Trinity Lutheran Church, Avalon, the Unity Bible Class will present motion pictures at 9 p. m., to be followed by a candle light service and a church service at midnight.

BOARD TO ELECT AT WEST VIEW

Officers will be elected and a report on the recent membership drive presented at the monthly meeting of the West View Board of Trade tonight in No. 3 engine house, Perry highway.

Five directors will be chosen and they together with directors who are serving will select the list of officers for 1930.

Those nominated for directors are Edward C. Werner, Henry Kind, J. N. Myers, H. N. Hennon, J. L. Goldbach, George Schuler, John Loesch, Edward Schuman, Harry J. Wagner, Jr., Harry C. Galbraith, A. E. Jones, Albert Bingel, Ralph Phelleps, Albert W Herdt, Malcolm MacDonald and F. F. Thoke.

Brentwood Club Plans Anniversary

An anniversary party will mark the meeting Thursday of the Brentwood Civic Club. The club had its inception 15 years ago, Mrs. Daniel Beech being its first president. She later became honorary president, and if her health permits, will be the leader Thursday night. The hostesses include: Bessie Cottrell, Mrs. Marshall Golden, Mrs. E. B. Gisbert, Mrs. H. Kurtz, Bertha Landefeld, Mrs. Thomas McGovern and Mrs. F. H. Beisel.

Bethel Firemen Ordered to Vacate

The Bethel Volunteer Firemen's Association has received notice to vacate within 90 days their present headquarters on ground facing Mesta street near Library road. Differences arising from the recent election are ascribed by the firemen as prompting the action of the owner of the land on which their building is situated.

Burned Putting Oil On Fire, Woman Dies

Burns suffered in her home two weeks ago caused the death of Mrs. Julia Machala, 51, of Glassmere, yesterday, a report at the coroner's office states. The woman was burned when she attempted to hasten a fire in a coal stove by pouring oil on the fuel. The woman died in the Allegheny Valley Hospital at Tarentum yesterday.

CHURCH READY FOR DRIVE

Campaign plans were completed today by the World Service Co-operative Staff for raising a $10,000,000 benevolent and missionary fund of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Members completed a three-day session at the Fort Pitt Hotel. During the meetings, representatives of the board of bishops, editors of church papers, and various missionary and benevolent boards met with the staff.

The fund sought is the largest ever asked by the church for this division of its works. The amount was decided upon last October. A special meeting will be held in Chicago next month, while a general staff gathering will be called here in February to review early results of the campaign. Among members attending the session here were the Rev. Dr. Ralph A. Ward, of Chicago, executive secretary, World Service Commission, and the Rev. Dr. Ralph E. Diffendorfer, New York City, secretary, Board of Foreign Missions.

ARREST POSTAL THIEF SUSPECT

J. Lloyd Kerr, 27, was under arrest in Waynesburg, Pa., today after being traced from Seminole, Okla., for the theft of $1,200 in checks from the Oklahoma postoffice.

Government authorities reported that Kerr had stolen the checks from the private mail box of the Hicks-Hillis Rig Building Company, by which he was employed. They reported that he had been traced to Waynesburg through relatives.

Kerr was to be brought to Pittsburgh today for hearing before the United States Commissioner. Postal authorities said he had spent $700 of the money and destroyed checks worth $400.

Mother Finds Baby Strangled by Clothes

Going to the cot of her six weeks old son, Leonard, Mrs. Delores Markel, of 757 Vine street, Versailles Borough, yesterday, found the child strangled in the bed clothes, according to a report to the coroner.

AIDING COAL OPERATORS —DUNNE

Speaker at Convention Here Charges Union Helps In 'Breaking' Strikes

The American Federation of Labor is affiliated with the state and the coal barons of Illinois against the workers' unions, and is using gunmen and hangers-on to break the coal strikes there, William Dunne, of New York, told the convention of the International Labor Defense in Labor Lyceum today.

Dunne, of the Trade Union League, advocated the establishment of "class struggle unions and revolutionary trade unions in place of the peace-and-good-will unions of the A. F. of L."

250 DELEGATES

His was one of the addresses of the morning conference attended by more than 250 delegates from all parts of the nation.

Preceding Dunne was A. Jakira, of New York, secretary of the organizing branch of the Defence. He told of the stimulation of textile strikes in the South, especially in North Carolina, of the street car strike in New Orleans, and of the inclusion of the Negro in the labor movement.

"This," he remarked, referring to the Negro delegates, "will be a step towards halting the tactics of the capitalist in pitting Negro worker against white worker, to the disadvantage of both."

STRIKE LEADERS HERE

Robert Dunne, of the American Civil Liberties Union and the Labor Research Bureau, was chairman at the morning meeting.

Included among the delegates were four of the seven organizers of the Gastonia strike, now under sentences ranging from five to 20 years for conspiracy to commit second degree murder.

The convention opened yesterday, following which the delegates marched to the Monongahela House, Smithfield and Water streets. The management called for police protection when they protested the refusal of the hotel management to register a Negro delegate there. A meeting in the lobby of the hotel was addressed by J. Louis Engdahl, secretary of the Defense, and Robert Minor, editor of the Daily Worker.

COUPLE WED 20 YEARS DINED

Friends and associates honored Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Ertle, of 708 Sheridan avenue, East End, Saturday night in observance of their twentieth wedding anniversary at a dinner-dance in Webster Hall.

Members of the house furnishing department of Kaufmann's staged a program which included motion pictures and vocal offerings. A second honor was bestowed during the evening when Hyman Spector, who is resigning after 10 years of service to open a law office, was presented a wrist watch. Solo numbers were given by Miss Alice Davis, Mrs. Esther Edmundson Mohr and Louis Schmidt.

Will Rogers Says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 30.

I WISH Mr. Hoover would say "Senators I am sorry, terribly sorry, that I havent the time personally to go out and knock the glasses from everyone's hand that is about to disobey our constitution, and will you please believe me, when I say that I don't purposely appoint corrupt men.

"Now as it seems from your vast observations, you Senators are more familiar with the drinking in this country than anyone I know of. I hereby and hereon appoint you, the United States Senate as the pro-prohibition enforcement arm of our government, with Mr. Borah from the dry state of Idaho as chairman, and each Senator to be personally responsible for their state.

"Don't say you havent time. If you have had time to see all this, you have had time to enforce it, and don't say I cant spare you from other work, I gladly can. What appointments could b more honest than these?

"Yours . bert Hoover on advice of consul."

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: Should men wear more colors and a greater variety of styles or should the "brighter feathers" be reserved for women?

AGNES NORDICK, North Side, waitress: I don't think men should go in for colors in their dress. Colors should be reserved for women. I don't like loud suits. They are not becoming to anybody. I like grays and dark blues. Light colors don't look nice, at all.

Agnes Nordick

CHARLES HARRIS, Oakland, manager: Why shouldn't a man have as much right to look up-to-date as a woman has? A man in drab clothes lacks snap. Often men's wives are to blame for their husband's dark clothes. When I see a man in drab clothes I think he is henpecked.

Charles Harris

JOSEPHINE RUZYCKI, Hazelwood: Men should go in for colors. They are the ones who make the remarks about what women wear, so they should wear some colors themselves. They ought to wear whatever suits them best, and stop being slaves to fashion. I don't like feathers in hats. It looks as if they had skinned somebody.

Josephine Ruzycki

BEN SELIGSON, merchant, Squirrel Hill: A stout man should wear a dark suit and a thin man a light one. Colors should prevail in all suits. A variety of style and colors is really necessary to the well dressed man. I believe he should have at least five suits.

Ben Seligson

GERMAINE EICHLER, West Etna, waitress: I think it would be nice if men did wear more colors. I don't like to see the same colors all the time. I like browns, dark blues and greys. They should wear what becomes them most.

Germaine Eichler

STANFORD EHLER, Wexford, salesman: From a business standpoint it is, of course, desirable to have a great variety of styles. But even looking at it from the artistic viewpoint, I believe it is desirable. Clothing styles are like styles in automobiles, what is all right one year wouldn't do another year. I'm for brighter colors, too.

Helen Frick Seeking Old Pittsburgh Paintings

Miss Helen C. Frick, daughter of Henry Clay Frick, turned to Pittsburgh today in her search for early American portraits. She requested that Pittsburghers possessing portraits painted before 1850, of which they will permit photographs to be taken for the Frick Art Reference Library in New York, communicate with her. Her postoffice address is Box 109, Pittsburgh.

The Frick Library, founded by Miss Frick nine years ago, has accumulated many photographs of old American portraits in the older American cities of the East—Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, Annapolis, Richmond, Charleston and New York. It is hoped Pittsburgh also will be productive.

The library has a collection of more than 130,000 paintings, drawings and illuminated miniatures and also about 30,000 books relating to these subjects. It is a haven not only for those who wish to study the history of painting but also for those interested in the Colonial history of the United States.

Eddie Cantor Rises to Say:

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 30.

MAY I offer some suggestions for New Year's Eve?

In making your reservations at hotels, restaurants and night clubs don't forget to make a reservation at a nearby hospital.

It's hard to get in at the last minute.

A good way to test your liquor is to bring a relative along for whom you don't care a bit. Let him take the first drink, wait 10 minutes and start singing, "Oh, Say Can You See?"

If he says "yes," you may finish the rest of the bottle.

Drinking is going to be expensive this year. They've raised the prices of ginger ale and white rock.

If you are the kind who passes out quickly be sure and have your name and address on a tag pinned to your coat.

Thousands of people are still missing from last New Year's Eve.

CORDOVA CLUB 10 YEARS OLD

By PENELOPE REDD.

The Cordova Club, the only organization of women painters in this community, has met regularly for the last 10 years every Thursday during the winter season. These women grouped for the purpose of working from a model display as great a versatility in their work as in their professions. They draw in charcoal and pastel, they paint in water colors and in oils, or they model in clay. As individuals they are housewives, teachers, lecturers, weavers, society women and dancers.

Penelope Redd

Of the original group which first started to meet at the studio of the late Lillian Henius on Cordova road, which indicates the derivation of the club's name, half of the number are still residents of Pittsburgh and active members. They now meet at the studio of Anna Belle Craig in the "Thump and Daub House" on Walnut street. Others of the charter members are Eleanor Simms Black, Florence Newcomer, Helen T. Whitmer and Sara C. Wilson. Additional members who have replaced the original ones are Helen A. Bennett, Alice Preston Clapp, Lidie Gray, Margaret Edmonds Jensen, Bertha Gill Johnston, Cora Lee, Rachel McClelland Sutton and Henrietta F. Williams.

The Cordova Club has held exhibitions of paintings as a club in various local galleries. They plan a strong representation in the coming Associated Artists' annual exhibition in which they are all well known exhibitors.

New Roundhouse Ready for Service

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 20.—The Baltimore and Ohio railroad roundhouse, constructed to replace one destroyed by fire in February, 1928, will be ready for use by Wednesday. Mechanics have heretofore been obliged to do their work in the open with much inconvenience during cold weather.

Thieves Haul Safe Away, Loot, $10

Thieves who worked for several hours carting away the heavy safe from the American Oil and Gas service station on the Glassport-Elizabeth road, were poorly paid for their labor. According to a report made yesterday to county detectives, the safe held but $10 and a few checks. The robbery occurred early yesterday morning.

2 Men Rob Taxicab Driver on North Side

Two men who engaged Eugene Pfeil, of Crafton, a taxicab driver, on the North Side, held him up at Ridge avenue and Heinz street late last night and robbed him of $12.

McKeesport Man Killed in Odd Accident

Colbert Anderson, 67, of 2417 Walnut street, McKeesport, died yesterday in McKeesport as a result of a severed artery in his wrist, suffered when he fell out of bed and struck his arm on a water-glass, Friday night. Members of his family found him unconscious from loss of blood and sent him to the hospital.

TWO MEN ROB RESTAURANT

Two armed men who entered the Splendid Restaurant, at 4923 Penn avenue, at 6 a. m. today and asked for coffee, held up Mike Markis, night manager, and rifled the cash register of $50.

Markis told police that when he turned to set the coffee before the patrons one of them covered him with a revolver while the other emptied the register. Both then walked out of the place and disappeared up Forty-ninth street. Markis was unable to furnish a complete description of the men.

PITTSBURGHER HEADS FRAT

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Dec. 30.—Officers were elected by delegates to the national convention of the Phi Lambda Theta, national Greek letter fraternity, which was in session here. Clifford Jenkins, of Pittsburgh, was elected president. Other officers were: K. L. Noll, of Jersey Shore, Pa., vice president; William Hench, of Syracuse, N. Y., historian; R. M. Meredith, of Pittsburgh, secretary treasurer; Oscar G. Enstrom, of Waynesburg, editor of the annual year book, and the Rev. H. J. Rode, of Bucknell University, national chaplain.

Delegates were present from six chapters of Phi Lambda Theta, which is the youngest national fraternity in the country, having been organized six years ago at Pennsylvania State College. Chapters represented were Penn State, Bucknell, Susquehanna, Kansas Agricultural College and Waynesburg.

Sled Victim

LOUIS HAHNER

Hahner, 14, killed when his sled crashed into the side of an automobile at the foot of Kelly's Hill, Spring Garden road, Reserve Township.

THIRD BOY HURT WHEN HURLED UNDER CAR

Five Meet Injuries in Week-end Motor Mishaps; Ohio Girl Among Victims

Coasting accidents caused the death of two boys and injury to another yesterday. Five other persons were injured in automobile accidents.

Henry Golob, 19, of Spring Garden road, Reserve Township, and Louis Hahner, 14, of 1322 Lowrie street, North Side, were injured fatally when their sled crashed into the side of an automobile at the foot of Kelly's Hill, Spring Garden road. They were wedged under the car, which had to be lifted before they could be released.

Passing automobile drivers took them to Allegheny General Hospital, where they were pronounced dead.

COASTS UNDER AUTO

Morgue officials were told that the driver of the automobile saw the sled speeding down the hill and drew to one side of the road to allow it to pass. Golob attempted to change the course of the sled to avoid collision with the automobile, but was unsuccessful.

Coasting under an automobile going in the same direction on Fifth street, Clairton, Nick Sedor, 8, of Miller avenue, Clairton, suffered injuries to his head last night.

Margaret Yetter, 16, and her brother, 14, of 310 Denniston avenue, were injured at Penn avenue and Beechwood boulevard yesterday when two automobiles collided, throwing one of the machines upon the sidewalk where the children were standing. The cars were driven by Jack Foland, of 753 Penn avenue, Wilkinsburg, and Miss Lena Robbins, of 203 Market street, police said.

2 HURT AS CAR SKIDS

Robert Lawrence, 21, of 811 Phineas street, and Mike Genesar, 46, of 810 Butler street, Etna, were injured seriously last night when their automobile skidded and overturned on East Ohio street, near the Thirtieth Street Bridge. Andrew Geil, 25, of Glenshaw, driver of the automobile, was arrested.

Joseph Howell, 29, of 413 Parklow avenue, was struck by an automobile at Saw Mill Run boulevard and McKinley Park road. Police arrested Dr. R. J. Fritz, of 242 Rochelle street, alleged driver.

Margaret Crum, 15, of Bellaire, O., and Mary Brown, 16, of Orchard lane, Edgeworth, confined in Valley Hospital, Sewickley, as a result of being struck by an automobile on Beaver road, Edgeworth, Saturday, were out of danger today, hospital attaches said.

HUSBAND KILLS WIFE, SELF

Discharging a 12-gauge shotgun at short range, Lonnie Williams, 31, of 13 Erie street, Glassport, early today shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Minnie Williams, 30; probably fatally wounded Robert Gilmore, 50, a boarder, and then killed himself, according to Glassport police. The killing took place in the Williams' home. The victims were Negroes.

Williams and his wife were involved in an argument in their bedroom when Gilmore first heard the shotgun discharged. A short time later Williams entered Gilmore's bedroom and, police say, fired point blank at the boarder as he lay in bed. Williams then returned to his bedroom and turned the gun on himself, the discharge piercing his heart, the police investigation indicated.

Church Banquet Hall Dedicated

Eight hundred persons yesterday attended the dedication of the $35,000 auditorium and banquet hall of the SS. Peter and Paul Ukranian Greek Catholic Church at 220 Jane street. Speakers were the Rev. Joseph A. Zuk, pastor; Arthur W. Schreiber, of the Carnegie Bank; J. C. Scherriff, Patrick McDermott, and Mrs. Byron King, Jr. A banquet last night was attended by about 500.

Bemas Club Will Hold Card Party

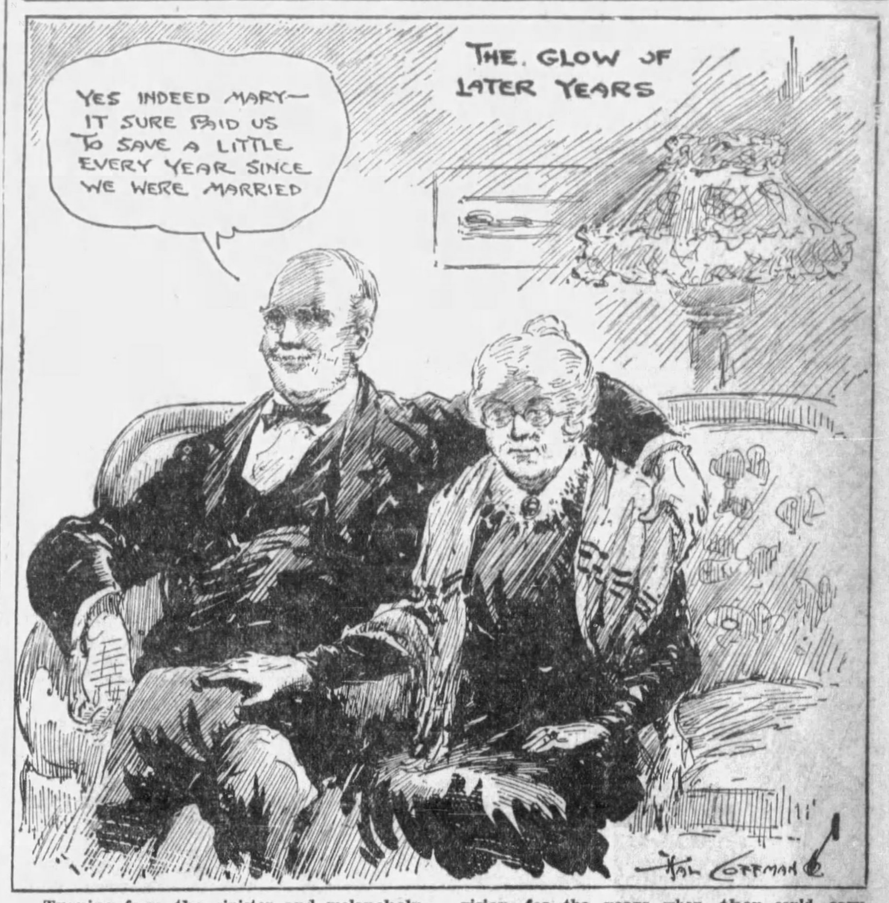
THINKING IT OVER :-: By Hal Coffman



Turning from the sinister and melancholy, Mr. Coffman offers you today an idyllic little drawing which he rightly calls "The Glow of Later Years." You will glow in sympathy with it, no doubt. You share the satisfaction of this serene old couple who have weathered life's storms and are now secure in their own Snug Harbor.

They have practiced the old-fashioned virtue of THRIFT, putting aside a little every year and now contentedly enjoying the fruits of their wise savings.

A very different scene, this, from the experience of many old couples who did not make provision for the years when they could earn nothing.

You, who perhaps are young, married, earning a living, but NOT SAVING, will be especially interested in this picture.

It shows you vividly that the early years are the ones in which to think of the future and provide for it.

Only then can you be sure of the sunset glow of old age, like that in which this old couple bask contentedly.

Sunset glow, you agree, is much pleasanter than the storms that wreck so many as they near the end of life's voyage.

POPULATION SET AT 119,306,000

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The population of continental United States increased 14,299,000 in the 10 years ended July 1, 1928, to 119,306,000, the National Bureau of Economic Research has announced.

These figures were released in advance from a copyrighted statement issued by the bureau and are embodied in a 500-page report, "the national income and its purchasing powers," to be published in the next few days.

The bureau compiled its data by deducting from the last official census figures the number of death registrations and adding the known births and immigration.

About 61 per cent of the population—72,726,000 persons—were supported by the remaining 46,580,000, or 39 per cent, the bureau found. This proportion, the report said, is not affected appreciably by the number of persons whose incomes are derived from rentals, dividends and interest on investments, for the percentage of such persons is small.

Boy Dies After Operation Cures Crime Complex

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Dec. 30.—Arthur Emery, 16, son of Mike Emery, whose criminal complex was relieved by two mastoid operations at Cleveland hospitals less than a year ago, died yesterday at Union Hospital, Dover, from the effects of a brain abscess.

The effects of a blow inflicted by a snowball Christmas night may have been a contributing factor in his death.

Arthur received a suspended sentence of two years to the National Military School at Washington from Federal Judge Paul Jones at Cleveland last January for rifling a mail box in the New Philadelphia Postoffice on September 10, 1928. Judge Jones was influenced by the appeal of Miss Irene Nungesser, assistant district attorney, following the first operation. The lad's unrest was changed into a bent for books and study.

The lad underwent his first operation last January 2 at the city prison hospital, Cleveland, and his second last March at St. Vincent's Hospital.

PURSE THIEVES ROB 8 WOMEN

A police dragnet was spread today for purse snatchers who robbed eight women, three in the South Hills, four in East Liberty and one on the North Side Saturday night.

Four boys traveling in an automobile robbed Mrs. J. Edwards, of 724 Lillian street; Mrs. M. Zeltzheiser, of 2411 Brownsville avenue, and Mrs. Anna Eicker, of their purses within an hour in the South Hills section, police were informed. The loot comprised $18.

In East Liberty, a Negro robbed Mrs. Catherine Cloates, of 6741 Reynolds street; Mrs. Henry Rose, of 633 Edmond street; Mrs. Ella Rhinehart, of 121 Morewood avenue, and Margaret Sawers, of 4715 Wallingford street, according to police. The robberies netted $64. Another Negro snatched the purse of Miss Lora Menges, of 722 Ridge avenue, while she was walking near her home. The bag contained $3.

The theft of a diamond ring valued at $350 was reported from the home of Mrs. Betty Sharkey, of 5936 Hamilton avenue.

Entering the second floor apartment of Miss Florence Lockhard, at 5503 Walnut street, thieves stole a radio set valued at $75, Miss Lockhard informed police.

Robbers visited the Garvin lunch room, at 927 Liberty avenue, emptied the cash register of $32.81 and carried off several boxes of cigars.

W. G. Yeager, of 930 Heberton avenue, reported to police early today that his home had been entered and four rings valued at $1,550 stolen.

Thieves forced a rear window in the home of Dr. L. K. Garis, 6100 Wellesley avenue, and stole two children's banks containing $125, a camera and two revolvers.

Epworth League Sponsors Services

The Epworth League of the Homewood Avenue Methodist Church will have charge of the Watch Night services to be held in the church tomorrow night. From 8:30 until 11:30 there will be a program and social hour. From 11:30 until 12 there will be prayer service in charge of the pastor.

Pastor Accepts Knoxville Call

KLINE, WALSH PAY TRIBUTE TO HERO

Fellow Officers Form Honor Guard at Services for Martyr to Call of Duty

James E. Hughes, Negro plainclothesman, who was shot in a gun-battle with three Negro bandits in Center avenue Friday night, was hailed a hero at funeral services in the Ebenezer Baptist Church yesterday. Mayor Charles H. Kline, and Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh were among 3,000 attending the services.

The Rev. T. J. King pastor of the church, officiated, assisted by the Rev. E. T. Brown, of Chatham, Va.; the Rev. Lemuel Googins, pastor of the Bethel Methodist Episcopal Church, and the Rev. E. W. Starks, pastor of the Monumental Baptist Church.

HONOR GUARD AT HOME

Negro policemen who worked with the veteran officer acted as pallbearers, and a police escort of 36 men under Lieuts. David Fitzsimmons and James Hoban formed the guard of honor in front of Hughes' home, while the body was placed in the funeral coach. The body lay in state in the church until 5:30 p. m., when the casket was placed on a train and sent to Lynchburg, Va., where Hughes' parents reside. Services will be held there, and the burial will take place tomorrow.

Hughes was shot while investigating a holdup at the grocery and meat market of Harry Langer, 10 Emmett street. He found the robbers a short distance away. He advanced with his gun drawn, and while the three bandits held their hands above their heads in surrender, one of them backed behind a pole, drew his gun and fired. The others joined in the shooting, and Hughes fell. He raised himself on his elbows and fired at the fleeing bandits. It is believed that at least one of them was hit.

23 YEARS IN SERVICE

Hughes had been in police service 23 years. A petition from Hill residents for his promotion to a lieutenancy, presented to Mayor Kline Saturday, was circulated shortly before his death and may result in honorary promotion now. It cites his years of service and describes him as "a police officer deserving of promotion by reason of his unblemished reputation, excellent character and efficient service, a true representative of his race, of whom we are justly proud."

THEATER FOLK PLAN 'VILLAGE'

For those who play at the arts, a Pittsburgh by-way is to offer solace, and stimulation.

Members of The Little Theater of Pittsburgh movement have leased seven old buildings on Watson street, just off the downtown business section. Partitions are going up as inside walls go down; paint is freshening the walls and the cellar is being done over so that it will become a stage and tiny auditorium.

Among themselves, the movement folk are changing the street name to "Little Theater Lane." The shadows of the big buildings fall on it. And bigger plans await.

Writers, members of radio station staffs, musicians and painters are being organized by The Little Theater to lease three little low-slung cottages that form a row between Tunnel street and 707 Watson street. The idea is to round up the block into a miniature Greenwich Village, with long-haired and bespectled artists and poets lounging against the telephone poles of the neighborhood pursuing the Muse.

The Little Theater of Pittsburgh is developing the idea and sponsored the leasing. Across the street a floor of a five-story building will furnish a fairly large stage and auditorium for the plays of the organization. The greater part of the remodeling and refurnishing of the place will be done by those interested in the movement.

The establishment at 707 Watson street will be used for a headquarters. The stage in the cellar will be for rehearsing only. The first floor will be given over to offices, and the second to conference rooms. This is the first move in Pittsburgh to establish The Little Theater in a central spot. The expenses are being borne by the organization.

Callender Class To Hold Reception

The Callender Bible Class, Wilkinsburg, will hold a reception tomorrow night for members and friends in Malta Temple. The first part of the evening will be devoted to entertainment features with vocal solos by Miss Maud Cook and Miss Evelyn Williams, and readings by Louise Ferguson. Beginning at 11 o'clock, an old-fashioned Watch Night service will be held under the direction of the pastor, the Rev. Parke B. Kurtz.

Franklin Plans Its Charity Drive

FRANKLIN, Pa., Dec. 30.—Franklin's community chest is organizing for its campaign next spring, when efforts will be made to raise $40,000. The 1929 total was $36,250. Officers are to be elected January 21, when report of nominating committee will be received. A total of $7,857 remains to be paid on this year's pledges, Secretary Loren D. Schoppe reported.

TOWN HALL SITE FIGHT PRIMED

Form of action in protesting the proposed Oakland site for the new $6,000,000 town hall was to be decided today at a conference of the executive committee of the Allegheny County Town Hall Association. The site was recently recommended by the County Planning Commission.

Many members of the association intimated prior to the meeting that the county commissioners may be asked to hear arguments of those opposed to the Schenley Farms site, declaring it to be undesirable.

A downtown site, they explained, would be more convenient to citizens from all sections of the city, closer to railroad stations, important traffic arteries, hotels and business houses.

Rumors that a referendum might be sought failed to bring comment from members of the committee.

Jewish Fraternity Ends Convention

Two hundred members of the Phi Lambda Kappa, national Jewish medical fraternity, attended a banquet in Webster Hall last night, bringing to a close the three-day annual session of the organization. Baltimore was chosen for next year's convention.

Announcement was made that Dr. Jay Frank Schamberg, of Philadelphia, had been awarded the 1929 award of the society for being the American Jewish physician to make the greatest individual contribution to the progress of medicine during the year.

WATCHES HUNT FOR OWN BODY

Harry Betzler, whose wife lives at 207 Shiloh street, was held for further hearing by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Central Police Court yesterday after police and firemen testified he had given firemen at No. 1 Engine house a fictitious name Saturday and sent them to the Monongahela River to drag for his body.

"I'm Harry Kuntz," a fireman testified he told him. "My best friend, Harry Betzler, has just jumped into the river. Save him."

After police and firemen had dragged the river for a half-hour, Patrolman John Reese happened along, and when told Betzler had jumped into the river seemed surprised.

"This is Mr. Betzler," he told fellow-officers. "I've known him 10 years."

In court Betzler said he had been living apart from his wife for some time, and wanted to make her sorry by his suicide.

Rea Will Leaves $225,000 Estate To Relatives

An estate valued at $255,000 is disposed of in the will of W. H. Rea, of Squirrel Hill, which was filed for probate today. A trust fund was established for his widow, Mary Childs Rea.

After placing $30,000 in trust for Marion R. Hamilton, the residue was divided into tenths, with three-tenths willed to James C. Rea, a son; three-tenths placed in trust for Marjorie Rea Laughlin, a daughter, and the remaining four-tenths placed in trust for Marianne Rea Hamilton.

The son and the Peoples Pittsburgh Trust Company were named executors. A bequest of $1,000 was given the Pittsburgh Presbytery for mission purposes and one of $500 to the mission endowment fund of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church.

JAIL MOCHAM'S MOTHER

Mrs. Kate Stankowitz, 50, of Mellon plan, Wilmerding, mother of Steve Mocham, alias Jack Thompson, who is being sought by Wilmerding police for numerous robberies and jail-break, was arrested late Saturday by Constable Frank Smeltz and Capt. Moody Champ of the Wilmerding police, charged with receiving stolen goods. She was to get a hearing today before Justice of the Peace C. R. Shiring, of Wilmerding. Her arrest followed finding of a radio, a victrola and other articles in her home, which were identified as stolen goods, police said.

When questioned by police, Mrs. Stankowitz said that her son, Steve, had given her the articles as Christmas presents.

Mocham is wanted by Chief of Police J. B. Maguire, of Wilmerding. On the night of December 19, two armed men entered the Wilmerding lockup and locked Chief Maguire in a cellroom after releasing Steve, who was held prisoner in connection with robberies in the Turtle Creek Valley.

Middies Make Whoopee, 62 Face Discipline

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 30.—(INS.)—An investigation was under way today by the Naval Academy authorities into the alleged escapades during the holidays of some 60 midshipmen who were A. W. O. L.

At least the middies are said to be seriously involved, it was learned, although Capt. Charles P. Snyder, commandant of the battalion of midshipmen, would not discuss charges against the entire group. He admitted the investigation was ordered late Saturday and 60 middies and two names were added yesterday.

The two middies involved more seriously than the others were arrested in company with a young girl prominent in local society at 3 a. m. yesterday when returning from a dance at the Severn Country Club, six miles from here. States Policeman Albert E. Markley and other policemen declared the three were intoxicated.

The less serious charges against the majority were said to merely involve staying beyond the confines of the Academy after 10 p. m., at which time they are supposed to be safely tucked in bed.

Miss Pat

by ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER XLV.

OFF there, a hundred yards or so, the pit widened; the dark, towering walls opened. Pat ran toward this. She was conscious of murmuring thickly: "Run—hurry!" and of the child dragging.

Then she was looking in blank, throbbing dismay at the gigantic bluffs looming above her. Not an opening here; merely a curve where the canyon swung about; where it widened in a great walled circle. And these walls unbroken—impassable as iron.

Pat leaned against the brown, massive rock. When the child asked:

"Why did we run? Why did you pull me that way?" she stared in a wide, frozen desperation. How forlorn he seemed with the white suit a dirty brown-gray and his face smudged like a little chimney sweep's. He stood there, trailing a stick, the sun on his yellow hair and ordering in a winsome sing-song:

"Well, tell me, Pat, why did you run? Well, why don't you talk?"

She could have screamed—she could have pitched herself to the ground and sent out wild, sobbing imprecations against this outrageous betrayal. God had forsaken them. Let her take that mad leap; let her gloriously hope. To be trapped now—to lean here awaiting most terrible doom.

Once the two infuriated men reached the floor of the pit, it would be a mere matter of seconds. They would murder Pat—no doubt of it. Take Billy away—

Instinctively Pat drew the child to her. She said rapidly, frantically:

"Billy, they're coming down. We're going to hide . . . find a place and hide. Be quiet! If you say one word they'll find us. Remember when I whisper 'Hush!' not to even breathe!"

She turned glazed eyes to the cliffs. In the morning sun, the two figures crawling down the ledges, their hands dug into the rocks, appeared like huge black spiders. They were up there at the rim. They seemed almost suspended in space.

"They can't make it! They'll never make it! A goat couldn't find foothold there. They'll be the whole day—a whole life, and they can't reach us!"

Her lips were parched. She stood taut, like a thing of steel, her eyes flashing their burning terror to mind and heart. Coming down a little—below the rim now—cautiously, slowly. That must be Ace leading. Ace who had climbed the Matterhorn, who had scaled McKinley, and who had gone over these ridges with the assurance of a wildcat, scouting through the blind, labyrinthian gorges. And finding the road out—the wagon road out!

Ace would dare it; would essay and conquer the plunging 3,000-foot drop!

She marked him now, standing with his back to a great, rose-colored, utterly precipitous bluff. He appeared glued to it. For a moment his figure stood alone—then the other, with his shoulders jammed to the rock, came edging to his side. Whole minutes they seemed not to move.

"Frightened—no further ledges down! Goes off there—obliquely!" thought Pat, recalling the forbidding aspect of the chasm, as it cut sharply inward from the overhanging rock. God, how fearsome it had seemed, even glancing downward from a safe footing. Even clinging to the great stone shaft, her blood had surged back in dizzying warmth.

And the two men up there seemed sculptured in black, motionless panic.

But now they were moving. They were pressed like shadows against the wall—gliding on—down.

A moment and she didn't see them—two minutes—three. She glanced, stricken, at her watch. Five minutes—ten. The fear of unknown, appalling things tramped over her.

But she told herself:

"They've fallen—perhaps they've dropped from the other side. No one has EVER scaled these walls. They COULDN'T!"

She remembered pictures she'd seen of the Grand Canyon . . . those pictures taken by the Carr brothers. Explorers—the most intrepid explorers, had sought to conquer the mad Colorado and its chasm. The rain-washed skulls of these men were shown in the pictures. Only a dozen skeletons bleaching on the sands told of their vain, hopeless mission.

This would be their fate! With hot, wet eyes Pat found herself praying—praying death to the two men now grappling with the mountain.

"Where are they, Pat?"

"Gone."

"They won't find us?"

"I hope not."

"Well—don't let them. You said you'd hide. Why don't we, then?"

She was riveted to the spot, her eyes unable to leave the rose-colored bluff — beautiful tower of flame—below which the trailers had dropped.

Fifteen minutes — twenty—three-quarters of an hour. Ah—God is good—

The next instant Pat gave a cry. She took the little boy's frightened hand and went darting in a blind frenzy now this way—now that.

The men had reappeared. They were there, a thousand feet below the painted rocks. They were coming surely—swiftly. Now dropping from ledge to cliff now; crouching under the protruding shelf.

And now running—

Pat closed her eyes. She tried to shut out the mad clamor of pulses in her ears; tried to keep back those little insane cries that came whimpering to her lips:

"They'll make it—they'll get there—Oh mother!"

She ignored the boy except to hold bitterly to his hand—drag him, protesting, full of frightened inquiry, after her. Oh, somewhere she could hide. Somewhere there'd be a cave like that one where they'd slept. In the pictures she'd seen such caves. The canyons were full of them.

She went scouring along the walls, as though her hands would hollow out some safe retreat. And she kept glancing back to the precipice.

They saw her. They were far down now. And as she looked, they looked back. They stood on a jutty. The tall one—oh, that murderous Slim — took glasses from his pocket . . . focused them. Heaven nor hell would not defeat him now.

She was almost finished: almost liquid with terror when she found it. She picked the child up in her arms and kissed him wildly. Her tears rained on his face. She whispered crazily:

"I knew it! I knew he would. Oh, father! Oh, darling—"

And she went running into the mouth of the cave. It was large—much larger than the one where they'd slept last night.

With a trembling caution and never for a moment releasing her little comrade's grasp, Pat advanced.

She laughed hysterically. They'd not find her here! They'd not uncover this heaven-sent abode. Her Father had directed her. She'd called on Richard: had sent her spirit in a thundering appeal to that one who wouldn't fail: who'd never failed. He led her here!

Now Pat turned her flash. Inch by inch she went on. The cave opened out. The light showed a long gallery. Already she could stand upright.

"I'm afraid," Billy whispered.

"No—we're robbers, and this is our cave. We'll find heaps of gold. You're not afraid!"

But a sick apprehension crept up and nestled in her mind. What if the boy should cry out—

"Listen, Billy—you don't want that terrible fellow to find us. You're not afraid. You won't say one word. See—I hold your hand—hold it tight. Nothing can hurt you. But if you speak . . . if you make any noise, they'll find us . . . They'll hurt us. . . . Will you be quiet?"

"Gonna jump again, Pat?"

"No—just be as still."

"Like a little mouse?"

"But you mustn't even squeal—not one little tiny squeal."

His eyes in the flashlight were enormous—dark, solemn, full of holy trust. He nodded. He said manfully:

"I know how to be a robber. I do, all right. Like this—"

He went on tip-toe, his finger to his lips saying:

"Hush—hush—"

Pat talked to herself. She warned hotly:

"Not too far. Mustn't go in too far—get lost. But far enough—crouch behind something."

With elaborate caution she now pressed on, training the light on floor, sides, ceiling.

They went down a decline. Beyond this the light showed a lofty vault.

But here, almost at Pat's feet, the ground went down—sheer, abrupt.

She got down on her knees, turning the flash all about.

"Not that way . . . dare not go that way." Just here, too, was an arch—was a turn and a gallery running parallel with the one she had entered.

Hide here—rest here.

Half an hour—two hours—telling the child stories—giving the can of tuna to finish.

She wondered if she dare go back now toward the entrance—Had they reached the canyon floor?

She was about to start back—about to creep along that turn, when sickenly, overpowering, she heard a voice—heard a step . . . Slim shouting—

"Here it is! Damn the——she went in here!"

FAY-KING

By FAY KING

JUNE is usually looked upon as the month of romance. But the girl who has set her heart upon capturing a hard-boiled bachelor knows that December is the month of romance for her!

Hard-boiled bachelors who pride themselves upon their many escapes from romantic ladies must be caught in a weak moment.

Their only weak moment is when they begin to feel sorry for themselves—which is very seldom.

In fact, about the only time is between Thanksgiving and New Year, when home life is at its best and club life at its worst.

The wise girl emphasizes this fact and makes him even sorrier by leading him to scenes of domestic happiness and holiday joy.

If he does not weaken then he never will!

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

Madge Tells Dicky of Edith's Subtle Threat

"OF course, we both know Ede would never have mentioned it."

I was furious at Dicky's complacent tone as he added his defense of Edith to his quick apology for the insulting question he had put to me. On the instant my qualms against bringing in Edith vanished, and I spoke quickly lest they should reappear and hamper me.

"I'm sorry, but I don't know that," I said. "And—you need not have apologized for your question. I should not have told you of this incident except for Edith's witnessing it. It was too trivial to risk your possible displeasure — and — misunderstanding. But she gave me no alternative when I refused her proposal to have Mr. Veritzen replace that ten-cent rose bowl with a costly one."

Dicky's face was dark with anger when I had finished. But he was also bewildered.

"What the devil is all this farrago?" he shouted, and meticulously I retailed every word of my wordy encounter with Edith over the replacing of the rose bowl.

When I had finished I found myself trembling with resentment, not only against Edith for forcing me into such a situation, but also against myself for yielding to the impulse to retail her part in the affair to Dicky. It was a petty act, against all my standards, and my regret was as keen as was my fear that I was in for an explosive scene with Dicky. No doubt he would champion Edith, I told myself drearily, and braced myself to listen to his strictures with as much composure as I could command.

But I might have known that Dicky would do the unexpected thing.

"Well, I'll be—gridironed," he commented, and there was disgust as well as wrath in his tone. That's about as cheap a trick as I ever heard of. I'd say she meant it all as a joke—only—I've noticed lately that the old girl isn't averse to pulling something like that occasionally on her own account. She's quite the potential gold-digger. But this—why, confound her—what she handed you was polite blackmail—pull this grafting little trick as I plan it or I'll tell your husband that you've been holding hands with another man. But I have to slip it to you, old dear. You sure checkmated the lady in the only way possible. And I'll hand her a jolt the next time I——"

"Oh, but you mustn't," I said in a panic. "Don't you see now it's all on the plane of a jest."

"I get you," he returned promptly, "and we'll keep it that way unless Ede herself makes an ascension. If she does, let me know. I'll settle her. Now I must get back to the bridge game. Coming?"

"Not just yet," I told him, and, indeed, I wanted time to be alone with the pleasant and surprising assurance which had just come to me. He had championed me—me—not Edith—and whatever annoyance was his at the incident of the broken rose bowl was directed toward her, not me. Absurdly I hugged the knowledge, putting aside the query of why it meant so much to me, and was childishly gratified later in the evening when Dicky casually asked Noel to take Edith home instead of escorting her himself.

She went away laughing, but I guessed she was raging inside. I conjectured also that she would not rest until in some way she avenged the slight. But for the present, at least, she no longer counted in my scheme of things.

That comforting knowledge helped bolster my courage during the trying days which followed. There is nothing so nerve-racking as waiting for some threatened menace to materialize, and in our case was added the tension of nine highly-strung people thrown together under virtual quarantine. Dicky and Philip went to their offices daily, but the rest of us did not leave our apartments except to go to the roof for air and exercise.

Princess Olina did not come to me for the interview she had asked, and I did not remind her of it, for I was well content not to discuss with her the betrothal announcement of Mary and Prince Georges. But I lost no time in getting hold of Noel. With the aid of Lillian, who kept the other members of the international romantic quartet so engaged that they did not miss him, and of Harry who brought him to the roof, where I awaited him, I was able to talk to him at an early hour of the day following the announcement dinner. His first words when Mr. Underwood had left told me that I had done a wise thing.

"I am so glad to see you," he said. "My father is—has—"

He stopped and put his head in his hands. Patiently he had reached the end of his self-control.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Tuesday, December 31

THE curtain of the year rings down with astral equations which must be interpreted as of purely spiritual complexion. The workaday auguries are of negligible import, and if a note of warning may be sounded it is some slightly sinister conditions, calling for the utmost discretion and circumspection.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of peculiar or intriguing affairs, with some secret things coming to light, or some manner of subtle undermining, unless they are on guard with the utmost personal discretion and precaution. Be cautious in all writings and in dealings with secret bodies or corporations.

A child born on this day may be singularly equipped with talents and proclivities leaning toward the secret, subtle and "undercover," with leanings to stratagem and conspiracy rather than above-board methods. It may incline to the weird, occult and visionary.

The Ego-Centric Sex

"GOOD salesmanship" is the art of getting a man to want to buy a marriage-license and a platinum ring, when he only dropped in for a couple of kisses.

One of the strange but happy delusions, under which a woman

still labors, is that she can hold a man by TYING him to her.

No matter how threadbare a woman's love may have worn, a man never doubts that he can "patch it up, somehow," and make it stand a little more strain.

When a married man takes a little sentimental detour, he usually manages to leave a dotted line behind him, by which he may tiptoe back home again, when the gas gives out.

If you want to get along with the He-sex, never look too closely at the back of a small boy's neck after he's "washed" it, or at the logic of a man's alibis.

A man doesn't offer his heart to a woman, any more—he merely lends it to her, like a library book, for a week or so, with the date of return clearly understood.

It is "middle-age," when the love songs in musical comedies begin to seem a little longer, and the love-scenes between the dancing a little tiresome.

Don't Pick Mealtime to Nag or Admonish

APPETITE is an uncertain thing. In the average child the appetite is aroused by what we call "psychological factors," or it may be ruined by them.

DR COPELAND

Children are more emotional than grown-ups. They are easily influenced by small things, by their moods and "feelings." The delicious aroma of cooking will at once arouse the desire to eat, and just as suddenly some distressing occurrence will make the child refuse to eat.

The food he eats will not necessarily nourish the child unless it can be digested and assimilated by the body. If the child is all "upset" over something at mealtime, the digestive processes stop, and the food already eaten may do him more harm than good.

It is important that the circumstances under which the meal is taken should be pleasant, happy and cheerful. Some parents appear always to take the mealtime hour for correcting the manners and admonishing the child what to eat. This is a mistake. Firmness with the child is proper, of course.

Sometimes you may get the same results by simply taking his mind off himself by telling some pleasant story. You may do a lot by giving a happy talk about some person he is interested in, or what games are to be played. The important thing is to keep him in a happy frame of mind during the meal. It is well, too, to see to it that the hour before mealtime is a happy and relaxed one.

I know of one family in which the parents are persons of large affairs, as well as people of wisdom. No matter how busy they are, no social affair or business engagement is so important that it cannot be put aside for the hour with the children from 5 to 6. They invariably spend this time with the youngsters. It is a happy hour brimful with play and merry-making of some kind.

This practice will add years of good health for those children. It guarantees a happy frame of mind at mealtime and at bedtime. In all time to come they will think back upon this happy hour in the home circle.

Incidentally let us say a daily hour like this is good for the parents. It keeps them well and happy.

In order that your child may be properly nourished he must form good habits. What is just as essential he must form proper eating habits.

The foods should be eaten slowly enough to allow the digestive juices to do their work. Food "bolted" is worse than useless. How many children have this bad habit.

If children are not attentive to a parent's suggestion on this point, perhaps the family physician can take a hand. He may tell the child in a tactful manner just how important it is to eat slowly and to eat at mealtime and not between meals.

A happy meal, without nagging, unpleasant painful table scenes will go far to making both parents and children healthy, wealthy and wise. Be firm with your child in his eating habits and find something pleasant to talk about, even if it does mean conscious effort to do so.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

A Question of Helpfulness

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please tell us if it is polite and correct for a girl to assist a girl friend when getting off the street car? A thinks it shows more respect for the girl friend. B thinks it is perfectly silly and that the girl friend is nothing better than she is. Will you help us as you have helped others?

2. What do you think of my writing and new stationery?

L. M.

IT is polite to help a friend when she is getting off a street car. It is not at all a question of whether she is "better" or "no better" than we are—we should never think in terms of this ridiculous differentiation—but it is a question, and a fine one, too, of our own manners. And being helpful is always good manners.

2. Your letter paper is of a good shade and of a good size, but not of a very good texture. Perhaps next time you could get a heavier paper, and I am sure that you will enjoy it more. Then make a more artistic margin about your letter, making the writing the picture and the margin the frame. Do not abbreviate in the heading of your letter, and write more carefully and more neatly. Fundamentally your handwriting is good, but it needs a bit more care and "backbone."

For the Lady's Protection

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

A says the gentleman must always walk on the outside; that is, next to the street.

B says a gentleman walks on the outside for the lady's protection, and that if she wants him to, or finds it more convenient, he should grant her preference and walk where she wishes—next to the street or the houses.

We had quite an argument about this subject. H. C.

THE gentleman walks on the side of the pavement nearest the street. And, usually, since this is the side that, from time immemorial, is prescribed as the one offering more chance for her protection, the lady prefers that he walk on this side. Of course, if the lady has any strenuous objections to this, naturally, the gentleman would do as she requests!

Seating the Guests of Honor

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am going to give a bridge tea and shower for a very dear friend of mine, the tea to be served in the dining room of my club. There will be about 16 guests, so I presume the table will be oblong in shape. My mother and I disagree upon the proper seating, and we would like your help.

I think that the guest of honor and I should be seated at opposite ends of the table, thus placing her mother at my right and my mother at her right. My mother, however, thinks the guest of honor should be at my right and that she (my mother) should be at the opposite end with the honored guest's mother at her right. H. M.

YOUR mother has the right and the sound social idea, H. M. Plan your seating according to her suggestions.

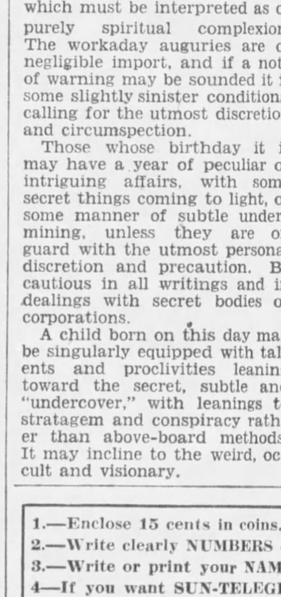
"Youthful Frock"

Pattern 1810

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern



By ANNE ADAMS

Very smart, indeed, this little best dress with its surplice bodice closing and long, cape collar. The skirt is gracefully flared in accepted fashion. The long sleeves may be omitted, and the armholes bound, if one wishes. The belt is rather wide, and softly crushed about the waist.

Design 1810 is lovely developed in silk crepe, georgette, soft taffeta or satin. Charming shades for the young girl are maroon, red, green, beige, blue and dahlia. A dainty printed fabric might be chosen, also for lovely results.

May be obtained only in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 8 requires 2⅞ yards of 39-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has ample and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

The NEW WINTER FASHION BOOK is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and order to Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West 17th St., New York City.

PITT ARRIVES ON COAST

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Former Pitcher's Feat. Heydler Theory Upset. O'Doul Once Slabman.

Thorpe Rated Greatest. Bush Ranks Waners. Ring-Foul Discussion.

MANY EX-HURLERS STAR CLOUTERS

RECENT publication of the National League's official batting averages for 1929, showing Lefty O'Doul, Philly outfielder, to be hitting champion of the year in the senior circuit, gave new weight to the arguments against the proposed revival in the future of John A. Heydler's plan for 10-man teams in baseball. When Heydler first made the recommendation a year ago he suggested that each club be allowed to use an extra player in every game to bat for the pitcher.

Frank O'Doul.

One of the objections offered then carries greater force than ever now, in view of O'Doul's achievement. For O'Doul started out as a pitcher. He failed to make the major league grade with the Yankees and Red Sox, went back to the minors, and eventually was converted into an outfielder on account of his hitting ability and an injury to his left shoulder. If Heydler's 10-man plan had been in operation then O'Doul's batting power would not have been discovered, the player's career would have been brought to an abrupt close and baseball would have lost a popular figure.

AND the O'Doul case is only one of a number of instances that might be cited. The big leagues, past and present, have known many exceptionally good batsmen who started their careers as slab artists, but whose diamond lives, if the Heydler idea had been in force, would have been cut short because their hitting ability would have remained undeveloped and unknown.

Babe Ruth, king of sluggers, tops the list of the star clouters who broke into the game on the mound. George Sisler was another, and the roll of new and old players of the same converted type might be extended to include Bill Terry, Eddie Roush, Chick Hafey, Del Bissonette, Charley Jamieson, Sam Rice, Bing Miller, Goose Goslin, Rube Bressler, Joe Hauser, Mike Donlin, Cy Seymour, Jimmy Callahan, Elmer Smith, Tom McCreery and many others.

Jim Thorpe.

IN THE opinion of Wallace Denny, Indian trainer of the Stanford gridiron team, which wound up its 1929 season in yesterday's meeting with the Army in Palo Alto, Jim Thorpe, old Carlisle star who was seen in action at Forbes Field in his heyday, was the greatest football player of all time.

"When I am with Pop Warner, I always agree that Ernie Nevers, of Stanford, was the greatest player," says Denny, "but when Pop isn't around I hold that Jim Thorpe topped them all."

"NEVERS was great, but Thorpe was in a class by himself. He never got hurt—he was built of steel and concrete—and he was smart, too. There was only one Thorpe. The greatest lineman I ever saw was John DeWitt, of Princeton, around 1904, a guard. The greatest tackle was Fat Henry, of W. & J. We had so many great ones at Carlisle it's hard to place them. Pete Houser, a back, was second to Thorpe. The Pierce boys, Bemus and Hawley, were wonders in the line.

"I NEVER shall forget the day we pulled the hidden ball trick on Harvard in Cambridge. I sewed an elastic at the bottom of Dillon's jersey and our boys hid the ball under the jersey after the kickoff. Dillon ran right at Marshall, of Harvard, and as Dillon appeared not to have the ball Marshall sidestepped and then stood mystified as the Carlisle player continued running down the field for a touchdown.

"Coach Warner had told the officials about the trick he intended to pull, and they could find nothing in the rules prohibiting it. The Harvard coach pulled out the rule book, but had to agree that the play was legal. Warner is the greatest ever. Give him half-way good material and he does the rest.

WHEN the Pittsburgh Hockey Club had Dick Carroll as coach in the amateur days several years ago it set a style that is now being adopted generally in the professional ranks. Coaches have come into fashion in the National League this season, and they are doing very well at their jobs, too.

Lloyd Waner.

Edouard (Newsy) Lalonde, of the Ottawa Senators; Dick Irvin, of the vastly improved Chicago Black Hawks, and Jerry Laflamme, of the Montreal Maroons, are giving fine service to their clubs. All are ex-players with years of experience and know their business.

NATURALLY, when he was manager of the Pirates, Donie Bush always declined to pass any opinion publicly on the relative merits of Paul and Lloyd Waner, but now that he has no local connection he does not hesitate to pronounce Lloyd the better player of the two. "They are both great ball players, if you ask me," Donie is quoted, "but the edge lies with Lloyd. He's just as good a hitter as Paul, and a better fielder, thrower and base runner. The longer I watched that little squirt play the greater my admiration for him became. Honestly, he is one of the greatest players I have ever seen, and, man and boy, I have seen a lot of them."

THOUGH Otto Von Porat has been reinstated in New York for a January fight, the effects of his fouling of Phil Scott in the second round several weeks ago are still in evidence in the boxing situation in the Empire State. The failure of the boxing powers to give the fans any protection for their money in the new rulings to cover fights that are ended by fouls is bringing protests from ring critics in New York as well as in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. The idea of giving a cash customer something on the order of a baseball rain check, first advanced hereabouts by Jim McGirr, McKeesport promoter, also is meeting with favor in Gotham. The veteran Joe Vila writes in the New York "Evening Sun":

"The suggestion that the state athletic commission adopt a rule that promoters attach stubs to their tickets entitling patrons to a refund or admission to another set of bouts in the event of a farce such as that recently provided by Phil Scott and Otto Von Porat is an excellent one, and action should be taken at once. Surely those who paid to see the Briton and the Norwegian are entitled to a return for their money and a rule should be made to protect them against a recurrence of the bilking. If the fighters knew they would have to fight over again before receiving any compensation the number of fouls would be reduced very quickly.

IN THE New York "World" Ned Brown says that the fans should be considered first and that the foul-check idea is the best solution yet offered, and Ed Hughes, boxing expert of the Brooklyn "Eagle," discusses the question at length as follows: "The new foul rule hasn't much to recommend it. It looks like a case of treating the wrong

PANTHER SQUAD PLAYERS, NOT 'TOURISTS'

By JOCK SUTHERLAND
Head Coach Pitt Football Squad.

LOS ANGELES, D 30.—The last regularly scheduled game on the University of Pittsburgh 1929 football schedule was that with Penn State, Thanksgiving Day. Following that game we laid aside our uniforms with no thought of using them before next spring.

Jock Sutherland

The athletic council of the university did not seem favorably inclined toward post-season games. We had finished a creditable season and quite a few of our friends did not want us to risk the chance of spoiling it. Then, too, the team had been under somewhat of a strain all season. We were rated better than our opponents in every game, and this naturally increased the mental strain under which the team labored. Our final game with Penn State on Thanksgiving Day was a splendid example of this. There were, however, many people extremely desirous of seeing Pittsburgh represent the East in the annual Rose Bowl classic. I believe a great deal of benefit can be derived from such a trip, especially when it comes at a time when very little class room work is missed.

PRACTICE RESUMED

Ten days after Thanksgiving, we accepted the invitation to meet the University of Southern California New Year's Day at Pasadena. The next day, or after an 11 days' lay-off, we resumed practice.

Our acceptance of the invitation brought with it a deluge of suggestions on how to travel, what to eat—and what to drink. Some even went so far as to tell us how to sleep. Many of our well-wishing friends presented us with hints and suggestions which were very amusing. For example, quite a few letters were received from desert inhabitants warning us to be careful of the water supply, using as a horrible example the fate of many of those who went in search of gold during the rush of '49. One of our informants painted a very gloomy picture for us by saying that even Alkali Ike could not stand the hardships encountered on a transcontinental trip.

Fortunately, many of this year's party also made the trip in 1927, and we hope the experience gained has helped us in our journey this year. In planning our trip this time we decided to travel farther South than we did in 1927, so that we might keep away from the high altitude, hoping that such a plan would make conditions for practice more satisfactory.

STARTED CHRISTMAS

We left Pittsburgh Christmas night, arriving in St. Louis at 1:20 p. m., the next day. That afternoon we were the guests of Washington University. The field was in no shape for practice being covered with about six inches of mud and snow. Excellent treatment was accorded us by Washington University officials.

Our next stop was at Dallas, Texas. Friday afternoon, ideal weather conditions, a real hospitable spirit on the part of Methodist University, and a live wire Chamber of Commerce made our stay in Dallas profitable and extremely pleasant.

Arriving in El Paso Saturday afternoon our party went immediately to the El Paso High School field for a short work out. A short sight-seeing trip around El Paso occupied the remainder of the afternoon.

STICK TO GAME

Yesterday was spent at the Santa Rita Hotel in Tucson, Arizona. A day of rest was a very welcome word to the boys after spending four straight nights on sleepers. We arrived in Pasadena about 9 o' clock this morning, two days before the game.

Summing things up, I would like to say that when we went out for the game two years ago I believe the players seemed to think that the trip was of greater importance than the game itself. We have tried to guard against such a condition on this year's trip, and I would like to think that so far as the players are concerned, they have looked more like a football team and less like tourists than in 1927.

TOMORROW—A REMARKABLE FOOTBALL FEAT.

PANTHERS RATE 10 TO 9 OVER TROJANS

By JESS CARVER,
Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—The collegiate football family has once again broken up, and today is spread from here to San Francisco. The arrival of the unbeaten Pitt Panthers here early this morning, too early in fact, to warrant its being greeted by any sort of a representative gathering, has induced most of the Eastern and Midwestern critics who are on the West coast to foregather here to await the meeting New Year's Day between the Panthers and the Trojans of U. S. C.

Pitt is making its second venture into the West for the Rose Bowl assignment. In 1927, Dr. John Bain (Jock) Sutherland, head coach at the Steel City institution, brought his crack Pitt eleven out for a game with Stanford. He lost this decision to his former mentor, 7 to 6, and this year hopes to carve out a generous slice of revenge on the Far West by taking Howard Jones' Trojans into camp.

ODDS FAVOR PITT

The Panthers left Pittsburgh Christmas night, and traveling via the Southern Pacific, rolled into this city this morning fairly well acclimated. Betting odds on the Easterns are being quoted at 10 to 9, although the smart layers of dough hope, by game time Wednesday, that correct wagering will rule the roost, with Pitt on the short end of about the same odds.

The few football followers, including coaches and writers, from the East, who are not on hand here for the Pitt game, are remaining in San Francisco for the classic East-West all-star team struggle, the annual benefit game of the San Francisco Shriners for the Hospital for Crippled Children.

Pitt hasn't been in town long enough to start the boys talking, and so today most of the lobbyists are putting our old friend, Capt. Biff Jones, defunct Army coach, on the pan for the relatively poor showing his Cadets made against Stanford up in Palo Alto Saturday.

Army took an unmerciful licking from Pop's well drilled and powerfully organized Cardinals. A one-touchdown defeat would not have been unexpected, but the way in which Pop made monkeys of the Cadet defense with his fake reverses and forward passes in the second half will hardly go down in history as a compliment to Army or Eastern football.

CADET DEFENSE POOR

West Point's secondary defense might as well have been in the press box during the second half as on the field. I saw the Soldiers against Notre Dame, and they played far and away smarter football on that cold, cold day in old New York than they did here Saturday. Miller, backing up the line as center, and the usually resourceful Murrel, fullback, were repeatedly sent chasing after the wrong man. With the result that Chuck Smalling, Cardinal fullback, ripped and snorted his way through the Cadet line for gain after gain that should not have been made.

Stanford used just six plays, a reverse, a double reverse, a straight off tackle smash, a spot pass, a line buck from close formation and the old Warner triple pass, and won the ball game. Army tried a dozen which failed to function because the Army line played pitchull ball.

Smalling, gaining 158 yards in the 26 times he carried the ball, outgained the entire Army team. He averaged 6.1 yards per tote. Not such a bad figure when one sits down and figures that the Army was primed, ready and due to click this game.

The Cadets also have come in for a basket full of criticism for not running the great Christy Cagle more often. Cagle carried the ball 50 times, two times less than did Murrel. It was Cagle's last ball game, and no one will deny him as Army's biggest, best and most dangerous bet. He took a licking while he was in there, but more than once, on second down, Cagle could have taken the ball when it was given to the plodding, dependable, but never dangerous Murrel.

PITT DRILLS TODAY

Pitt will drill in the Rose Bowl this afternoon, staging its first workout on California soil. Jock brought himself 33 ball players and is really the first coach to bring an Eastern eleven to the West with enough reserves of the right sort to give it a fighting chance against the acclimated and powerful Western teams.

Among visiting writers, critics and coaches here to watch Pitt and U. S. C. and quartered at the Biltmore in this sunny city, are Chet Smith, Cleveland Press; Richards Vidmer, New York Herald-Tribune; Daniel Markowitz, New York Telegram; George (Himself) Trevor, New York Sun; Dr. Clarence W. (Tubby) Spears, Minnesota; Sam Willaman, Ohio State; Charley Paddock, sprint champion; Dick Hyland, former

AMERICANS SET DOWN BUCS, 3-2

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Two goals in the listless first and a brilliant bit of thinking by Billy Boyd that brought another in the third frame gave the New York Americans a 3-to-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates last night in the battle of the tailenders of the National Hockey League.

The Americans broke loose late in the opening period, after both teams had played a poor brand of hockey and scored two counters less than three minutes apart. Billy Holmes and Rabbit McVeigh made the goals on passes from Reise and Himes.

Pittsburgh outplayed its rival to tie in the second period. Bud Jarvis scored first Pirate goal on a pass from Hal Darragh. A couple of minutes later Archie Briden sent a well-aimed long shot into the goal to tie the count.

The deciding goal came in 3:27 of the third period. Boyd took the puck down alone and outguessed Miller to score. The lineup:

Americans—3.		Pirates—2.
Grant	G	Miller
Simpson	R.D.	Fraser
Brydge	L.D.	Smith
Himes	C.	Lowrey
McVeigh	R.W.	Darragh
Sheppard	L.W.	Jarvis

American spares—Reise, Conacher, Burmeister, Massecar, Holmes, Boyd, Patterson, Spring.
Pittsburgh spares—Barton, Manners, White, Briden, MacKinnon.
Officials—Bell and Mallinson.
First period—Americans, Holmes (Reise), 15:57; Americans, McVeigh (Himes), 18:46. Penalty—Briden.
Second period—Pittsburgh, Jarvis (Darragh), 9:00; Pittsburgh, Briden, 11:27. Penalties—Simpson (major), Brydge, McVeigh, Briden, Smith.
Third period—Americans, Boyd, 3:27. Penalties—Lowrey, Massecar.

BENNY LEONARD PROMOTES LOOP

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Announcement that he had practically completed arrangements for the organization of a four-club professional ice hockey league with teams in Dallas, Fort Worth, Tulsa and Oklahoma City, was made here yesterday by Benjamin Leiner, better known as Benny Leonard, retired undefeated lightweight boxing champion. The announcement followed three days of work here and in Fort Worth.

Leonard expects to have active charge of the Dallas club and an agent in charge of the Fort Worth member. He plans to build an ice rink in Fort Worth and rent one here. Friends in Oklahoma City have assured him they will construct a rink there, Leonard said. All that remains to complete the circuit, he said, is for Tulsa—already in the American Association Ice Hockey League—to agree to place another team in his loop.

Leonard intends to import competent coaches for his two Texas teams and to bring in promising young stars from independent and school championship clubs in Canada to form the personnel of the teams. He is anxious to develop talent for the Pittsburgh team in the National League.

RING EARNINGS EXAGGERATED —P. ZIVIC

By HARRY KECK,

At the age of 28, Pete Zivic, eldest of the three fighting Zivic brothers—Jack, Pete and Fritzie—engages in his one hundreth professional battle when he boxes Jackie Rodgers, local Negro knockout star, in the 10-round main bout at Motor Square Garden, New Year's afternoon.

Pete Zivic

Prior to boxing Patsy Young, of Beechview, in his first professional start, in the same ring, on Christmas Day, 1920, Pete engaged in 57 amateur bouts in 20 months and his simonpure efforts carried him to the Olympic Games and on a tour of Europe.

What has Pete to show for his fistic efforts? Little but a battered ear, a flock of medals, a scrapbook and his memories! The "tin ear" is the only badge of his profession that adorns his features. He has managed to escape other markings.

PURSES ARE SMALL

I asked Pete yesterday how much money he had made out of the ring, and what, if anything, he had remaining, and was startled by his reply.

"The average person who has followed my career in the ring thinks I should be pretty well fixed," Pete said. "He remembers the fact that I have fought Al Brown, Al Singer, Carl Tremaine, Bushy Graham and many other stars and naturally comes to the conclusion that Pete Zivic and his wife and three children should be the possessor of a fat bank account Let me tell you the true story.

"For the 99 bouts I have fought for money, I have not received a total of $20,000, including my manager's share That means I have not averaged

TRY FOR POINT ATTACKED BY COACHES

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Recommendation for the abolishment of the point after touchdown was made to the National Football Coaches' Association today through the rules committee, headed by Glenn Thistlethwaite, of Wisconsin.

The rules committee reported that the point after touchdown, devised to prevent tie games, had not done that. An exhaustive study of 1,487 games reported during the past season showed the average number of plays in a game, 160, scored only an average of 21 points, whereas the single point after touchdown is scored on one play.

SCORING UNBALANCED

The committee pointed out that this left a decided lack of balance in the scoring system, inasmuch as an average of seven plays were necessary to score a point by the touchdown route. The recommendation of the rules committee probably will be acted upon by the delegates of the coaches' association later today.

The report of the rules committee furnished the high spot of the morning meeting of the coaches from all parts of the country.

The point after touchdown has been subject to considerable revision recently by the National Rules Committee. This year, the rule was changed to permit the try for extra point from the two-yard line instead of the three-yard line in an effort to bring about a greater diversity of play.

FUMBLE RULE IGNORED

No mention was made of the fumble rule, which has been the subject of considerable controversy among the coaches since the change this season which declared a fumbled punt dead at the point of recovery.

Rather than do away with the new fumble rule, about which there has been so much debate, Hugo Bezdek, president of the coaches' association, expressed

Head Coach of Army Football Squad.

PALO ALTO, Dec. 30.—Army took its second straight licking from Stanford here Saturday, 34 to 13. Last year the score in New York was 26-0.

During the first half the battle was fought on even terms with both teams scoring two touchdowns and Stanford finishing with a 14-13 edge as a result of a safety scored against us when Murrell fumbled a pass from the center in the end zone and then, in trying to run with the ball, stepped beyond the end zone. We had kicked one of our touchdown goals, and Stanford had missed both of its tries. Army scored first to take a 6-0 lead.

COMPLIMENTS CARDS

Stanford was better than Army was at any time during the season and deserved to win, but I hope I may be pardoned for saying that the much-discussed California heat had much to do with the Cadets' collapse in the second half. Our boys felt the heat in the first half, and their vitality was sapped more and more as the game wore on. The game was played under a cloudless sky, with the sun beating down in enervating fashion on the players. Our men were dressed as lightly as possible, but felt the devastating rays, nevertheless.

It was a fairly good contest for three periods, and then it was all Stanford. The Cardinals scored in the third period, when Army fumbled on its own 18-yard line and five plays carried the ball over. Two touchdowns for the victors followed in the last period.

Army was at its best in the opening quarter, when it scored four of its seven first downs and appeared to be in for a great day. Stanford was at its best in the last period, when it tallied seven of its 15 first downs.

LAUDS PUNTING

A spectacular feature was the punting of Rothert and Moffatt, of Stanford. Three times they placed the ball out of bounds inside the five-yard line.

In Capt. Muller and Neil, Stanford had a great pair of ends. Their covering of punts was superb. Moffatt, Smalling and Fleishhacker all carried the ball well.

For the Army, Cagle, Murrell, Hutchison and Perry, playing their last game before they graduate, all did well. Cagle, watched every minute by the Stanford defense, was still able to sneak away for several good gains.

WILSON, TURF LEADER, DIES

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Richard Thornton Wilson, banker, prominent on the turf, died of pneumonia at his home here yesterday. He was 62 years old.

He was president of the banking firm of R. T. Wilson & Co., founded by his father, the late R. T. Wilson, commissary general of the Confederate army, and also of the Saratoga Association for the Improvement of the Breed of Horses. He was a steward of the Jockey Club and a director of the Westchester Racing Association, which owns Belmont Park.

He was largely responsible for the enlargement and beautification of the race course at Saratoga. He owned a large stable himself. Among his outstanding horses were Sunfire, Flying Phantom and Campfire.

His brother, H. Orme Wilson, married Caroline Astor, daughter of the late William Astor. His late sister Mary was the wife of Ogden Goelet and the mother of the Duchess of Roxburghe. Another sister, Lelia, also deceased, was the wife of Sir Michael Henry Herbert, former British ambassador to the United States. His only surviving sister is the wife of Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt.

His widow, who was Marion Steadman Mason, of Boston, and two daughters also survive. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

Hall to Replace Hoppe in Tourney

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Willie Hoppe has withdrawn from the field which will compete for the world three-cushion billiard championship at New York, starting January 3, and will be replaced by Allen Hall, of Chicago.

Hoppe withdrew because he failed to gain a satisfactory contract with the National Billiard Association, sponsor of the championship. It was doubtful whether he would compete in the world 18.2 balkline championship either.

Taberski Victor Over Greenleaf

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Frank Taberski, of Schenectady, former world pocket billiards champion, defeated Ralph Greenleaf, present titleholder, in their 12-block match completed here last night. Taberski rolled up a lead of eight blocks to four and led in total points as well, 1,374 to 1,097.

STACK LEADS SKATERS

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Frank Stack, Canadian national skating champion in 1927 and 1928, today held the highest number of points in the Franklin Skating and Bicycle Club derby. Yesterday Stack won the class A mile event and the time medal in the two-mile handicap, in which he finished third.

LETTER FOR HUFF

A letter awaits Frank Buff, the boxer, at this office.

HOPPE BOWS

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Welker Cochran, of Hollywood, defeated Willie Hoppe in a 400-point three-cushion billiards match completed last night, 400 to 389, in 317 innings.

L. WANER HERE

LLOYD WANER, Pirate outfielder, and his recent bride, an Oakland girl, have arrived in the city from Oklahoma to spend a two weeks' vacation with Mrs. Waner's mother at 407 Oakland avenue.

BUCS' NEW GOALIE

ANDY SPOONER

The hockey Pirates' force of goalies was doubled recently when Andy Spooner was signed as understudy to Joe Miller, veteran net guardian. Spooner was obtained from the Port William (Canada) Club. He has shown considerable skill in the practice sessions, but Miller has been displaying exceptionally brilliant form lately, and Andy has had no opportunity to display his wares in a National League game.

himself in favor of extending it in principle to bar running with an intercepted forward pass. Such a rule would have prevented Notre Dame from scoring its only touchdown against Army.

REPORT IS MENTIONED

Bezdek, in his annual report, took cognizance of the famous Carnegie report on recruiting and remarked humorously that "Some of the coaches did not seem to take it seriously." He stressed, however, that conditions revealed by the report are improving and emphasized that the day is gone when a football player can perform at one college one week and at another the next week.

Dan McGugin, Vanderbilt's head coach, asserted steadily improving scholastic standards were helping to remedy the conditions among athletes which have been criticized. He favored longer contracts for football coaches as another remedy.

EASTERN OFFICIALS MEET

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The Eastern Association for the Selection of Football Officials met yesterday, talked over the rules, but failed to do anything about them.

A report was made on the progress of the re-codification committee headed by E. K. Hall, of Dartmouth, and Walter Okeson, commissioner of officials for the Association. The committee was named last year to clarify the rules.

Wilmer Crowell, Swarthmore, was re-elected president.

Havana Senator Hits Profanity In Baseball

HAVANA, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Charges that there is altogether too much profanity at Havana baseball games today were made by Senator Lorenzo Fernandez Hermo. In a petition to the interior Department, he asked that a circular order be sent department inspectors and police, instructing them to stop the use of profane language.

The Havana senator said that not infrequently when players protested a decision of the umpire, they roundly cussed him out, much to the annoyance of women spectators. He further charged that this practice by players was copied by bleacherites.

Yoder to Announce Pitt-U. S. C. Tilt Over Radio

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Lloyd E. Yoder, former Carnegie Tech grid star, of the National Broadcasting Company's Pacific coast studios, and Carl Haverlin, announcer at KFI, Los Angeles, will give a play-by-play description of the New Year's Day football game between the Pitt Panthers and Southern California over the National Broadcasting Company's chain.

Yoder, who captained the Carnegie Tech team of 1927, will describe the first and third periods, and Haverlin the second and final.

The broadcast will begin at 4:30 o'clock, Eastern Standard time.

GERMAN TENNIS STAR KILLED

Hans Moldenauer

BERLIN, Dec. 20.—(AP.)—Hans Moldenauer, German Davis Cup star, was fatally injured when his autmobile skidded and struck a street car yesterday. He died in a hospital without regaining consciousness.

Three others suffered contusions in the accident.

KLINZINGS COP

Boots Klinzing's Klub defeated St. Casimir Juniors, 44 to 20, last night. The lineup:

St. Casimir—20.		Klinzing—44.
Jennison	F	Debor

Johnson	C	Jesko
J. Kissel	G	Armbruster
Banduck	G	Gallagher

Substitutions—Butchey for Tumas, W. Fisher for G. Fisher, G. Fisher for Jesko, Jesko for Armbruster. Field goals—Debor 6, Armbruster and Jesko 5, Kissel and G. Fisher 3, Johnson, Banduck and Gallagher 2, Jennison. Fouls—Banduck, Johnson and Gallegher 2. Referee—Zekas.

PHILLY SIGNS FIELDS

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Jackie Fields, world welterweight boxing champion, has signed for a non-title bout here at the Arena next Monday night. His opponent is to be selected today.

LOU WOLLEN BURIED

Burial services were held in Mt. Lebanon Cemetery today for Lou H. Wollen, 36, local baseball writer, who died Christmas Day. Funeral rites were observed yesterday in the late home of the scribe in Beechview.

CECIL DEFEATED BY GALLATIN BOOTERS, 3-2

YESTERDAY'S SCORES.

Union Switch	1	Douglas	1
Gallatin	3	Cecil	2

Mather	2	Sunnyside	0
Cuddy Eagles	5	Kramers	3
Thoms Run	5	Crafton Heights	4
Horning Rovers	4	Bridgmont	0

By TOM BIRKS.

Playing a hard game on a snow-bound field, Gallatin qualified for the next round of the National Amateur cup by defeating Cecil, 3 to 2, in the cup replay at Cecil yesterday.

However, the upriver team had nothing of a cinch, like in that first game. Cecil started a wonderful rally in the second half of the game, and nearly nosed out the visitors.

And, by the way, it might be mentioned that a substitute player named Peckovitch went into the game in the second half, in place of Begonde, and as far as could be ascertained, reported to the referee, so let us hope there will be no protest.

Despite icy roads, and falling snow, there was a great crowd on hand when the teams took the field. Gallatin started off with its usual goal-getting movements and after 12 minutes play, Secane found himself just inside the penalty area, and let fly with a drive that Godfrey did not see. The ball nestled in the corner of the net.

The game was very even, but Gallatin always was dangerous—Paterlina added number two after 23 minutes of play.

That was all the scoring until after half time. Cecil played a whale of a game in the second half. J. Cherkoo reduced the score from close in. Cecil found itself further behind when Vallett handled the ball in the penalty area. Benick took the kick, and again Godfrey picked the sphere from the folds of the net.

Cecil was playing a desperate game at this time, and tightened up the game when Sickles, the Gallatin center half, trying to clear a corner kick, touched the ball into his own net. It was a good, even game. The lineup:

Gallatin—3.		Cecil—2.
Binick	G	Godfrey
Cheriogi	R.B.	Vallet
Murphy	L.B.	Belling
Paton	R.H.	Adams
Sickles	C.H.	Dismet
Paterlini	L.H.	F. Brant
Belonge	O.R.	Ventara
Kissl	I.R.	Godfrey
Binick	C	G. Brant
Lecane	I.L.	J. Cherokee
Broggi	O.L.	P. Cherokee

Goal scores—Secane, Paterlini, J. Cherokee, Sicklis, Binick. Score at half time—2-0, Gallatin. Referee—Lumsden.

PARKER BEATEN IN NET PLAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Bernard Friedman, of Philadelphia, upset Frankie Parker, Milwaukee star and top seeded favorite, in the quarter-finals of the National indoor tennis championship for boys by scores of 3-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Friedman holds the Middle Atlantic States junior title.

In the other quarter-final round boys' matches, Mark Hecht, second seeded player, defeated a fellow New Yorker, John Nogrady, 5-7, 8-6, 6-1; J. N. Anderson, Jr., Stevens Prep, defeated Joseph Abrams, New York, 6-0, 6-4, and Giles Verstraten, McBurney School, defeated William Zimmerman, New York, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Chuck Smalling Signs as Coach

PALTO ALTO, Cal., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Chuck Smalling, outstanding star of the football game between Stanford and West Point, announced today he has accepted a position as assistant athletic coach at the Menlo School and Junior College, Menlo Park, Cal.

Smalling will work with Dud De Groot, former Stanford athlete, who directs athletics at the Menlo institution. When the semester opens on January 7 Smalling will take charge of the basketball squad and later will direct his attention to baseball.

Dan McGinnity Buried as Pauper

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—The body of Dan McGinnity, one-time manager for Ruby Bob Fitzsimmons has been buried in a grave here in Potter's field, it was learned today.

McGinnity died Christmas Day in a cheerless Chicago boarding house. Although he once was the possessor of a large estate, his wealth faded until he was in comparative poverty. He was a brother of Joe McGinnity, "iron man" pitcher, who died recently.

Collins Signed By North Carolina For Next Year

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Chuck Collins, head football coach, will be back at the University of North Carolina next year, he and Charles T. Woollen, graduate manager of athletics said today. Both declined to discuss the salary matter.

Collins was said to have been offered the job of football coach at Georgetown University, the reports being that the offer carried with it an increase in salary.

PITT ARRIVES ON COAST

EAST-WEST SQUADS WORK

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The West got down to serious football practice on the St. Mary's campus, in Moroga Valley yesterday, in preparation for the Shrine's annual East-West grid classic Wednesday at Kezar Stadium here.

The East is armed with a bright array of all-America stars, but this has not lessened the general confidence of the West. Under the command of Coach Percy Locey and his lieutenants, Jack Patrick and Cac Hubbard, the westerners worked intensively in final preparations for the battle. Benny Lom, California star halfback, turned up with an injured leg and Claire Sloan, Nebraska's backfield ace, reported with a deep cleat wound in his shin.

While Locey was sending his charges through their paces, Head Coach Andy Kerr, of the East, marshaled his forces on one of Stanford University's practice fields. The squad from the sunrise side of the Rockies has shown great power in its workouts, and Coach Kerr believes that game honors are due to fall to his team. Tom Dowler, Colgate, halfback is still on the shelf with a wrenched knee, but may be sufficiently recovered by Wednesday to play a part of the game.

MID-WEST TEAMS RESUME

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Golf, sightseeing and other diversion occupied members of the Southwest and Mid-West all star football squads yesterday, but they will get down to work in earnest again today for their meeting in the second annual Dixie classic here on New Year's Day.

Coaches Ray Morrison, of the Homelings, and Jimmy Phelan, of the Mid-Westers, were with their boys almost every minute, chaperoning their play and talking over plans for the battle. Neither coach has had to worry about his charges breaking training, however. Every man on the two squads is determined to be at his best for the fray.

Neither coach has given out a definite lineup for the game, but from the way they were running plays in practice Saturday it appeared likely they would face each other about like this:

Southwest—Willis, Centenary, and Lucas, Baior, ends; Crabaugh, Arkansas, and Moore, T. C. U., tackles; Sanders, S. M. U., and Richter, Texas A., and M., guards; Burnett, Texas, center; Grubbs, T. C. U., quarterback; Hanna, Centenary, and Mills, Texas A. and M., halfbacks; Miller, Arkansas, fullback.

Middlewest—Young, Detroit, and Collins, Notre Dame, ends; Westra, Iowa, and Cornell, St. Louis University, tackles; Pulkrabek, Minnesota, and Meyers, Iowa, guards; Nash, Notre Dame, center; Welch, Purdue, quarterback; Holman, Ohio State, and Pharmer, Minnesota, halfbacks; Gembis, Michigan, center.

Frank Burch, of Earlham, a nationally known official, has been selected to referee the New Year's bout. Ernest Quigley, St. Mary's noted football and baseball arbiter, will umpire. Jay Wyatt, of Missouri, will be head linesman and Charlie Braun, Sewanee, will field judge.

Saint Bernard Cops Marseilles Feature

MARSEILLES, France, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—The 9-year-old hurdler, Saint Bernard, belonging to Arthur Veil Picard and carrying top weight of 161 pounds, showed a muddy pair of heels to seven other starters in the Massiglia stakes, feature of yesterday's card. Saint Bernard, a son of Valsuzon, out of Valerie, finished five lengths ahead of the field which included some of the best jumpers in France, all of them younger thoroughbreds than the winner. Penagos was second and Sacols third.

The Irene Kaufmann Settlement House will present the greatest basketball attraction in its history tonight when it opposes the Cleveland Rosenblums, champions of the world, on the new I. K. S. court in the feature event of the old-timers' celebration at the Hill district institution.

The Cleveland Rosenblums, making their second invasion of the season of Western Pennsylvania, include four former members of the Original New York Celtics in their lineup and judging from the number of old-timers who have signified their intention of attending the contest, the battle will attract a capacity crowd.

For the last 10 years the Irene Kaufmann Settlement House has held a lofty position in amateur athletics, carrying off numerous championships in all branches of sport. Tonight's game gives the athletes under the direction of Ziggy Kahn a chance to show their wares against the best in the world.

With the Rosies will appear Henry (Dutch) Dehnert, Pete Barry, Joe Lapchick, Red Skurnick, Johnny Beckman, Carl Husta and Dave Kerr, a team that has been going at a fast clip in the American League this season.

In the preliminary contest tonight a team of old-timers, composed of players who starred at the Settlement House years ago, will clash with the I. K. S. Reserves.

Dribbles

Menaced by the Sianos, who have moved up to second place, the Fintex quintet, County League leader, will have to keep on its toes tonight when it meets Moon Klinzing and his supporting cast, representing the Homestead Ackermans, on the Duquesne University floor. This game is the only one scheduled in the County League tonight.

Three games are scheduled tonight in the West Penn League. The Schneiders appear at the South Side Falcons, Community House at the Knickerbockers and the Y. M. H. A. at Penn Five.

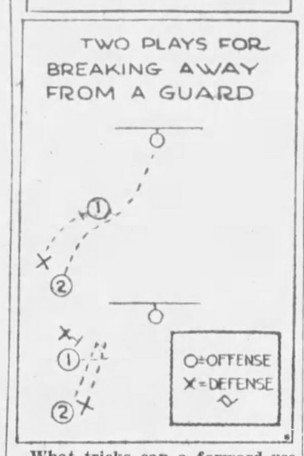
Joseph Horne plays Trinity tonight in the only Central Pittsburgh League game on the program.

The Sianos, who are pressing Fintex for first place in the County League, suffered their only defeat of the season to date at the hands of the present leader. Tomorrow night the Sianos will attempt to improve their position at the expense of the Duquesne Lafayettes, whom they meet in Duquesne.

The Goldensons, of the County League, will be out to make it two in a row over the Duquesne Lafayettes when they meet the defending champions at the South Side Market House Wednesday night. The game should bring out one of the biggest crowds of the season.

Palmer Schrello and John Aiello have forsaken the Sianos in the County League to play for the J. J. Mieles.

How to Play Basketball



What tricks can a forward use to delude the guard and get free for a shot or a pass?

Answered by

EDWARD McNICHOL

Basketball Coach, University of Pennsylvania, Eastern Intercollegiate Champions.

A forward who is being guarded in the man-to-man style has two methods open for him in which he may elude his guard. The first method consists in the use of his physical assets, such as quick starts, stops, pivots, feints, speed, etc. The second method consists in the use of one's teammates in order to prevent the guard from following. This method is illustrated in the diagrams.

Diagram 1.

Number 1 has ball facing away from basket, 2 cuts in front of 1 going from one side to the other bringing his man into contact with 1. The same method can be used when 1 is facing his basket but does not have the ball.

Diagram 2.

Number 1 has ball on side court facing away from basket; 2 cuts as shown, and, as he passes 1, 1 dribbles directly in back of him, causing 1's man to come in contact with 2 or 2's guard; 1 must be alert not to allow 2 to go any distance past him before starting his dribble, or his guard will be able to follow without being blocked. The same play can be made when neither 1 nor 2 has the ball.

Long's Sport Comment

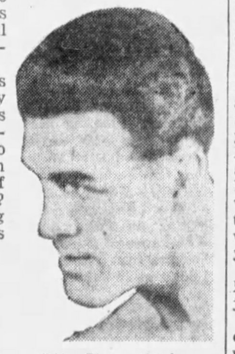
patient. The fan, who is the real sufferer, appears to be completely ignored, while penalties are inflicted on the erring fighters. Just how punishing fighters reimburses the fan in cold cash or rightful entertainment is something I cannot penetrate.

"The outstanding complaint, the distress of the fan, is wholly neglected. In what way does punishing a fighter constitute redress for the fan who has paid for a ringside vantage point? Would it return any money to the jeans of the fans? Would it assure them any kind of entertainment for the coin of the realm from which they were separated? Not in the least. The issue here is being badly jumbled and confused, though it is as plain as the nose on your face.



Otto Von Porat.

"OBVIOUSLY the question is not what to do about the fighters, but WHAT TO DO ABOUT THE FANS. The fan doesn't pay his money to witness fouls. Neither does he derive any fair exchange in the knowledge that the boxers have been penalized. What he does want, and what he is entitled to, is entertainment, a fair return for his outlay. Just why some rule calculated to work such justice cannot be formulated is entirely beyond me. The punishing of the fighters leaves the patron 'out' exactly the amount of money he paid at the box office. If that is a remedy for the problem of the foul, then I suppose an aspirin tablet is an excellent cure for a broken leg. The one remedy that I can embrace for the situation is the 'foul check' idea, a natural antidote, similar to the rain check in baseball. It provides restaging the bout on short notice, the fighter who fouled bearing most, if not all, of the expenses of the return engagement. There are three striking points in it that seem to justify at least a test by the commission: It gives the fan what he paid for; it makes fighters fight, and, unless I'm mistaken, it is practicable."

POP WARNER, Stanford University coach, again proved he is still as foxy as ever when his Cardinals whipped Biff Jones' Cadets, 34 to 13, Saturday, at Palo Alto. The striking thing about the contest was not so much the fact that Stanford trimmed a primed and ready Army team, for that was expected, but the score itself. The one-sided score was not expected. The Army was helpless against the Cards' fake reverses and forward passes in the second half, and was totally outclassed when the game ended.

Capt. Jones, who finished his career as West Point's head coach with the game on the Coast, in analyzing the contest, strikes a common alibi for Eastern teams playing in the Far West, in blaming the heat for the Army's collapse in the second half. There is little doubt but that he is right to a certain extent, for the Cadets did show real fight in the first half when they were at their strongest, and in the second half gave in almost entirely to the weather to which they had not become fully acclimated. On the other hand, it is hard to believe Army would have suffered a much less disgraceful defeat in their prime and in colder weather, for the Stanford eleven appeared to be a superior machine in every department.

ROSIES BEAT SYRACUSE BY 26 TO 20

CLEVELAND, Dec. 30.—For 33 minutes the Rosenblums trailed in their game with Nat Holman's Syracuse five here last night and then suddenly showed a reversal of form. Coupled with extraordinary pivot play by Dehnert and Barry, they forged ahead to beat the Holman crew, 26 to 20. Once the Rosies tied the count, the losers were outclassed and never connected for points thereafter.

Spectacular long-range shooting by Holman, Allen, Sullivan and M. Barry put Syracuse well to the front, while the Rosies were missing connections under the basket most frequently. Skurnick and Holman opposed each other and gave the 4,000 fans a real thrill. The lineup:

Cleveland—26.		Syracuse—20.
P. Barry	F	Kearns
Skurnick	F	Westlock
Lapchick	C	Allen
Dehnert	G	Holman
Husta	G	M. Barry

Substitutions—Westlock for Kearns, Sullivan for Kearns. Field goals—Cleveland, 8 out of 45; Syracuse, 10 out of 36; Skurnick 2, P. Barry 3, Husta 2, Dehnert, Allen 3, Holman 4, M. Barry 2, Kearns. Goals from foul—Cleveland, 10 out of 16; Syracuse, 0 out of 3. First half score—Cleveland, 10, Syracuse 14. Disqualified—Kearns, Sullivan. Outstanding player—Dehnert. Time of halves—20 minutes. Professional rules. Referee—Saindor.

"I AM HEALTHY AND HAPPY; OWE ALL TO KONJOLA"

Lifelong Resident of Pittsburgh Tells What New and Different Medicine Did For Him

Don't wonder about Konjola; don't doubt. Quit experimenting and groping, as if in the dark, for the right medicine. Meet the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, and hear the remarkable story of this remarkable medicine. Get the facts, for sufferers are certainly entitled to the facts about the medicine in which they put their money, their faith, their hope for the dawn of a new day of health and happiness. Let the experiences of others be as a lamp unto your feet; be guided by the actual knowledge that tens of thousands have gained of the powers of this new and different medicine of 32 ingredients for the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and for rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Consider, for instance, the case of Mr. Joseph C. Seng, 908 Moravian Way, North Side, this city. Do you wonder why he is enthusiastic about Konjola? Get all the facts about this amazing medicine that has made more than a million friends in six years. Results are what count, and Konjola can be counted on for results. That's why it has won and kept more than a million friends who recommend it every chance they get. See how Konjola works; what it does, and then decide what you will do about Konjola.

MR. JOSEPH C. SENG

Now read the grateful words of Mr. Seng, who said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"I am healthy and happy, and I owe it all to Konjola. I was sick, weak, discouraged and disgusted, for life was misery to me. For several years I had indigestion in most painful and weakening form. I was never hungry, and this, in a way, was a good thing, for even the smallest quantity of food caused gas, bloating and pain. I could not sleep as a man should; I lost in weight and strength, and was going down hill rapidly in health as medicine after medicine and treatment after treatment failed to do me any good.

"I kept hearing and reading so much about Konjola that I finally decided to put this new medicine to the test. That was a whale of a decision, for Konjola turned out to be the very medicine my case required. Within a week I felt results, and thereafter my improvement was rapid. It seemed too good to be true, but true it was, and after the sixth bottle every sign of indigestion had vanished. I was like a new person, and now that I am eating and sleeping as I should I am taking on weight and strength. All hail Konjola, the master medicine of them all."

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where daily he is meeting the public and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. Konjola is sold in all the Dow Stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

COLLEGIATE CARD BIG

PITT BATTLES NEBRASKA, OHIO STATE

A college basketball medley will be thudded on the backboards of Western Pennsylvania courts this week. There will be intersectional glamor in the University of Pittsburgh's encounter with Nebraska Saturday and in visits of the fagging barnstormers from Adrian, Mich., College and New Wilmington and Waynesburg.

PRESTIGE AT STAKE

There will be interstate prestige at stake galore: Alfred against Allegheny, Alfred against Duquesne, Geneva against Canisius, Carnegie Tech against West Virginia University, Bethany, of West Virginia against Juniata, Bethany against Penn State, Ohio State against Pitt.

There will be intra-district rivalry enlivening Westminster's feud with Grove City.

And there will be the curiosity which always surrounds a team's inaugural in Washington and Jefferson's opening tests with "Y" teams of Pittsburgh and Tarentum.

The Westminster-Grove City and Pitt-Ohio State games loom in advance as the possible breathtakers. Westminster, led by the capable Capt. Glenn O'Donovan, has swept all before it in skirmishing and will be playing its first scheduled game.

GROVERS FORMIDABLE

Grove City, with such clever stars as Hildebrand, Stavnitsky, and Burke, lost its opening scheduled game to Pitt, but stamped itself in defeat as a formidable machine. The only basis for comparison is furnished by a Mercer independent five that bowed to Westminster 49-32 and to Grove City 36-19.

Ohio State, victorious Saturday over Notre Dame, is a distinct threat to Pitt's undefeated record. If Pitt, with Charley Hyatt restless to get loose again, can down the Buckeyes, the Panther should not find a puzzle in Nebraska of the Big Six, whose forte is football.

Carnegie Club, of Braddock, will oppose the Pitt Freshmen in preliminary game Tuesday night, play beginning at 7 o'clock.

RING EARNINGS EXAGGERATED

$200 a purse. When I was just starting out, I fought a number of bouts for $40 and $50 and other sums under $100. Later, of course, I received larger amounts, but I never managed to get into what is known as the 'big money' of the sport. My biggest purse was $1,500. I received this amount for my bout with Carl Tremaine in the Milk and Ice Fund show at Forbes Field in 1923 and once more when I boxed Al Brown, now the bantamweight champion, in Madison Square Garden, New York. My next biggest purse was $1,442 for boxing Midget Smith in Motor Square Garden. For boxing Al Singer in New York I drew down $1,025. Never did I have as much as $1,000 left for myself out of my purse for a bout. Contrast this with the purses other boxers have received or have spurned. Many of the boxers in the smaller classes have taken in as much for one bout as I have received in my entire career."

Pete is sincerity personified in his manner of talking and in his efforts in the ring. He has lost a number of bouts, but he never has refused to box anyone in his class and he never has failed to produce his best efforts. For more than a year he fought under the handicap of an injured ear that refused to respond to treatment and caused him no end of pain when he was hit upon it. At least two of his knockout defeats resulted from it.

DISCUSSES HITTERS

Zivic does not fear the vaunted right hand punch of Rodgers, which has laid low the latter's last five opponents.

"I have fought the hardest hitters in my division," Pete said. "A few of them have stopped me and others have knocked me off my feet, but I have come back to beat many of them. One of the hardest sockers I have fought is Cecil Payne, of Louisville, whom I met recently. He hit me with terrific force, but I managed to shake off the effects and keep going. He is a harder hitter than Al Singer, the great-looking prospect of New York, but there is this difference: You can see Payne's punches coming, but Singer is so fast and hits so rapidly that you can't even see the blows. It is the unexpected landing that jolts you. You do not get a chance to set yourself to withstand the shock. Bushy Graham hits in much the same manner as Singer. He hops about you with his hands held low and suddenly his loaded glove reaches out and chops you down. From what I have seen of Rodgers, he stalks his opponents and just keeps punching. There is no deception in his attack and I think I can keep out of danger in the early rounds, when he is strong, and come on to outbox him after he loses the range."

Pete is tickled with the chance to perform before the folks in his home town again. He has not shown here is three years, although he has not ceased his campaigning about the country meeting the best of them.

LAGREY IN NEW YORK

Joey LaGrey, formerly of Johnstown, boxes Ben Jeby in the windup at the St. Nicholas arena in New York tonight. Art De Champlaine, also formerly of Johnstown, meets Rocco Vigna in another bout on the same card. Buster Brown meets Billy Kennedy, of New Orleans, at Baltimore.

With the Ike McFowler-Bud Gorman bout at McKeesport set back two weeks, the Tom Malco-Joe Colombo affair at the Moose Temple Friday night is the only boxing show in the Pittsburgh district this week aside from the New Year's matinee at Motor Square Garden.

Among the clubs, Philadelphia leads in slugging percentage with .467, and also had the most total bases, 2,559. Chicago had the greatest total of runs batted in, 933; received the most bases on balls, 589, and struck out the most times, 567. New York had the most batsmen hit by pitcher, 36. Chicago's total of 933 runs batted in establishes a new record. The former record was 820, made by Pittsburgh in 1925 and surpassed this year by three clubs besides Chicago.

CLAIM SHIRES' FOES ALL ARE DALY

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—(INS.)—Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires today was found to be the victim of an insidious "whispering" campaign.

Nasty things are being said about the identity of some of the White Sox first baseman's recent ring opponents. Some say that Bad Bill Bailey, whom Shires floored in the first round of his fight in Buffalo the other night, was the same Mr. Dangerous Dan Daly whom Shires pushed over in his ring debut here.

Scurrilous gossips even go so far as to say that the White Sox hero is going to meet Dangerous Dan a third time. This meeting, so the gossips say, is to occur within the course of a week with Dan posing as Mean Mike Haley, the snarling car conductor.

Shires, passing through the city last night, paused to deny the mean things being said about his fistic campaign.

"That's all very shallow talk," said modest Arthur. "I wouldn't cheat the public like that. I don't know who Bad Bill Bailey is, but, if it was Dangerous Dan Daly, he has set a record for taking off weight—29 pounds in two weeks."

Latest rumors have Shires all matched to fight one Sullen Sam Staley at Philadelphia. His critics utter the alliterative name of Shires' opponents and nod knowingly.

RAJAH LEADS LONG HITTERS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

For the second time in two seasons, Rogers Hornsby, now of the Cubs, led the National League batters in the art of long-hitting, according to official figures on miscellaneous records given out today. Hornsby sported an average of 681, 49 points better than his 1928 mark.

Rogers Hornsby

Hack Wilson, of the Cubs, set a new league record for driving in runs with a total of 159. The former mark was 152, made by Hornsby while with the Cardinals in 1922. Wilson also fanned the most times, 83.

Pie Traynor of the Pirates was the hardest batter in the league to retire on strikes. Pie fanned only seven times.

Melvin Ott, of the Giants drew the most basses on balls, 113. Jim Bottomley, of the Cardinals, batted in more than 100 runs for the sixth consecutive year.

200 Communists Invade Arena To Razz Team

PARIS, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Politics invaded the sports arena here yesterday, when a well-organized and efficiently carried out anti-Fascist demonstration was staged in the Buffalo Velodrome, where a Rome soccer team met a picked Paris team.

Hooting, booing and whistling greeted the Italian team when they came on the field, and a group of about 200 Communists varied singing of the Internationale with shouting "Down with Fascism!" Others of the 15,000 spectators joined in the hubbub with shouts of "Let's have sport—football, not politics!" But police reserves were necessary to dislodge the Communists from the stands.

The match was delayed for several minutes. Several black eyes and some bruises were the only injuries. Two men were arrested. Paris defeated Rome, 5 to 4.

RAPID RECOVERY IN '30 SEEN BY ECONOMISTS

Outlook for New Year Far From Cloudy, Noted Academic Leaders Say

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The American Statistical Association, now in convention here, has seemingly dedicated its sessions to exploding the myth that economists are more gloomy than business executives.

Remarks made privately in the lobby of the Hotel Washington and from the public platform belie the belief that these doctors of business science are a choleric and pessimistic tribe. Unlike captains of industry in the counting rooms whose present vision is blurred by the immediate panorama of rapidly receding trade, these relatively detached observers have delved into their imagination, torn the veil from the future, and forecast rapid economic recovery in 1930.

First in the field with its soothsayings, the Harvard Economic Society recently set the fashion in academic optimism. David Friday, well-known economist, writer and investment trust consultant, has perhaps gone furthest north in shouting all's well with the world.

Although business fortune telling is still a primitive and inexact art, it is a part of the record that Dr. Friday is one one of the outstanding practitioners of the art.

TURNING POINT NEAR

Pointing out that there has been a sharp recession from the peak of industrial activity last summer, Dr. Friday expressed the belief that the turning point is at hand, and that the low point will have been reached this month or next month. The low point, he feels, will be about 6 per cent higher than the low point in 1927. He believes that the curve of industrial output will rise before the winter is over, then flatten out for a few months at a higher level, reaching a peak in August, which, though high, will be below the 1929 summit. For the year 1930 as a whole, Dr. Friday predicts greater productivity than in any past year except 1929. He expects output to vary between 112 and 115 in terms of the Federal Reserve index, as compared with a peak of 126 early last summer. He estimates the average for the year just coming to a close will be 118, and that the present level is around 105.

Dr. Friday ascribes the current recession to overproduction of automobiles, delay in settling the reparations question which hurt the export trade, and the policy of credit restriction. He insists that the basis for a major depression in business is lacking, inasmuch as there has been no rise in commodity prices, no inefficiency in labor and in management, with declining profit margins, and no fundamentally strained credit condition, with a threatened shortage in reserves.

EXPORTS TO INCREASE

Dr. Friday also asserted that there has been no instance in American financial history in which a stock market panic caused a prolonged business depression. He predicts for 1930 a substantial improvement in foreign trade, especially in respect to exports to Europe. He forecasts that central bank policy throughout the world will make for easier credit, and thinks that American gold exports will soon cease.

Thus the academician takes on the mantel of a bull.

Paul Clay predicted that the low point in the trade recession would come next July. He thought that the stock market might begin to discount the recovery in March or April. He assered that business sentiment would cause a secondary boom, but that the longer term prospect was for years of plodding prosperity, rather than prolonged boom. The secondary boom would be manifest by October, Mr. Clay thought, but he said that conditions beyond that depended on the congressional election next October. Referring to the possible renaissance of political revolt, Mr. Clay declared "radicalism is the ratio between what one gets and what one expects."

Rumor Youngstown Car Co. May Be Sold

Negotiations are under way for sale of the Youngstown Steel Car Company, whose plant is located at Niles, O., to a Chicago company.

The car company went bankrupt in November, 1926, and has been operated since on a small scale by William Wilkoff, president, under a special arrangement with the receiver, the Dollar Savings and Trust Company of Youngstown.

New York Building Activities Lower

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Contracts for new building and engineering work in metropolitan area of New York during week ended December 27 totaled $10,321,200 against $22,122,700 in preceding week and $27,867,500 in 1928 week, according to F. W. Dodge Corporation.

Contemplated work reported in week totaled $19,823,500 against $68,555,100 in preceding week.

ASK RECEIVER FOR STUTZ

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 30.—A petition in involuntary bankruptcy has been filed against the Stutz Motor Car Company of America in Federal Court here by three creditors.

The petition was filed by the E. C. Atkins Company, the Hide, Leather and Belting Company and the Vonnegut Hardware Company, all of Indianapolis, who claim total bills against the Stutz Company of $2,170. The petitioners charge the company committed an act in bankruptcy by paying cash to preferred creditors who are unnamed.

The Stutz Motor Company, which normally employes about 1,200 men, has been shut down here since December 1. Company officials, however, claim it was merely a seasonal closing.

"We will fight this bankruptcy action," C. O. Roemler, attorney for the Stutz Motor Car Company, declared. "The company is not bankrupt. Its assets exceed its liabilities by $2,500,000."

Stutz common stock has been declining on the New York Curb Exchange almost steadily since it reached $34, the year's high, in May. The October-November crash carried it down from $12 a share to $2.50, which figure was reached early this month. The stock closed last Saturday at $2.75, and dropped to a new low at $2.12 a few minutes after announcement of the bankruptcy petition today.

Stutz stock was one of the sensations of Wall Street in 1920, the year of the famous "Stutz corner," in connection with which Allan A. Ryan, son of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, was expelled from membership in the New York Stock Exchange.

The stock rose from $70 to $391 a share before the Exchange suspended trading and began the investigation which resulted in Ryan's expulsion. Ryan and his associates were said to have made shorts pay $551.25 a share for the stock. It later sold as high as $724 a share on the curb market. In 1921, however, it dropped to $49.50, and continued down hill until 1924, when it touched $4.62.

There are now outstanding nearly 300,000 shares, out of an authorized capital of 400,000 shares.

Directors of the Stutz company include Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and E. V. R. Thayer, a director of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and of the Chase National Bank.

Ford Output During Eleven Months High

DETROIT, Dec. 30.—Ford Motor Company announces it produced 1,914,842 cars and trucks during the first 11 months of the current year. On basis of production figures for first 10 months, as announced by the company, this would make November production 103,761 units. Many of the units built during November are understood to be of the improved model "A" type which the company is expected to show publicly tomorrow. Some of these improved models are said to be already in the hands of various distributors.

No official announcement has come from the company's offices as to when it stopped production on the old model "A" and started on the improved model, but the industry generally believes this was around the date when Ford announced price reductions on present model "A," last Novemeber 1.

Improved Net for Chile Copper Co.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Chile Copper Company reports September quarter net income $5,419,446 after interest, taxes and depreciation but before depletion equal to $1.23 on 4,415,499 capital shares against $5,158,099 or $1.17 a share in 1928 quarter.

On November 30 Chile Copper Company cash and cash resources amounted to $19,336,400 compared with $7,673,000 on November 30, 1928.

H. M Warner Denies Canadian Rumors

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—H. M. Warner, president of Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., has issued an emphatic denial of published reports that his company is associated with N. Nathanson or anyone else in the purchase of property in Montreal and other Canadian cities for building of a chain of motion picture theaters.

Failure of Rail Plan Predicted

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THAT the consolidation plan of the Interstate Commerce Commission may have little effect on the completion of actual railroad consolidations is the opinion of many railroad experts now that they have had a week's time to study all of the ramifications of the program.

The fact that the plan is not final, the great number of technical and legal obstacles, the likelihood that a long period must pass before suitable legislation can be enacted and other reasons are giving why consolidations along national lines are years away.

The most outspoken criticism of the plan has been made by F. J. Lisman, one of the foremost authorities on railroad finance. He summarized his opinion in these words, "The December, 1929, plan will probably soon be forgotten and consolidation will have to follow according to the precedents heretofore worked out in the Nickel Plate, New York Central and other cases."

Individual Mergers

WHILE such views as this are probably correct, so far as national consolidation goes, the completion of a plan does open the way for the making of a large number of isolated mergers which have been deferred pending a decision on some program covering the entire country. These mergers, however, will merely follow on the heels of control arrangements already in effect. The plan may also block the consummation of some mergers which do not fit into the commission's scheme.

If the plan were a permanent program the making of rail consolidations would be accelerated but, since it is still subject to change, objections filed by one carrier could result in long delays to mergers even though they are in accordance with the commission's announcement.

Lisman's Objections

IN commenting on the effect of the plan F. J. Lisman said:

"The question which was uppermost in the minds of railroad men before the promulgation of the plan was: 'Will this be a final plan which the commission will adhere to with rigidity or will it be made subject to changes?' The commission distinctly says it is subject to changes.

"The upshot of it is that no plan will be effectuated as a whole, and that consolidation will proceed more or less along the lines of voluntary action, as in the past. The commissioners who are in favor of literal construction of the law will oppose such piecemeal consolidation.

"Certain interesting questions will arise, for instance, if the Baltimore and Ohio should ask for ratification of an agreement which it may enter into for the acquisition of the Reading, will the commission insist that the road acquire all other lines which have been allotted to it under the plan and relinquish ownership of the Western Maryland? If one follows this thought through it is necessary to contemplate the following contingency:

All Or None

"THE Western Maryland is allocated to the Wabash. The Wabash may not want the Western Maryland if it cannot make sure that it acquires at the same time the necessary connecting links such as the Pittsburgh and West Virginia and the Wheeling and Lake Erie controlled by the Van Sweringen interests.

"On the other hand, assuming that the Wabash is dislodged from the Pennsylvania control, would the commission allot the Western Maryland to the Wabash, if the Wabash were not willing to acquire the Seaboard Air Line which has also been wished on it and which it does not want?

"There is a children's puzzle game in which the player must try to get six balls into six designated depressions. Generally the player, while trying to place the last ball, dislocates the ones previously put in. The commission, apparently, is trying to play a number of these games in each section of the country all at the same time.

"The present plan may be looked upon very much like the tentative consolidation plan of August, 1921, which has since been disregarded in many respects and has, in effect, become obsolete."

STEEL OUTPUT SHOWS GAIN

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 30. — For the first week in January, iron and steel companies in the Youngstown district jumped production schedules 15 per cent above the December average, and the month holds promise of still greater improvement. Virtually all lines of the industry are benefited except tubular products, which experienced their "slow season" at this time of the year. Substantially improved releases by the automobile industry are responsible for increased schedulings.

Independent steel making will be at 55 per cent, with 26 of 51 open hearth furnaces melting and Bessemer Steel operations at 65 per cent. Carnegie Steel is maintaining steel output at 60 per cent. Both sheet and strip mill operations are up, reflecting better automobile buying of steels. Of 120 valley sheet mills, 71 are scheduled higher than at any time in December. Strip mills average 60 per cent. Independent bar mills average 50 per cent.

A. M. Byers Company, Pittsburgh, resumes operations at Girard on a double-turn basis. Both Republic Steel and Sheet and Tube will average 50 per cent, while Sharon Steel Hoop reports schedules above 70 per cent.

Automotive Parts Industry Is Quiet

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Manufacturing operations in the automotive parts-accessory industry declined in November and continued a seasonal recession in December. Business of automotive wholesalers was also lower, but is still generally good.

Parts and accessory makers selling their product to the car and truck manufacturers for original equipment made shipments aggregating 81 per cent of the January, 1925, base figure compared with 160 in October, and 163 in November, 1928.

Shipments to the trade in November by makers of service parts were 135 per cent of the 1925 base, compared with 166 in October, and 149 in November a year ago. Accessory shipments to the trade in November were 75 per cent of the January, 1925, base compared with 91 in October, and 78 in November last year.

Business of wholesale members of the association was considered good in November and was only moderately below October. Accounts receivable showed a drop from October.

Railroad Earnings Down in November

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—The first 49 railroads to report November earnings had an aggregate net operating income of $66,643,000, compared with $84,893,000 for the corresponding month last year, or a decrease of 21.5 per cent. The net operating income of the same railroads in October aggregated $119,141,000.

MARKET TURNS IRREGULAR ON TAX SELLING

Many of Earlier Gains Are Cut Down With Several Converted Into Losses

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Extensive year-end readjustment of speculative accounts brought about an irregular price movement in today's stock market. Prices headed upward at the opening, but turned heavy around mid-day when fresh selling broke out in the copper, rubber and merchandising issues. Many of the early gains of 1 to 5½ points were cut down, and several of them were converted into net declines by early afternoon.

This was the last day in which stocks could be sold the regular way for the purpose of establishing income tax losses, and it was apparent that much of the day's selling was for that reason. Tax sales for cash may still be made tomorrow, but stocks sold in the ordinary manner on that day will not be cleared until January 2.

ASK STUTZ RECEIVER

Filing of a bankruptcy petition against the Stutz Motor Car Company of America, Inc., was one of the most interesting developments of the day's business news. Ford motor plants are reported to have enlarged their payrolls, but news from the other industrial centers was rather negative in character, due to the shutdowns and reduced operations incidental to the inventory season.

Call money was firm at 6 per cent, with indications that the rate would not go above that level, despite the heavy year-end currency demands. The time money market was quiet, but a brisk business was reported in bankers' acceptances, with no change in rates.

Kennecott was the principal target of selling pressure in the copper group, yielding 3 points. Other red metal shares received fairly good support, the maintenance of the $7 annual dividend on Anaconda and the ability of the producers to hold the official rate for copper at 18 cents a pound having had a tendency to check liquidation in that group.

RUBBERS DECLINE

Rubbers were reactionary, all the Fisk issues sagging to new low levels for the year, while U. S. Rubber first preferred dropped 3 points and Goodyear 2½. A fresh outbreak of selling in Sears, Roebuck carried that issue down more than 2 points to 82½, or just 2½ points above the low established in the November break, but it quickly snapped back above 83.

Columbian Carbon ran up 5½ points in the early trading, but lost all its gain. J. I. Case sold 4½ points higher, R. H. Macy 4 and General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Detroit Edison, Simmons Co., Air Reduction, Warren Bros., A. M. Byers and First National Stores were marked up 3 points or more before the rise was checked by the mid-day selling movement.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Curb market shares drifted moderately lower today. A little buying appeared here and there during the first hour of trading, but it soon died out. Trading remained unusually dull, reflecting little more than the year-end readjustment of accounts. There was undoubtedly further tax selling, but it was in small volume.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Finance World Eager To Open New Chapter

By B. C. FORBES—

MOST people will be glad to have these final days of 1929 over and to start a new year which is anticipated with rational, though not exuberant, hopefulness.

Happily, pessimistic predictions concerning Christmas trade have proved wrong. Total buying, taking one section with another, is reported as better than generally expected. The usual lull since has set in, of course.

The stock market has had to absorb a lot of selling to record losses to be written off income tax statements. Such selling will end with the year's end and Wall street will be relieved to close chapter 1929 and to open chapter 1930.

Despite the record-breaking dividend and interest obligations to be met this week, call money did not rise above 6 per cent—contrasted with 12 per cent a year ago. Time money, at 4¾ to 5 per cent, is 3 per cent cheaper than 12 months ago. No serious squeeze is looked for today or tomorrow; New York bankers have the monetary situation thoroughly in hand now that "bootleggers" have withdrawn more than $2,000,000,000 of their fly-by-night funds.

Everybody predicts very cheap money immediately after the turn of the year. Day-to-day loans may sink to very low rates, but banking authorities caution against assuming that time money will decline drastically.

If all the construction and other activity pledged be promptly launched, anything like acute business depression should be averted. In this case, presumably there will be normal demand for capital. Moreover, foreign borrowing is likely to appear in substantial volume. Then, too, we have already exported $105,000,000 gold since the stock and the money market broke, and the likelihood is that shipments will continue for a time.

Prospective borrowers who figure that they can do better by waiting may find they have miscalculated.

ALL last week the stock market was irregular, spells of buying being followed by spells of weakness, with the net result for the week a nominal loss of ground. Even so, average quotations on the stock exchange stand one-third higher than they did on November 13, the most gruelling day of the panic.

The rail division was not potently influenced by the Interstate Commerce Commission's milk-and-water recommendations on consolidations—if recommendations they could be called. The fact is that the commission has left the whole situation much as it was before.

Its unexpected proposal that a fifth Eastern trunk line be patched together has actually complicated a tangle already complicated enough. The financial world now looks for some action by Congress designed to expedite the carrying out of the spirit of the 1920 transportation act. But this will take time. Meanwhile uncertainty may continue to rule.

INDUSTRIAL reports this month, as last month, are very irregular and rather disappointing on the whole. It is believed, however, that both the motor industry and the steel industry will make distinctly better showings starting next month.

Notwithstanding all exhortations from high places, that "normal" buying and employment be continued, there has been rather pronounced withholding of orders in certain basic industries. Producers have proved able to hold out against drastic price-cutting, but it cannot be denied that there has been an increase in unemployment at not a few points.

The general-commodity price level has been fairly well maintained. Washington estimates that America's agricultural purchasing power next year will equal this year's.

THE new week will bring the customary flood of "forecasts" from leaders in all walks of life. It is accounted the proper thing to spread nothing but sunshine. How much or how little, effect such outpourings will have upon sentiment—and upon action—remains to be seen.

My guess is that the stock market will quickly, though perhaps not drastically, reflect the drying up of tax loss liquidation, but that it may take longer to reflect the putting into action of the multiplicity of expansion programs pledged by most industries.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The bond list had little difficulty in maintaining its firmness today, despite the small volume of trading. High grade domestic corporation loans, especially the rails and utilities, showed virtually no change from the previous close in the earlier transactions. The ability of these sections of the list to resist losses in the thin markets of the holiday period has been taken as a favorable indication of the market's inherent strength.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

Walter Winchell
On Broadway

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.

Laughs of 1929

THE finale of Act I of "Sweet Adeline." The scene reveals a third-rate burlesque show in rehearsal and the cast is assembled on stage ready to go on with the number, when a show girl hastens on from the wings tardy.

"THAT!" mutters the stage director, "is the MANAGER'S girl!"

When Mayor Walker got his salary raise recently, Norman Thomas, the Socialist candidate, was asked what he thought of it. He replied: "I wonder what Jimmy would ask to be full-time mayor."

That immensely comical (because it was so natural) scene at the Newsreel Theater showing Police Commissioner Whalen rewarding a taxi driver with $5,000 for returning a necklace of pearls he found in his cab. The cab man responding with a grand speech in broken American, relating how he had to wait until his baby went to sleep before he could take them from her, "but I replace dem wit' same kind which I buy in ten cent sturr."

ONE THING NEEDED

THAT battle of wits in "Fifty Million Frenchmen" between Helen Broderick and Lester (Winchell) Crawford, particularly the lines:

Miss B: "You hate yourself, don't you?"

Mr. C: "No."

Miss B: "Well, you ought to!"

The scene in "June Moon" when the Schenectady lad who has come to Broadway to startle it with his song lyrics says to Harry Rosenthal, the wise guy, "I saw the Statue of Liberty today. I found out that it cost two million dollars and she weights 220 tons!"

"Hmmm," hmmms Rosenthal, "she ought to cut down on sweets."

The gag in "Whoopee" when Eddie Cantor asked the Indian Chief for the lowdown on Pocahontas. "Pocahontas nice girl," says the Chief, "she saved John Smith's life!" "Yeah," chirps Eddie, "then why didn't she do something for his brother, Al?"

PLAYED BY REQUEST

THE outstanding scene in "The Little Show" by George S. Kaufman—the fire scene, revealing two small-town blaze fighters leisurely attending to a burning hotel, but not until one of them tunes up his violin to entertain the indifferent hotel guests.

"Play that tune," says Fred Allen, "you played at the last fire."

Wilson Mizner's flippancy about the high-fa-lutin movie theaters: "They remind you of a man with a mouthful of gold teeth."

The anecdote concerning Richard Bennett who, while playing in Chicago, was invited to a society matron's home for dinner.

"I'm sorry," he telephoned, "but I smell of garlic."

"Oh, what's a little garlic," she squelched, "on a man who would play the part of 'Jarnegan?'"

Jack Osterman's nifty during the Wall street crash: "The market is so low they are using midgets to mark the blackboards."

ABOUT A SMACK

THE one concerning the report that Lord Northesk had quarreled with Peggy Joyce, who lost her temper and crowned him with a bottle of champagne, which excited a columnist to say: "Now he may consider himself launched."

The classic repartee in Central Park after a match of croquet played between A. Woollcott, Alice Duer Miller, Harpo Marx and George S. Kaufman.

After the match Woollcott peacocked over to Kaufman and boasted: "Ah, George, I played like a god!" And Kaufman retorted: "Alec, I do wish you would finish your sentences!"

Arthur Kober's contribution to here about the old Jewish father who waited up till four in the morning to give his wayward daughter a stiff talking to about this and that.

"Get hot, get hot," he cried, "get hot of mine house!"

The depths to which certain theatrical stocks have fallen.

Ernest Boyd sitting on an imaginary chair at Marjorie Oelrich's party the other week-end, and then trying to keep his dignity.

The grand New Yorker gag about the cranky old lady in a Fifth avenue restaurant who was fussing with the waitress. Then when the waitress accidentally brought her tea instead of coffee the old fogy growled: "Is this coffee? I'm asking you. Is THIS coffee?"

"That, madam," was the retort beautiful, "is the Panama Canal!"

East Liberty 'Y' to Observe New Years

One of the most pretentious New Year's programs arranged for many years will be carried out at the East Liberty branch of the Y. M. C. A. Thursday. Beginning at 2 o'clock a derby, or contest, open for all will take place in the lobby and gym. Also at the some hour a family swim will be inaugurated. The lobby rooms have been decorated for the occasion and an athletic drill has been arranged for 3:30 in the gym. Special arrangements also have been made to hear the Pitt-Southern California football game by radio. The program will end with two basketball games.

Post Will Hold New Year's Party

The annual New Year's party of George Westinghouse Post No. 230, American Legion, will be held in the new post home Thursday night. John C. Ruprecht is chairman of the committee in charge of the evenings program.

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

GERMANS are broadcasting the classics in literature, but no advertising is permitted to interfere with the programs.

In this country we should broadcast the classics, but, of course, we might work in a little ballyhoo, thus—

MR. J. BEERBAUM WARWICK
NOTED SHAKESPEAREAN ACTOR
Delivers Hamlet's Soliloquy.

To be, or not to be: that is the question:
Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer
The slings and arrows of outrageous fortune,
Or to take arms against a sea of troubles,
And by opposing end them. To die: to sleep——
Which reminds me, folks, that the Bliss Mattress Corporation, which sponsors this hour, is making A special offer, this week only, of a genuine Asbestos covered, extra heavy duty, double-thick Wear-Well mattress for only $26.80.
To sleep: perchance to dream: aye, there's the rub:
Have you ever tried Neversink soap? Speaking of rub—this soap is now available in the Convenient Jumbo Size and sells now for fifteen cents!
Who would bear the whips and scorns of time,
The oppressor's wrongs, the proud man's contumely,
The pangs of despised love, the law's delay——
Speaking of delay, folks—Prompt Delivery Is the motto of the Wide Awake Chain Drug Stores. No sale too small, no sale too large for quick delivery In all parts of the city, day and night. . . .etc., etc.

President Hoover rightfully wants every patriotic citizen to join him in an effort to eliminate unemployment.

May we suggest that every husband seize all bridge pads, playing cards, tables and chairs and throw them in the fireplace.

It will also be necessary to destroy all lead pencils around the house. Or, perhaps, merely break off the point—and then hide your razor.

Another way to combat unemployment would be to place tacks in the comfortable chairs in brokers' offies.

Chosen Town Hall Site Meets With Opposition

As was to be expected, there is a wave of strong protest against the selection of a site in Oakland for the proposed Town Hall by the County Planning Commission. Very likely any site selected would meet with objections, and it is assumed the County Planning Commission did not expect its selection to meet with unanimous approval. In fact, the planners, themselves, were not a unit in making a choice, which was decided upon by a vote of 5 to 3.

The Sun-Telegraph long ago predicted that the County Commissioners were only nursing trouble in not making the selection of a site promptly themselves. Now it comes out that they will have to do that anyway, since there is announcement that the Allegheny Town Hall Association, which had been promoting a downtown site, will not abide by the decision of the planners and will urge the commissioners to ignore the recommended plot in favor of a downtown location.

There are few persons who will envy the commissioners their job. The Town Hall will be a "white elephant" if it be placed where the public will not patronize it. While it is to be a civic institution it must also be commercially successful if it is not to prove a heavy burden to taxpayers.

A year ago the commissioners had the same problem to solve. They have not evaded a grave responsibility by the 12 months' delay.

Why Does He Ask Permission?

What Has Weakened Uncle Sam?

That "Harmonious meeting" to divide sea power among the nations, may not be so very harmonious.

Italy and France say: "We don't care about battleships, but we won't give up submarines." They have brains.

England says: "We will do anything in reason, but we do want to stop the use of submarines absolutely."

That is also based on brains.

The oceans are covered with British ships. Submarines could quickly sink them all. With IMPERFECT submarines, and with all the nations against her, Germany wiped out 60 per cent of British ocean tonnage in the last war.

Japan, a very intelligent nation, will not give up submarines. She doesn't want battleships, nobody does except Uncle Sam, influenced by battleship makers and lobbyists.

Japan has, according to excellent information, the largest submarine in the world, including submarines especially built as auxiliaries for aircraft. The submarines, able to go anywhere unseen, would carry parts for Japanese airships, supplies of gasoline and, if desired, they could carry one or two small, swift airships, and guns big enough to fight a powerful warship.

Why is it necessary for Uncle Sam to mix up with all these conflicting desires.

One nation wants many cruisers, but no submarines. Another wants submarines and airships, caring little about cruisers and wanting no battleships.

Why don't we let our experts, apart from battleship makers and lobbyists, tell us what the United States really needs, and then get it?

Why must we ask permission to build submarines, airplanes or anything else?

What has made us grow weak and dependent so suddenly?

Does anybody think that Washington, Jefferson, Jackson or Lincoln would have asked Europe "What may we build for our own defense?"

Cities of the Future

Fundamental Ideas Emerging.

Bland ignorance doubtless ties us in an agonizing knot when we attempt to build cities—bland ignorance plus a complexity of purpose that is baffling.

But certain fundamental ideas are emerging relative to the metropolis of the future. And one of these ideas is the ultimate necessity of proper spacing and proper planting.

Benefits of centralization of skyscrapers will ultimately be defeated by street congestion.

A time will come when scheme and pattern is an engineering necessity—it is already an aesthetic necessity. Heretofore, architectural thinking has been concentrated, almost wholly, on the individual building.

New York, definitely limited as to spread, is blindly followed by other cities where it is not necessary to cluster skyscrapers. Monumental edifices can be placed half a mile apart and served by great, wide avenues. And these buildings can be surrounded by planting, and the smell of growing things, and the splash of the sun, can combat the ever-increasing depression of motor fumes.

Is Love a Disease?

Munich Doctor Compares It to Measles.

For purposes of humor or pathos, love has been called everything from a form of insanity to a kick in the slats. But now, for no obvious purpose, comes Dr. Waldemar Schweissheimer, of Munich, who not only calls love a disease, but writes a volume of clinical analysis comparing it to measles.

Of course, with the exercise of a little ingenuity love can quite readily be compared to measles. But so can the urge to write a book. Neither comparison, however, requires or deserves a volume of analysis to support it. The only adequate support for such conceits is sympathetic laughter.

But, sadly enough, many men before Dr. Schweissheimer have been guilty of adding too many words to an epigram.

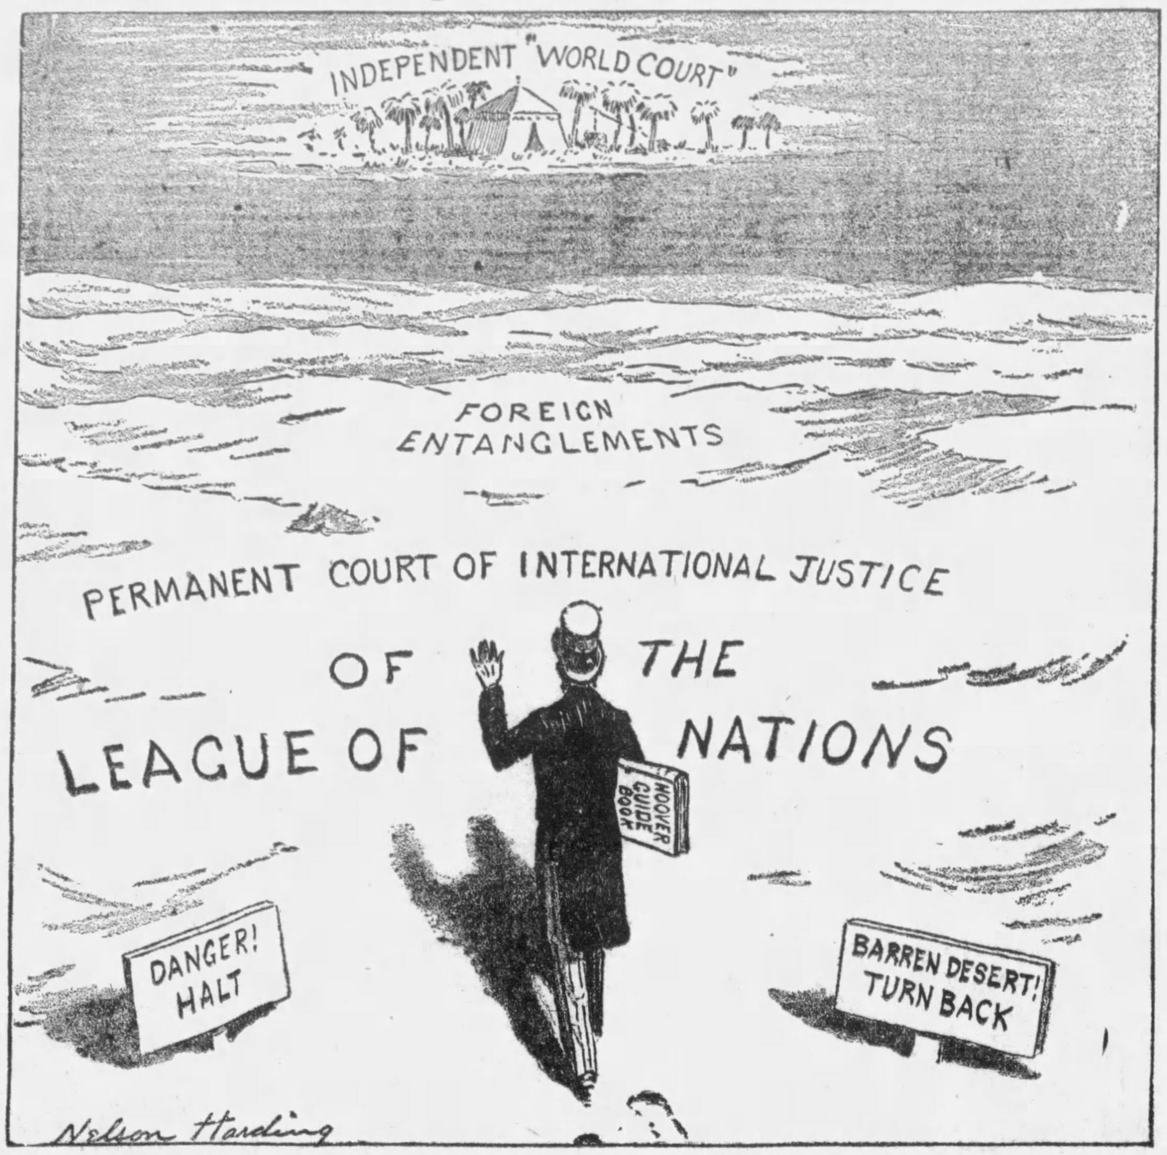
SUN-TELEGRAPH'S PLATFORM

For Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania

1—A better, cleaner, more beautiful city.
2—Rapid Transit.
3—Repeal or modification of "blue law."
4—Establishment of Pittsburgh metropolitan district.
5—Community Fund for charities.
6—Town Hall, seating at least 15,000.
7—Voting machines to insure honest elections.
8—Development of river transportation.

That Misleading Mirage!

Drawn by Nelson Harding



An optical illusion makes
The luckless traveler believe
That safety and security
Are in mirages that deceive.

So Uncle Sam, with trustful step,
And blind to warnings on each hand,
Pursues deceptive visions far
Into the trackless, shifting sand. — N. H.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

An Old Leaf

WE look back with margin-dimmed eyes on the passing of the exhausted semester of 1929.

We know that 1930 will be bigger and better, even if the worst happens it will be an improvement.

"Bugs" Baer

It was a year of paper profits, mergers, call money and no whites of eggs or other anti-dotes.

We might have known that there was a tempest brewing in the ticker-pot when Bobby Jones lost a tournament and Philadelphia won the world series.

We recovered very quickly and the bloom of health is back on our red elbows.

President Hoover established a Congress of big business men in Washington and the large boys are going to make 1930 a year that will blister the records.

It's team work that makes things hum like a wasp on a contented cow and that's what we have got.

You keep your shoulder to the wheel and we will keep our foot on the brakes.

You pull and we will tug and that's the spirit that breaks the rope.

Let's look at the world through rose-colored glasses. If you can't afford a rose use a tomato.

There will be plenty of work next year for anybody who is willing to swing a pick-ax or a sledge.

That's good news if it is addressed to somebody else. The reason why we are all dashing to the left is because the line forms to the left.

We belong to the white-collar mob and we don't even trust it in the laundry.

We would like to see the pick-axes and the sledges rising and falling like the silver balls in a shooting gallery, but we do not care to be on the executive end of a six-pound hammer.

We fell out of the lap of luxury in 1929 and the parachute failed to open.

Not that we object to working for a living. The only reason why we do not care to earn our bread by the sweat of our brow is that we don't like our biscuits damp.

We were rich on paper in 1929. We would like to catch the magook who tossed that match in the waste basket.

THE BATTLE OF THE ANGELS

By Herbert Kaufman

A BATTLE between a mastodon and a horde of cavemen! Conceive the picture if you can—the Titanic brute towering above the human insects—tusks slashing impotently—the hairy little savages creeping from rock to rock, hurling their poisoned stone-headed spears—here an overbold hunter suddenly caught beneath a foot as big as a Saratoga trunk which crushes like a triphammer—the querulous trumpeting of the pachyderm irritated into insane fury—the incoherent mouthings of his pigmy tormentors—what a contest!

The scroll of the years is rolled back a hundred hundred centuries. On the canvas of imagination are limned our distant sires, prognathous-jawed, thick-chested, muscle-bound, their huge torsos overtopping legs that seem like pipe-stems by contrast.

We are standing at the beginning of things; we have returned the pre-dawn of civilization when beasts were gentler than humans, and the code of the carnivora was the gentlest law of the universe. A terrible scene—an epic of the hunter.

BUT one may now witness a more dramatic scene than this—more tragic than the blood-soaked Pass of Thermopylae or Islam Shah's assault upon Delhi. The brush of no Meissonier or Lady Butler ever portrayed so enormous a theme.

Dismiss from your mind the charge of the Scotch Grays; "forget the thin, red line at Balaklava;" erase the memory of Winkelried's last stand in the Alpine Highways. The painter of this picture is the Sun, and the canvas is a strip of celluloid.

Upon the screen, weird, transparent warriors begin to move—strange, disc-shaped grotesques—darting to the fray with incredible swiftness.

Soon we perceive that it is NOT an animated, geometrical design from the brain of a raving cubist, but stark REALITY—the uncanny strife between the forces of virtue and evil—the ancient grudge of the good and the bad angels.

A MIRACLE is in our eyes. We are at last viewing the conflict which began when life first pulsed in Adam's veins. It is a war between health and disease—the contest for control of the blood — leucocyte against phagocyte.

Science has combined the microscope and the motion camera, and the day is rushing round the corner when a few pennies will be "open sesame" to revelations beyond wealth's purchase a quarter century ago.

Disease, that most universal and protean of artists, will be shortly starred in his thousands of subtle roles.

What the most eminent pathologists of the Nineteenth Century could never learn, the laymen may now witness as a mere episode in a coin's worth of entertainment.

There can be no greater augury of hope for saner and cleaner living than these triumphs of micro-motion photography.

SICKNESS can only flourish where ignorance prevails. The average man believes what he can BEHOLD. The indefinite and invisible seldom appall him.

With the majority of us, out of sight means out of mind. But when we are brought face to face with the indubitable proof of forces within OURSELVES which destroy character and feed upon vitality; when we know by the evidence of own senses that physical foulness breeds the servants of decay; when our minds are filled with the actual SIGHT of bacilli and microbes devastating the blood-stream, when the operations of digestion are unmasked and we can watch and measure the difficulties with which our stomachs must deal; when we learn at FIRST hand how we store poisons within our systems; when we recognize the morbidity nurtured upon these vile secretions; when we cannot escape the realization that it is our own follies and indulgences and passions which induce MOST of the miseries from which we suffer, great-grandfathers will be as common in the neighborhood as motor cars and radio sets.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD! ∴

By Elsie Robinson

SHE thinks she is waging a great fight for her boy. Yet, poor soul, if she were feeding him daily doses of poison she couldn't be doing him a greater harm.

Three years ago her husband was killed and she and her 9-year-old son were left penniless.

"We soon discovered," she writes, that our friends were only fair weather ones, so I made up my mind to fight the battle of life alone, without depending on anyone. At present I'm working from 7:30 a. m. to 10 p. m. every day, including Sundays, running a store. AND THE ONLY PLACE I'VE LOOKED FOR SYMPATHY WAS IN THE DICTIONARY. I try to be father as well as mother to my boy. He's too little yet to know what it's all about. Some day he may be able to remember his mother WHO GAVE ALL AND EXPECTED NOTHING."

Can't you see the picture? . . . such a pitifully common one. Suddenly, into a guarded life, the shock of death, the nightmare of poverty. Then the brave determination to go on alone and the gallant entry into that working world of which she knows so little. And then, swiftly . . . disillusionment!

At home she mattered so much . . . now she doesn't matter at all! At home there was some one who cared. Now nobody cares. She has had no experience by which she may understand this alien attitude. She can only use the standards by which she has lived in the past, the standards by which she judged any new neighbor. So, bitterly, she condemns this newest, largest neighbor as cold, callous, heartless and determines to "fight the battle alone."

You know the rest of the story. You've seen them fighting that battle, growing more bitter, suspicious and resentful every day. Gradually, in time, getting a grim satisfaction out of their own hate . . . a perverted pride out of their own paint.

AND ALL THE TIME THEY THINK THEY'RE SETTING UP A FINE, BRAVE RECORD FOR THEIR CHILDREN TO FOLLOW.

"But suppose people won't help."

People will help if you give them a chance, partner. But you've got to use both sense and patience in dealing with them. You can't expect the same leisurely, personal attention on Broadway that you received across the back fence down home. And it's plain, poisonous egotism to expect people to climb over barriers of suspicion and resentment to get at you and your trouble. But, if you don't set up a lot of unreasonable demands, you can always bank on human kindness. Leave the heart's door open and love will find you. Shut that door and life will stagnate in you.

And the child suffers even worse than the adult when love is shut out. To such a child the world becomes a jungle, beset by foes. He enters it abristle, suspecting every person he encounters. Nothing a mother may ever give her child can compensate for the harm she does him if she makes him live with hate.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

IN THE lampreys and their allies and in a few fish this persists and the backbone forms round it and incloses it, but in all other vertebrata it is supplanted during later development by a true backbone that owes its rigidity to lime salts and its elasticity to binding ligaments.

The notochord is really the distinctive character of the phylum that we are now examining and which is called, for precisely this reason, the Chordata.

In the humblest members of the phylum, such as Amphioxus, the notochord is retained throughout life. In the higher forms, in all true vertebrata, it is present in the embryo, but becomes replaced more or less completely by a better axial skeleton — stronger and as flexible, and at the same time affording a protection for the spinal cord—the column of jointed vertebrae.

H. G. Wells.

Another still more remarkable affiliation to the vertebrate phylum in recent years has been that of the sea-squirts and their allies. Sea-squirts are common enough on rocky shores, where they occur, often in large masses, growing fixed to rocks and the like.

An individual sea-squirt is a roughly sylindrical, gelatinous, translucent object, often several inches in length: at the unattached end there are two holes from which, when it is touched, it ejects with considerable force two jets of water.

On examining the creature more closely we find that its gelatinous exterior is not part of the animal itself but a garment that it secretes around its body.

When the sea-squirt is unmolested, a current of water passes slowly in at one of the openings and out at the other; on the way through the body it traverses a gas-mantle filter or pharynx, like that of Amphioxus, and there yields the suspended particles upon which the animal subsists.

The whole adult life of the sea-squirt is spent in the same place, and its only outwardly visible sign of animation is the slight stir in the surrounding water produced by its slow, indolent feeding-current—except on rare occasions when, alarmed by the approach of a hungry fish, it contracts for a while into an unattractive gelatinous blob, squirting water out of itself in two violent jets.

There is nothing very like a chordate in the anatomy or mode of life of an adult sea-squirt, nothing to suggest a nearer cousinship to homo sapiens than that which a lobster or spider might claim—except that its food-filter is highly suggestive of that of Amphioxus.

But when its life-cycle is examined the case is altered. It is upon the anatomy of its early life that its inclusion among the chordata is based. The egg of a sea-squirt develops into a lively little creature like a minute tadpole, which swims along by means of a powerful muscular tail.

This larva is quite obviously a chordate. It has a notochord in its tail like the notochord of Amphioxus, and the mechanics of swimming are very similar in both forms; it has a tubular nerve-cord running along its back.

But in a little while it settles down on a rock, sitting on its head and fastening itself by means of sticky horns that it possesses there. It now absorbs its tail and notochord, and its nervous system (since it no longer has anything very much to think about) dwindles to a single rounded ganglion with a few radiating branches; at the same time it loses its eyes and other special sense-organs.

The class to which the sea-squirt belongs, the Tunicata, includes a number of other curious forms. Many of them are able to reproduce themselves by sprouting out buds; in this way they give rise to extensive colonies of individuals embedded in a common gelatinous mass.

Some are not sessile but, beautifully transparent, float at the surface of the sea; of these the most striking is Pyrosoma, whose thimble-shaped colonies—up to twelve feet in length—are among the most brilliantly phosphorescent objects known.

A few never discard the tail and notochord of their youth, but spend their lives as active, tadpole-like creatures, inhabiting relatively large gelatinous houses that they secrete and propel through the open waters of the sea.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Lay late reading Keats' "Ode to a Nightingale" and Rosetti's "The Blessed Damozel" and filled with such beauty I felt more the writing hack than ever. To lunch with Pierre V. R. Key, the critic, on a marmite of marrow bones, and the coffee was so tasty I was holpen thrice.

In the afternoon with my wife to the jeweler's, where she bought a set of topaz cuff links I have long admired. And costing more than her poor purse can afford, too. So promenading along, saw in the crowds Edna Ferber, Paul Block, Vincent Lopez and J. J. Shubert.

Dined with the Ray Longs, and they off to a theater while I cleared off my correspondence, writing 22 letters by hand. Then played a puzzle game with my wife's mother until after 12 of the clock, and out on the streets to walk with my dog in the high wind.

Not all the loafers on park benches on pleasant days belong to the jobless who form the city's big economic question mark. Many are lonely and retired business men from other cities who have come to the metropolis to be near their children. They have no friends here, few acquaintances and nursing a vague nostalgia join the city's idle dreamers.

Every once in awhile while knee deep in this daily grind I am gripped by an uncontrollable hunger. Right now I can think of nothing but a big slice of mince pie, a bit of cheese and a cup of clear black coffee.

The Fifth avenue buses, according to their publicity stuff, have rookies who must undergo a seven to ten day apprenticeship before receiving conductoring papers. For several days before taking a bus on a regular run, they are tested for tempers. The trainer insults them as they are likely to be insulted. If they do not stand the gaff, they are dismissed. In the bus code, the passenger is always right. If he grows obstreperous, call a cop—but never sass back.

Most busmen are garrulous young Irishmen with thick brogues and ready wit. Seldom is one dismissed, and few quit. A club spirit is engendered by the management. They encourage marriage, and there are prizes for children. A monthly magazine is written mostly by wives, children and busmen. They have secret signals and pass-words and when an employe has been on the job for 20 years he receives a diamond emblem for his coat lapel together with a full page picture in the magazine.

* * *

Those uniformed bus employes who stand in door ways with grave unwinking eyes checking off passing buses provide a sort of enigma. No one seems to know exactly the idea. But it appears marvelously important.

All uniformed employes have their greatest difficulty with drunks. A spiffed gentleman usually resents a uniform. A night club rule is: "Always agree with a drunk until you get him on the sidewalk. Then paste him in the eye."

Nobody seems to pay attention to news that America is facing a shortage of pineapples, yet we all know what happened when there was a shortage of bananas a few years ago. I can still hear it!

Do you have about it many beautiful chairs and other articles of furniture which members of your family cannot use without objection from you?

Do you have an exact position for each and complain if anything is moved or seems awry?

Is the spare room beautifully fitted out with the sort of bedding that your family would enjoy using, but cannot have in their rooms?

Are other rooms often robbed of attractive features to fix up the same guest room, depending upon whom you have as "company?"

Perhaps for weeks or months the most comfortable room is not used.

Meantime the family go without and feel uncomfortable.

Guests should be provided for as generously as your means permit, but family convenience and comfort should not be forgotten.

Those who occupy a home should be first considered in furnishing.

And home should be conducted for family comfort—without restrictions—as far as possible.

Members of the family circle have a right to deserve first place in the comforts of the home.
